U.N. Guards 'Hot Spot' On Cyprus

Raiders End Brief Truce

By Webb McKinley
Associated Press Writer

NICOSIA, CYPRUS, April 30 — Reacting swiftly after a truce-breaking skirmish between Greek and Turkish Cypriots, the U.N. peace-keeping force planted 10 observation posts on the Kyrenia Mountains Thursday in an effort to discourage further fighting.

ROVING U.N. patrols had failed to stem hostilities in that hottest sector of a war which Secretary-General U Thant is trying now to end through a new nine-point peace plan.

Canadian infantry units ranging from four to 36 men manned the mountain posts. They were linked by scout cars and radio.

A spokesman said the arrangement meant "a more active approach" by the U.N. force.

Under their orders from the United Nations, the peace forces have tried to avoid moving in between the warring forces. This is because governments supplying the troops are unwilling to have them exposed to unnecessary risks.

BOTH THE president of Cyprus, Archbishop Makarios, a Greek Cypriot, and Vice President Fazil Kutchuk, leader of the island's Turkish minority, hailed Thant's call for peace.

But neither specifically appealed to their rival peoples to renounce the fighting, as the secretary-general urged.

A ONE-SIDED proclamation by President Makarios Wednesday of a cease-fire in the mountain battle — essentially for control of the highway between Nicosia and the port of Kyrenia — lasted less than 12 hours.

U.N. observers reported three Turks were killed and one wounded in a predawn engagement that developed west of the Turkish-held St. Hilarion Castle.

They said a Turkish patrol moving west toward Greek siege positions in the dark was intercepted by a Greek force.

A government spokesman said the Turks had tried to launch an attack, taking advantage of the cease-fire, but were repulsed and abandoned arms in their retreat.

AT 8:15 A.M. Greek Cypriots opened up on the 11th Century castle with mortar fire, lobbing in seven shells. Then the battery fell silent again.

In proclaiming the truce, Makarios said objectives of the Greek Cypriot offensive in the mountains had been achieved.

A Turkish Cypriot spokesman said at the time it looked like "another Greek trick."

And a U.N. spokesman commented "it is unlikely that, from a military point of view, the final aim of the (Greek Cypriot) operations over the past four days in this area have been achieved."

Elsewhere, two U.N. patrols came under fire that in each case was attributed to Greek Cypriots. There were no casualties.

Canadians were shot at when they visited the Turkish village of Aghirda, in the Kyrenia foothills. They did not shoot back.

SWEDES FIRED 45 shots to break up a fight between Greek and Turkish Cypriots at the western village of Timi.

Excitement at Each Stop

Jackie, Caroline Take in Fair

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 30—Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her daughter, Caroline, put in a busy day at the World's Fair Thursday, creating excitement at each stop during a five-hour tour.

Word of their arrival at each pavilion spread and other fair fans rushed around to get a glimpse of them.

Secret Service men and fair security personnel did their best to screen the Kennedys and get them in wherever possible without fanfare. Some shows were put on for the Kennedy party alone.

IN THE GROUP were Mrs. Stephen Smith, Mrs. Kennedy's sister-in-law, and Mrs. Smith's two children, Steve Jr., 6, and William, 3.

John Kennedy Jr. did not make the trip Thursday. Mrs. Kennedy said she wants to bring him here later.

The youngsters were described as "just ecstatic over almost everything."

And, as kids do, they asked for hamburgers, hot dogs and soda pop as soon as they hit the grounds.

Bishop Joins Wallace in Prayer Plea

© Washington Post Co.

WASHINGTON, April 30 — Roman Catholic Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama urged Congress Thursday to approve a constitutional amendment permitting prayers in public schools.

BISHOP SHEEN said Supreme Court decisions that state-sponsored school prayers violate the First Amendment were based on a "myth" that any religious group wants an established church in the United States.

He said the court had exceeded its power in taking away "rights given by the Creator."

He suggested as a "perfect, minimum" prayer the words "In God we trust," which appear on currency and coins.

Wallace, the fiery segregationist who has taken his states rights campaign into presidential primary elections in Indiana and Maryland, assaulted the Supreme Court in more vigorous language but agreed with Bishop Sheen that the court was wrong and should be overruled.

Crisis in Laos 'Cools Off,' Evacuation Alert Ends

© Los Angeles Times

VIENTIANE, LAOS, April 30 —The standfast evacuation alert order, under which the American and other Western communities have been living here since last Sunday, was lifted Thursday as tension caused by a rightist military coup 11 days ago all but disappeared.

PRINCE Souvanna Phouma, neutralist Prime Minister, announced that he would remain and again try to unify the three factions of the coalition government.

The revolutionary committee, which seized power April 19, still clung to a shadowy control of governmental operations, but obviously has wilted under pressure from the United States, Britain, Russia and other signatories to the Geneva agreements on Laos neutrality.

OBSERVERS foresaw that as usual following a Laos crisis there will be a good deal of political writhing among factions in the months ahead—at least during the rainy season, due to start within the next three or four weeks.

What will come of that, if anything, no one can predict but the situation, with minor differences, seems to be pretty much returned to what it was before the coup that nobody wanted.

THE COMMUNIST Pathet Lao last Monday sent three or four battalions into assault on a key mountain position dominating the entire northern half of the Plaine Des Jarres.

Lend an Ear, Don't Lift It

© Washington Post Co.

LONDON, April 30 — The Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals ran down the list of ears Thursday and pronounced that only rabbits should be picked up thereby.

Small to medium dogs, it told the inquiring Daily Express, need to be cuddled fore and aft.

Records Fall, Economy Still on Rise

No Recession In 38 Months

© New York Times Service

WASHINGTON, April 30—The American economy quietly set a record Thursday that many observers consider more important than the glowing "record highs" reported monthly in the statistics on output, employment and income.

WITH ANOTHER month of good business completed—April—the economy Thursday established a record for peacetime in the duration of a period of expansion without recession.

April was the 38th month of the current expansion, which began in March, 1961.

It beat the former record of 37 months in 1945-48.

Some analysts claim that the expansion from the bottom of the depression in 1933 to the recession in 1937 was longer, but this is generally regarded as a special case.

EVERY SIGN indicates that the present expansion, boosted by the recent tax cut, has many more months to go, with both private and government economists convinced it will last through the rest of this year at least.

The economy today has few of the signs that in the past have indicated a recession to come.

Such things are rising prices, a heavy buildup of inventories, a leveling or decline in corporate profits, or an over-rapid buildup of new industrial capacity.

One of the remarkable features of the current expansion, in the view of most analysts, is that it has proceeded so long without any notable inflation.

ALTHOUGH FEAR of a revival of inflation exists both in and out of government, the record to date shows six years of stability in wholesale prices.

It also shows an unusually small upward creep in consumer prices of about one and three-tenths per cent a year.

While most businessmen and many private analysts are skeptical, some top government economists have a genuine hope that the present expansion can be kept going more or less indefinitely.

LONDON, May 1 — Princess Margaret gave birth Friday to a girl.

"It's marvelous news," said Lord Snowdon, the baby's father.

Queen Elizabeth's sister and Snowdon also have a son, Viscount Lindley, born in November, 1961.

Snowdon said both mother and child were doing well.

The baby was the fourth royal birth this year. Earlier, Princess Alexandra, the Queen's cousin, had a boy on Feb. 29. The queen had a boy March 10, and the Duchess of Kent, commoner wife of Alexandra's brother, had a girl Tuesday night.

Fidel Castro . . . Sets stage for May Day parade Friday.

Hints Use of Rockets 'At Whatever Cost'

By Daniel Harker
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA, April 30—Prime Minister Fidel Castro warned Thursday against more U.S. plane flights over Cuba, declaring: "We will defend our sovereignty, whatever it may cost and wherever it may happen."

HE SAID HE IS READY to seek a peaceful solution to problems with his North American neighbor but if the Americans want war "there will be war."

Castro made the statement during the course of a four-hour talk with foreign newsmen and diplomats at a Japanese diplomatic reception that stretched into the early morning hours.

HIS REMARKS SET THE STAGE for an address he will deliver Friday at Havana's big May Day celebration. Diplomats expect him to hit hard at the United States, which has announced the reconnaissance flights will continue despite Cuban protests. The Soviet Union has supported Cuba's protests.

"We will prevent these flights to the limits of what our weapons can do," Castro asserted.

He did not specify that he meant Cuba would use Soviet rockets to try to bring down American planes.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman reaffirmed Thursday U.S. determination to continue the surveillance flights.

IT HAD BECOME known in Washington previously that hundreds of U.S. jet fighter bombers and attack planes — each capable of hurling tons of explosives, are poised within striking reach of Cuba.

U.S. Defense Department sources have said no precautionary alerts have been ordered but tactical air units are expected to be in shape to scramble, or get ready for action, on short notice.

THE MOST probable form of action against any retaliation by Cuba to the U.S. reconnaissance flights, Washington observers believe, would be a swift blow to knock out one or more of the Cuban antiaircraft missile complexes.

Without mentioning any definite date, the Cuban leader said the ground-to-air rockets now controlled by Russians "will be handed over to Cuba."

IN GOOD HUMOR, Castro sipped brandy and soda at the Japanese Embassy and talked until 3 a.m.

He thought over every word carefully, asked newsmen many times to write clearly what he was saying.

GOP Council Urges Oust-Castro Policy

By Max Frankel
© New York Times

WASHINGTON, April 30 — A council of prominent Republicans called Thursday for the creation of a Cuban government-in-exile whose effort to overthrow Premier Fidel Castro would be openly supported by the United States.

IN THE FIFTH of a series of policy papers prepared for this year's presidential campaign, the Republican Citizens' Critical Issues Council urged the U.S. to permit Cuban exiles to resume their raids against the island.

The anti-Castro effort should be supported, the council said, by a clear indication that the U.S. was prepared to use military force, as a last resort, to rid Cuba of communism.

The council is headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University.

The report conceded that dealing with Cuba was difficult and complex, all the more so since opportunities to overthrow Castro had been missed during the Bay of Pigs invasion in 1961 and the missile crisis in 1962.

THE PROBLEM is further complicated by U.S. obligations in many parts of the world and the failure of other Western nations to treat Cuba as a serious problem, the council said.

But it warned that time was on Castro's side and that the U.S. must not be "frozen into inactivity" by the risks and complexities of the situation.

The council said it based its recommendations on the following "facts."

—The Castro regime is more deeply entrenched than it was in 1962 and has suppressed the spirit of resistance among Cubans.

—CUBA IS the best-armed nation in the hemisphere after the U.S. and a full-scale invasion would take a high toll of lives.

House Panel Votes Out Salary Bill

By John D. Morris
© New York Times

WASHINGTON, April 30 —A new bill to increase the pay of 1,700,000 federal employes, including members of Congress and high level administration officials, was approved Thursday by the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

THE MEASURE is a modified version of legislation that the House defeated last month, 222 to 184, when members balked at raising their own salaries.

Under the revised bill, salaries of representatives and senators would be increased from the present level of $22,500 a year to $30,000.

The earlier version called for a $10,000 increase.

Proposed increases for high administration officials were scaled down proportionately in the new bill. Cabinet and immediate sub-Cabinet officers, like congressmen, would get raises of $7,500 instead of $10,000.

The increases for federal judges were similarly revised.

The committee ordered the bill reported to the House by a vote of 14 to 3. The action was in response to repeated demands by President Johnson for establishment of federal pay scales, particularly at Cabinet and sub-Cabinet levels, sufficiently high to attract and keep top-flight executives.

AT A RECENT news conference, the President complained that the men who "run" the government, like the sergeants who run the Army, were not paid enough.

Some were forced to go into debt and others were returning to higher-paying private jobs, he said.

His reference was to under secretaries, assistant secretaries and others of comparable rank, numbering about 175.

Two days ago, in a speech to the convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce, he cited Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of his Council of Economic Advisers, as a striking example.

Missing Button, Well I'll be . . .

BISMARCK, N.D., April 30 (AP) — School principal John Wanser walked into a tailor shop, pointed to his sports jacket and asked for a button to replace one that was missing.

THE CLERK rummaged through a box of loose buttons and came up with a precise match and the remark:

"I found this in front of the Post Office."

"That's where I lost it," said Wanser.

At .400 (Plus)—Ott's Hot! Not Mel—Handsome Billy

BACK SOME 30 years ago, there was an outfielder for a team called the New York Giants (Bronx pronunciation: Jintz) who had a little name but a big, BIG bat.

Remember Mel Ott?

He was just a little guy—but he consistently batted in the high .300s.

Ott's Hot!

HANDSOME Billy Ott (not related), also an outfielder, is whacking out a real name for himself as a slugger. So far in the young PCL season, Ott is hot!

Like .400-plus hot.

And his beefed-up batting is one reason the Bees are contenders in the Eastern Division. There are others, of course.

AND THEY'RE all listed in a special feature on Page B-15.

© Washington Post Co.

WASHINGTON, April 30—The United States is developing long-range "shotgun" missiles that can bracket distant targets with multiple warheads.

THE PLANNED NEW system of putting several smaller warheads in the nose cones of future ICBMs and Polaris submarine missiles has a number of advantages over a single warhead.

Greater blast and thermal radiation effects can be achieved by a pattern of small nuclear warheads bursting around a target. They reinforce each other and produce greater destruction than one larger burst of total equal power.

ALSO THE CHANCES of achieving a crippling hit on a military target may be increased by overlapping detonations, although "hardened" underground targets might require heavier warheads. An airfield could be more effectively destroyed by several craters than one.

Furthermore, multiple warheads would increase the destruction in "soft" targets like cities.

BUT PERHAPS AN EVEN more important advantage of putting multiple warheads in a single nose cone is to increase their ability to penetrate to the target through missile defense systems under development in both Russia and the United States.

The smaller the object reentering the earth's atmosphere from a ballistic missile up into space the harder it is for enemy radar to pick up.

If the radar cross-section is small enough—and treated with coating materials to absorb the radar pulses—there may be no perceptible return.

Some of the multiple "reentry vehicles" descending with warheads, moreover, would be decoys or other "penetration aids" designed to confuse or blind enemy radars.

Pentagon officials will not discuss the progress made in such penetration aids, but Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee in February that "a great deal of progress" has been made in this field in the past three years.

SOME RECENT MISSILE tests on the Atlantic missile range involved development work in penetration aids and multiple reentry vehicles.

Living Cost Rises Slightly During March

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 30—Consumers got a little better break on prices at the food counter last month, but paid out slightly more for most other basic living necessities.

The net result added another penny for every $10 spent on living costs, the government's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Thursday.

The over-all March increase of one-tenth of 1 per cent brought the consumer price index to 107.7. This means consumers paid $10.77 for the same items that cost $10.76 in February and $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

DEPUTY Commissioner Robert J. Myers of the bureau said the relatively small increase in a period of general economic upsurge represented "a very reassuring performance."

Although another small increase in prices is expected when April figures are in, Myers said "there is not the slightest indication of any serious inflation."

FOOD PRICES generally dropped three-tenths of 1 per cent but fruits and vegetables went up one and one-tenths per cent because of late winter freeze damage to Florida crops. Meats and eggs showed the biggest price decreases.

Offsetting the price improvement in foods were small increases in household expenses, clothing, transportation and medical care.

An upturn in gasoline prices was largely responsible for the increase in transportation.

The March cost of natural gas for cooking and heating was largely responsible for increased household expenses, although there was no actual price rise.

Bobby Baker

Baker's Tab 'Paid in Full'

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 30—The Senate restaurant did, indeed, provide food for the opening of Bobby Baker's plush Carousel Motel in Ocean City, Md., but he paid for it in full, senators looking into the matter were told.

A MEMORANDUM by Philip L. Roof, executive assistant to the capitol architect, made public Thursday, said it is not unusual for the restaurant to provide such a service for senators or officials on special occasions.

They pay for it in their regular monthly bills, he said.

AS FOR BAKER, Roof said, "I am informed that he was loaned a few pots and pans by the chef, which were all returned to the Senate restaurant." This is a fairly common practice by the chef, Roof added.

BAKER ALSO made arrangements with some of the restaurant employes to assist in the motel opening, Roof said, but he denied a report that they were ordered to work there.

Roof's memo was given to Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.VA.).

30 Utah Women Roll In for Demo Talks

By Frank Hewlett
Tribune Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 30 — A chartered busload of Utahns arrived here Thursday to participate in the 1964 Campaign Conference for Democratic Women.

Mr. Hewlett

Utah, with 30 participants, had one of the largest state delegations for the conference and the biggest for the Far West, according to Miss Lucy Redd, Utah's Democratic national committeewoman.

THE AFFAIR opened at the Sheraton Park Hotel Thursday night with an address by President Johnson. It will close Saturday afternoon with a White House reception. In between will be speeches by six members of the cabinet and a number of workshop sessions.

MISS REDD will appear on a conference panel Friday. Her subject will be candidate management.

Director of the Utah tour party is Mrs. Sunday Anderson who is being assisted by Mrs. Rena Loomis.

THE GROUP also includes Mrs. Elizabeth Vance, minority whip of the Utah House; Mrs. C. L. Jack, a former member of the Utah Legislature; Mrs. Sevilla Reese, state Democratic vice chairman and Mrs. Naomi Wooley, Salt Lake County vice chairman.

The group will be the breakfast guests Friday of the wife of Sen. Frank E. Moss (D-Utah).

Moss Asks Upper Basin Fund

WASHINGTON, April 30—An additional 9 million dollars for Utah and Upper Colorado River Basin public works projects was urged by Sen. Frank E. Moss (D-Utah) when he appeared Thursday before the Senate Reclamation Appropriations Subcommittee.

HEADING THE list was 5 million dollars to purchase replacement electricity for the customers of Hoover Dam if the secretary of the interior decides to stop draining down Lake Powell. There is already $1 million in the bureau's budget for buying replacement power.

SEN. MOSS ALSO called for $1,500,000 to begin construction of the Bonneville unit of the Central Utah Project, $364,000 for preconstruction studies for the Dixie Irrigation Project in southern Utah, $150,000 to improve the road in Morgan County between Porterville and the East Canyon Reservoir and 2 million dollars to expand the bureau's program of research and begin an action program mainly in the Colorado River Basin, in weather modification.

Raps BPA Line

WASHINGTON, April 30—Rep. Sherman P. Lloyd (R-Utah) urged the House of Representatives Thursday to deny funds for extension of a public power line into southern Idaho which he held would disrupt industrial growth in Idaho and Utah.

THE LINE WOULD be built by Bonneville Power Administration to Soda Springs, Idaho, where the Monsanto Chemical Co. has a phosphate plant.

He said the resulting low power rates would give an unfair competitive advantage to Monsanto and injure Western Phosphates, Inc., of Salt Lake City and J. R. Simplot Co., Pocatello.

"THIS IS EXTREMELY unfair," said Mr. Lloyd, "to the owners and workers of the private utilities; to the owners and workers of firms undercut by the cheap power; to coal miners and owners who supply fuel for commercial power generation and to the taxpayers whose tax base would be reduced but tax burden increased.

"THIS TAX-sheltered operation has no other purpose than the enlargement and perpetuation of BPA."

Seek Livestock Aid

WASHINGTON, April 30—The U.S. Tariff Commission was asked by Rep. Sherman P. Lloyd (R-Utah) Thursday to give livestockmen "in Utah and elsewhere relief from the depressing impact of the high level of imports."

MR. LLOYD appeared with Stanley D. Burgess, president of the Utah Cattlemen's Assn., who also called for the imposition of quotas on the import of foreign beef.

Gals Gets Kudos From Johnson

WASHINGTON, April 30 (UPI) — President Johnson said Thursday he "can see the day coming when . . . not even the office of president" will be barred to women.

He quickly added his hope that this day "is still a few years off."

"I predict that women will assume an ever-increasing share of the responsibilities of government," Mr. Johnson said.

FDA Seizes Wrinkle Lotion

© Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON, April 30 — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) charged Thursday that Helene Curtis "Magic Secret" wrinkle lotion is marketed under false claims.

In seizing a shipment of the product, FDA also claimed the new lotion is a drug, not a cosmetic.

It has not been licensed as a drug.

Laws covering drugs are much stricter than those for cosmetics, requiring proof of safety and effectiveness for the product. FDA has asked Congress to set the same standards for cosmetics.

The FDA action, which the company immediately said it will contest, set the stage for a court decision on the difference between drugs and cosmetics.

UNDER the law, drugs are products "intended to affect the structure or any function of the body." Cosmetics are products applied to the body "for cleansing, beautifying, promoting attractiveness or altering appearances."

Willard Gidwitz, president of Helene Curtis Industries, said some of FDA's medical and technical officials disagree with FDA contentions that wrinkle lotions are drugs.

Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet makes crooked roads feel like going straight

Your Chevrolet resists leaning on turns. You see, Chevrolet's stabilizing suspension system with its four big coil springs makes the crookedest S-curves seem on the level. And with a low-friction Ball-Race geared steering system, you waltz over twisting roads as gracefully as a ballerina.

Your Chevrolet resists bouncing on bumps. Chevrolet has a Safety-Girder X-built frame that soaks up jolts at its sturdy tubular center member. It has a double-acting shock absorber in each corner to take the jumps out of bumps. Why even the most cantankerous country road doesn't stand a fighting chance.

Your Chevrolet resists squatting on starts. In the rear, Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension is designed with 4-link levelizing control. Instead of lunging forward, you get away with Jet-smooth acceleration.

CHEVROLET
FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

Your Chevrolet resists nose diving on stops. Chevrolet's front-end coil suspension has built-in anti-dive control. When you put your foot down on the biggest brakes in Chevrolet history, you come to a Jet-smooth stop.

Your Chevrolet resists shaking and vibrating. All seven Chevrolet engines are precision balanced for smoother operation. And because Chevrolet's chassis and Body by Fisher have over 700 insulators and sound deadeners, you don't have to shout to have yourself heard.

But talking about Chevrolet's quiet Jet-smooth ride is one thing; experiencing it is another. And now that it's Trade 'N' Travel time at your Chevrolet dealer's, this is the perfect time to try it. Find the meanest, roughest stretch of road you can. Then see for yourself how straight a crooked road can feel.

What's Behind Lecture to American Press?

Moscow Seeking 'Hand' From U.S. in Argument With Peking?

By John M. Hightower
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 30—U.S. officials are intrigued by evidence that the Soviet Union now would like this country to give her a hand in Moscow's struggle with Red China.

THIS SEEMS to be, on the face of it, what the Russians are aiming at with their lecture to the American press Thursday about printing Red Chinese charges against Soviet communism.

Beneath the surface, however, the Soviets actually appear to be trying to use their dispute with the Red Chinese in an effort to wring concessions from the United States in fields of disarmament, nuclear arms for NATO, or the future of Germany and Berlin.

IT IS AN interesting twist on what American policy-makers consider one of the most important situations in the world today — the unity-wrecking fight between Moscow and Peking.

The mere fact that the Soviets would deal with the situation in such a way as to suggest a greater community of interest with the United States than with the Red Chinese is an indication of how far Premier Khrushchev and his advisers think the situation has gone.

ANOTHER ASPECT of the current Soviet line is that Moscow authorities evidently are worried about the trend of argument in American politics in this presidential eelction year. Possibly they would like to influence the debate a bit indirectly, while trying to brighten the Soviet image in the United States.

Pravda published an article Thursday criticizing U.S. newspapers for printing what the paper called "rude, gross anti-Soviet inventions" of the Chinese.

It said one effect is to perpetuate the "myth about the aggressive nature of the Soviets."

The Pravda article implied the U.S. press publishes only Chinese charges. It ignored the extensive coverage by American newspapers, radio and television of both sides of the dispute that has changed the shape of the Communist world.

U.S. EXPERTS said the Soviet purpose in Thursday's article was not clearly developed but that it had been brought out in a Moscow English language broadcast to North America 12 days ago.

NEWS ANALYSIS

This developed two themes: (1) that Soviet Communists are working for world peace and deserve U.S. support for their efforts, and (2) that the Soviets do not like the views of "such men as Sen. (Barry) Goldwater and members of the John Birch Society."

The broadcast claimed that the Soviet government under Khrushchev has always worked for peace even to the extent of denying vital weapons to its allies.

"When this country developed nuclear weapons," said the broadcast, "China asked for some. The Soviet Union refused. It believed such weapons should not be diffused."

Then came the point of the argument. Boiled down it is this:

If Russia refused nuclear weapons to Red China the United States should be willing to refuse them to West Germany. This in turn is a specific Soviet argument against the U.S.-backed proposal for a NATO nuclear missile fleet that would include West Germany.

They insisted that their denunciation of the Chinese insistence for militant Communist revolution "kills the myth that communism is aggressive."

AT THE SAME time they implied that the United States, by refusing to make concessions on NATO disarmament or the division of Berlin, is missing a big opportunity to nail down world peace.

Saying that the limited nuclear test ban treaty last year was a first step toward better East-West relations, the broadcast hammered this point:

"Why is it that the United States and its allies have no wish to go farther?"

The broadcast said Western opinion is divided with some "Western politicians" calling for "repudiation of the cold war dogma" while others would like to intensify the cold war. It added:

"ONE THING they (the others) see in the argument of Communists (the Soviets) with Chinese leaders is a chance to turn it to their own anti-Communist ends.

"Western countries will be making a great mistake if they let themselves be taken in by such men. They will lose a good opportunity to reach agreement with the Soviet Union and its friends for common peace action."

Fulbright's Policy Speech Draws Meany Broadside

By Neil Gilbride
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 30 — Labor chieftain George Meany criticized as "wishful thinking" Thursday the suggestions of Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) for a more flexible U.S. attitude toward the Communist world.

Mr. Meany

"Mr. Fulbright seems to have missed the most important lesson of the postwar era," Meany said. "The overriding issue of our times is between Communist tyranny and democracy, imperfect as it may be."

Meany, president of the 13½-million-member AFL-CIO, made the remarks in an editorial in the labor organization's magazine, "The Federationist."

"Appeasement of dictators bent on world domination cannot lead to peace, regardless of the profoundest wishful thinking," he said.

Fulbright's foreign policy speech in the Senate last month stirred an outpouring of comment, both pro and con. He has not replied directly to his critics.

FULBRIGHT, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, urged greater flexibility in U.S. policy in dealing with what he called "the great variation" in the Communist bloc.

Saying he was not speaking for the Johnson Administration, Fulbright also urged the U.S. to discard what he termed "myths" about the Communist world.

MEANY REFERRED to Fulbright's statement that one such myth is that "just as the President resides in Washington and the Pope in Rome, the devil resides immutably in Moscow."

Said Meany:

"SURELY SEN. Fulbright knows that it was not the President of the United States who ordered construction of the shameful wall that divides Berlin.

"It was not the Pope's visions that drenched the streets of Budapest with the blood of the workers and students who wanted nothing more than to live in peace and freedom. Only a devil could perpetrate these and other terrible crimes.

"And this devil resides immutably in Moscow."

As for Fulbright's suggestion to end the economic embargo of Cuba as a failure, Meany said:

"IT IS significant that (Prime Minister Fidel) Castro lost no time in welcoming the senator's notion of 'reality' and 'flexibility' in regard to his totalitarian regime."

Fulbright also urged keeping an open mind to the possibility of some day recognizing Red China, and Meany commented:

"WHEN Khrushchev's Russia and Mao's China become peaceful and democratic . . . then and only then should our government help them overcome their difficulties. . . .

"The divisions in the Communist camp will serve to strengthen the free world only if we exploit them in the cause of peace and freedom. On the other hand, the divisions and illusions in the Western camp, if continued, will invite new Communist aggressions."

LBJ Rakes GOP On Opposition To Poverty War

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 30 — President Johnson Thursday accused Republican foes of his war on poverty "of blind opposition for opposition's sake."

He told more than 3,000 cheering women such a course will lead the Republicans to oblivion at the polls.

"Please," he asked the women's 1964 campaign conference, "help us to match the actions of government to the convictions of the people . . . to help the helpless."

Castro: Stop Flights or Hazard War

weak, so we will not cry later over our weakness," Castro sai

"We will no surrender in the face of any position of force. This is the reason why Cuba cannot accept any more flights."

THE SPY flight crisis arose from U.S. intelligence reports that departing Soviet troops are expected to turn over to Castro 24 high-powered antiaircraft rocket installations.

A U.S. note was sent to Cuba March 27, via the Swiss, warning Castro against interfering with the American flights.

A CUBAN NOTE arrived in Washington rejecting the U.S. contention that the flights are necessary to guard against reintroduction of Soviet ballistic missiles.

Last Friday the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia denounced the U.S. flights and reiterated that the Soviet Union would side with Cuba if it were attacked.

CASTRO TOLD those at the Japanese reception that the United States had known for a long time that Cubans were being trained to operate Russian rockets. He said this knowledge gave the United States "one and a half years to rectify its flight policy."

"We are ready to talk and to search for peaceful solutions to all pending problems but any positions of force against us are going to fail," he said.

"I AM interpreting the feelings of the Cuban people and I do not want war because I consider myself to be the father of seven million Cubans. But if they (the United States) want war, there will be war."

Castro and other top Cuban leaders will witness the May Day parade from a main rostrum in Revolution Square. About 200,000 workers are expected to march.

Delegations from Communist parties all over the world, including the Soviet Union and Red China, will be seated on the rostrum.

A fleet of 500 taxis and other vehicles have been transporting workers into the capital, which is bedecked with thousands of red flags.

HUGE POSTERS and lighted signs on buildings proclaim the current themes: Support of Castro's demand for an end to U.S. aerial surveillance of Cuba and return of the Guantanamo Naval Base.

On the front of the Havana Libre Hotel, formerly the Havana Hilton, is a multicolored lighted sign depicting a peace dove and a Soviet-made sugar cane harvester.

Soft drink stands were installed around Revolution Square.

IN ADDITION to the surveillance flights, Castro's talk will deal with the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, diplomatic sources said. The speech will be televised in Cuba.

tutor Cubans in modern warfare and subversion.

—There is only negative evidence that Soviet offensive missiles were actually removed in 1962.

In any case, Cuba remains an outpost of Soviet penetration into Latin America and an advance intelligence base for surveillance of U.S. military activities.

—Cuban missile installations could be easily reestablished or strengthened.

—The very existence of a Communist Cuba undermines the influence, leadership and prestige of the U.S. and jeopardizes the alliance for progress.

THE COUNCIL found "no clear and firm policy toward Cuba" by the administration and accused it of losing the initiative that was gained at great risk during the 1962 missile crisis.

The government was blamed for failure to win the support of other Western nations for the ecomonic embargo of Cuba as well as for failure to enforce fully the sanctions oredered by Congress against nations active in Cuba trade.

The council said there may be good legal reasons for prohibiting raids against Cuba from U.S. territory.

But it criticized the joint patrols by the U.S. and Britain that guard against exile raids from all bases.

THE ADMINISTRATION was accused also of not exerting necessary leadership in the hemisphere to produce "tough" action against Cuba and for the apparent belief that the alliance for progress can succeed without evicting communism from Cuba.

Without advocating "hasty and improper" military action, the council said, it was urging a clear statement that Washington would use force, if ultimately necessary, just as it has done in other critical areas.

IT ALSO urged creation of a government-in-exile somewhere in Latin America, with direct or indirect American support.

Russ Festive On Eve of Big Holiday

By Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 30 — Gay splashes of colored bunting decorated Moscow Thursday night for the May Day holiday as the capital took on a festive air despite the schism with Communist China.

THE OFFICIAL New China News Agency announced that Russia has withdrawn an invitation to a Chinese delegation to attend the celebration Friday and witness the big parade in Red Square.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said trade delegations from more than 50 countries in Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America will be on hand. They will have places in Red Square, a privilege denied to most Moscow residents.

Lady Astor Ill

Reuters News Agency

LONDON, April 30 — Viscountess Nancy Astor, 84, was reported Thursday night to be dangerously ill and "sinking fast." The nature of her illness was not announced.

The American-born peeress, the first woman member of Britain's House of Commons, has been a member of Parliament since 1919.

She represented the Plymouth voting district for over 25 years.

Her husband, the second Viscount Astor, who died in 1952, was Conservative member for the area when he succeeded to the title in 1919.

Reds Free American Jailed 23 Months

BERLIN, April 30 (UPI) — The East German Communists Thursday night freed a 39-year-old Californian who had spent 23 months in Communist jails since his arrest in East Berlin on an apparent charge of helping refugees escape to the West.

THE U.S. mission in Berlin announced the release of Jean Frederic Loba, of Altadena, who was sentenced to 2½ years imprisonment by an East Berlin court at the end of a secret trial in October, 1962.

Western officials said Loba appeared to be in reasonably good condition when he reached West Berlin.

He was questioned by American officials.

Loba was arrested in East Berlin in June, 1962.

THE COMMUNISTS never made public the charges against him but he was said to have been accused of helping refugees escape.

Nude Slay Case

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—A 54-year-old janitor was charged Thursday night with the murder of one of London's four strangled nudes. Police announced they had filed the charges against Kenneth Archibald after more than 24 hours of questioning.

Archibald was accused of killing Irene Lockwood, a red-haired prostitute found on the bank of the River Thames April 8.

She was the third prostitute in six months found stripped and strangled. A fourth was found last week.

Although police have declared it a possibility that all four were victims of the same maniac killer, there was no hint of whether they believe Archibald is involved in any of the other murders. He is to appear in Magistrate's Court Friday.

Fingering rosary, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fronczak pray for return of infant son kidnaped from hospital room in Chicago.

America at a Glance

Heartbroken Mother Cries, Take Good Care of Baby

Chicago Tribune Service

CHICAGO, April 30 — Crying softly and fingering a crystal rosary, Dora Fronczak made her first personal appeal Thurs day to the woman who kidnaped her baby last Monday in Michael Reese Hospital.

"TAKE GOOD CARE of him. See that he gets enough to eat." she said, placing concern for the child above all else.

"Please return the baby to us," she added hopefully.

Mrs. Fronczak, who is 28 and the wife of Chester Fronczak Jr., 33, sat in a wheel chair in the lobby of the hospital's nursery section as she faced a battery of newsmen and cameramen.

Her face showed lines of worry that were not there Sunday, after the birth of Paul Joseph at 1:20 a.m. in the hospital.

Her eyes were red from days of worry and sleepless nights made bearable by sedatives.

Under questioning, she said she had not really gotten a good look at the woman who masqueraded as a nurse, interrupted her feeding of Paul Joseph, and took the child from her arms on the pretext that a doctor wanted to examine the boy.

Luci Gets Crown, Dad's on Hand

WINCHESTER, VA., April 30 (AP)—President Johnson drove 75 miles from the White House Thursday to see his 16-year-old daughter, Luci, crowned queen of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival—and he was the first after the ceremony to address her as "Your Majesty."

The President was in beaming good humor as he escorted his daughter in her white organdy coronation gown with a long silver train.

He told the audience of about 4,500, gathered in a light drizzle on the soggy grass of the Handley High School stadium, that he always had known his daughter was a queen.

IN A BRIEF speech from the school steps, Mr. Johnson said it was a great moment of pride for him as a father, and "a great thrill as President."

His appearance here was unannounced and somewhat impromptu. Luci, here eyes brimming with excited tears exclaimed: "Daddy, I'm so glad you're here," as she reached to kiss him.

Knifed to Death

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Three youths were arrested Thursday in a Harlem store incident in which a woman was knifed to death and her husband critically stabbed.

Police said one of eight Negro teen-agers who entered the couple's second-hand clothing store Wednesday stabbed the two.

The youths were described as between 14 and 19 years old.

Mrs. Magit Sugar, 45, Woodside, Queens, was killed by a single thrust in the heart with a double-edged dirk.

HER HUSBAND, Frank, 50, wrested the knife from the killer, but was stabbed six times in doing so.

Thursday police booked three youths on charges of felonious assault in Sugar's stabbing. They are Ronald Felder, 18; Walter Thomas, 18, and Willie Craig, 17.

Arthur Keller . . . Manager accused of $227,000 swindle.

Store Officer Charged in N.Y. Swindle

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 30—The general manager of Mainbocher's fashionable Fifth Avenue dress salon was accused Thursday of swindling the firm of $227,000 to indulge his passion for boating. Some of the money was used to buy a $79,000 yacht.

THE THEFTS charged to Arthur Keller, 42, came to light after a banker casually remarked to a Mainbocher accountant that he had just received the firm's latest financial statement.

"That's funny, we haven't issued it yet," replied the accountant. An investigation followed.

Keller, Mainbocher's general manager for 15 years at $22,500 a year, was charged in a 57-count state suprene court indictment with larceny, forgery and filing false statements from early 1957 to last January.

ASST. DIST. Atty. Leonard Newman said most of the money went for boats, and that Keller started with a small one and worked his way up to the yacht in 1959.

The indictment charged the swindle began when Keller issued checks to himself totaling $166,116, forging on them the names of company president Main R. Bocher and Treasurer L. Douglas Pollard.

To cover the thefts, Newman claimed, Keller used Bocher's life insurance policy and savings account records to borrow $55,000.

He also was accused of forging Bocher's signature to sell stock worth $6,086.

THIS MONEY was deposited in Mainbocher's corporate account with the Park Avenue Branch of the Bankers Trust Co.

On another occasion, Newman said, Mainbocher's board of directors authorized the borrowing of $150,000 and Keller increased the amount to $355,000. The $205,000 difference also was put in the Bankers Trust account.

THUS IN THE end, Newman said, Keller had put back—on paper at least—nearly $100,000 more than was originally taken.

Visit Canada Port

HALIFAX, N.S., April 30 (AP) — Seven U.S. submarines arrived Thursday on a five-day courtesy call. It was the largest U.S. force to visit this port since World War II. They will remain for Canada's celebration of Navy Week opening Sunday.

Opinion Poll

GOP Boosts Appeal to Distaff Side

By Dr. George Gallup
Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., April 30 — The Democratic Party has registered equally large gains among voters of both sexes since the 1960 election, but in recent months a shift to the GOP has been noted among women voters.

Dr. Gallup

These conclusions are based a comparison of Gallup Poll 1960 election studies with the latest trial heat between President Johnson and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge — currently Mr. Johnson's strongest "rival" and a similar test election last November between President John F. Kennedy and the then front-runner, Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The latest Johnson-Lodge trial heat shows the President holding a large lead over Lodge among both men and women, as follows:

MEN
Lodge	30%
Johnson	66
Undecided & refused	4
WOMEN
Lodge	31%
Johnson	63
Undecided & refused	6

MEN
Lodge	31%
Johnson	69
WOMEN
Lodge	33%
Johnson	67

While the Democratic Party has increased its support among both men and women since 1960, survey evidence shows that women have shifted somewhat to the GOP in the last few months.

IN THE 1960 presidential election, women were found to be slightly more Republican in their vote than men. They gave Nixon 51 per cent of their vote to 49 per cent for Mr. Kennedy.

However, a trial heat last November between Mr. Kennedy and Goldwater—top nomination choice of the GOP rank-and-file at that time — showed Mr. Kennedy's strength to be six percentage points higher among women than among men.

A COMPARISON of trial heats between Mr. Johnson and four leading GOP possibilities shows that each Republican has about equal appeal to both sexes, as follows:

VOTE OF MEN AND WOMEN FOR LEADING CONTENDERS

	Men	Women
Lodge	30%	31%
Nixon	28	27
Rockefeller	17	17
Goldwater	17	15

In the 1960 election, as in the 1956 election, men and women cast approximately the same number of votes.

The proportion of men who voted in 1960 was slightly higher than the proportion of women who voted.

However, it should be borne in mind that women outnumbered men in the adult civilian population at that time by more than five million.

FROM THE point of view of the GOP, the increasing emphasis on the women's vote is important because it tends to work to the benefit of this party.

In 1956, the vote for Gen. Eisenhower was 6 percentage points greater in the case of women than in the case of men.

IN 1952, the vote of women for Gen. Eisenhower was 5 percentage points higher than the vote given him by men.

Full Lifetime of Adventure, And She's Just 2 Days Old

By Associated Press

MIAMI BEACH, FLA., April 30—Barbara Benita Mejias' first few hours of life probably were as wild as any she'll ever know.

She was born Wednesday to a farmer's wife fleeing Communist Cuba in an 18-foot wooden boat.

Before the day was over, Barbara had been lifted in a sling from the boat to the deck of a British frigate off Marathon Key and then lowered in a duffel bag to a Coast Guard vessel off Miami.

Thursday she and her mother, Luisa, 30, were doing well in Jackson Memorial Hospital.

Her father, Andres, 33, who delivered Barbara, had hoped she would be born in America.

MEJIAS, HIS WIFE AND ANOTHER daughter, Marta, 12, set out with five other Cubans from Matanzas Tuesday night.

The baby was born at 10:10 a.m., 13 miles west of Marathon Key. Marta held her mother's hand while Dolores Espin Ramos, 18, helped Mejias with the delivery.

THE CUBANS ATTRACTED THE ATTENTION of HMS Tartar, a 360-foot English ship assigned to patrol between the Bahamas and Florida.

Officers Find Remains of Kidnap Victim

By Associated Press

VENICE, FLA., April 30 — The remains of a 7-year-old boy were discovered Thursday in a palmetto grove, a wild, lonely spot where a man identified as accused kidnaper Joseph Francis Bryan Jr. got his car stuck in the sand on the day the youngster disappeared.

THE REMAINS were identified from the clothing by the boy's father, Hack Wilson, a St. Petersburg fireman. His son, Hackie, had been missing since March 23.

FBI agents, tracking Bryan along a trail of gasoline charge slips that began in West Virginia, found the field Wednesday night.

The body was found an hour before noon. A medical examination was ordered to determine the cause of the boy's death.

Bryan, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, was arrested on a kidnaping warrant Tuesday in New Orleans. A second kidnaping charge was filed against him in Memphis, Tenn.

THE 25-YEAR-OLD man is charged in the disappearance of 10-year-old John David Robison of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., whose body was found March 31 just north of Miami. He is also charged with kidnaping Dennis Burke, 8, of Humboldt, Tenn., who was with him when he was arrested.

Racial Job Quotas Held Illegal

By Associated Press

SACRAMENTO, CALIF., April 30—Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk ruled Thursday that a demand for a fixed racial quota in an employer's work crew is a violation of California law.

AN OPINION requested by Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad (R-Sherman Oaks), said all lawful means—including a request to hire more of the racial group being discriminated against—may be used where bias exists.

MOSK ADDED: "A demand that there be a fixed number of jobs to be reserved for a specific race or the allocation of a racial quota to a work crew by an employer or an act which compels or coerces such designation of allocation is an unlawful employment practice."

Indiana Vote Takes Hue Of Racial Referendum

By Samuel Lubell

GARY, IND., April 30 — For Indiana's Democrats, next Tuesday's presidential primary has been transformed into a deeply troubled, emotion - stirred referendum on racial feelings.

Mr. Lubell

In Gary, South Bend and Indianapolis, a third of the white Democrats I interviewed said they will mark their ballots for segregationist Gov. George Wallace of Alabama on May 5.

One in every three of these Wallace supporters threatened to bolt the Democratic ticket next November "if Johnson forces this civil rights law on us."

BUT, EQUALLY significant, in these three cities 55 per cent of the Democrats interviewed—(the remaining 12 per cent were still undeceided) — said they would vote against the Alabama governor.

Many dismissed him as "a radical" and "a hate-spreader."

Others conceded, "He's made some good points" in his criticisms of the civil rights legislation now before the Senate, but they still felt, "We don't want extremists like him in the government."

THE SIGNIFICANCE of the Indiana primary, in short, extends far beyond the mere size of the "protest" vote registered for Wallace.

Every northern city with a sizable Negro population is wracked by racial tensions and antagonisms.

The May 5 primary will provide a reading, community by community, of how deep this conflict runs in Indiana, and of the relative strengths of those who tend to favor the Southner segregationist view as against those who believe "Negroes should have their rights."

WALLACE IS being helped somewhat by the almost unbelievable unpopularity of his opponent, Gov. Matthew E. Welsh, who is running as the head of a "native son" delegation known to favor President Johnson.

Two of every three Democrats interviewed broke into sharp criticism of the governor for "giving us the shaft with that sales tax" and declared:

"He'll never get my vote for governor again."

While some of these voters will be going for Wallace in sheer anger with Welsh, most of the Democrats I talked with had pushed Welsh aside mentally and were focusing on the racial issue.

"I FOUGHT alongside of Negroes in World War II," recalled one Bendix mechanic in South Bend. "I'd rather have Welsh with his sales tax than a Negro-hater like Wallace."

Many others echoed an Indianapolis fireman who said:

I arrived in South Bend the day after President Johnson stopped there on this "poverty tour."

THE REACTION in that Studebaker-mourning city provides intriguing evidence of how support for the president on economic issues can operate to restrain racial resentments.

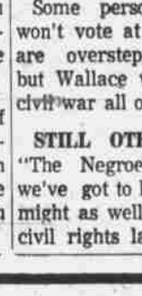
Nine of the persons interviewed at random in South Bend were former Studebaker workers, nearly all now unemployed. All nine were voting against Wallace.

Their feelings were summed up by one 56-year-old engineering worker who wore a hearing aid.

"Johnson's trying to do something for us," he said. Then, in almost the next sentence, he went on, "I don't like to live too close to colored people, but I'm sticking with Johnson. He's trying to be president of all the pepole. I guess he's right when he say we've got to give colored people a chance to improve themselves."

WHEN THE primary vote is tallied, much will probably be written about the revival of "Ku Klux Klan bigotry" in Indiana.

But my interviews suggest that it would be more accurate to think of Indiana as a state undergoing a troubled racial transition.



Gov. Wallace

Many of the voters I talked with were plainly in conflict within themselves and could be shifted from one side to the other on the issue.

The strongest Wallace support comes from the sizable number of persons who have migrated into Indiana from the South and border states.

Most of them concede, as did a steel worker in Gary, "I'll work with Niggers on the same job.

"I have to. But after work I don't want anything to do with them."

Among the northern-born, some sons and daughters of immigrants recalled. "it wasn't so long ago that the Polish people were kicked around like coloreds are now."

BUT THEIR neighbors argued, "Give them their rights but let them keep their place. I don't want them buying a house next door."

Some persons declared, "I won't vote at all. The Negroes are overstepping themselves, but Wallace would have us in civil war all over again."

STILL OTHERS thought, "The Negroes are here and we've got to live with them. We might as well give them a real civil rights law."

New Mystery

Weird Dome Buzzes Off Near Vegas

By Associated Press

LAS VEGAS, April 30 — Three Californians traveling by car to Las Vegas reported sighting Thursday a mysterious dome-shaped object the size of an airship which disappeared while their attention was momentarily diverted from it.

MR. AND MRS. Gus Biggs and Mrs. Lorene Ayres, all of Fontana, Calif., told authorities they had spotted the object crouched on a hilltop just off U.S. Highway 91, some 10 miles west of Baker, Calif.

Mrs. Gloria Biggs was quoted as saying:

"At first we thought it was a water tower, but as we got closer we knew it was something we'd never seen before."

She said she, her husband and her mother, Mrs. Ayres, watched the smooth, brownish dome-shaped object for about five or six minutes while their car was moving. She said the object disappeared from its hilltop perch when they looked away for a moment.

Mrs. Biggs said the only subsequent sign of the object's presence on the hilltop was a large depression in the ground.

A SIMILARLY shaped unidentified flying object was spotted last Friday by a policeman in Socorro, N.M.

Thursday's sighting by the Biggs family was within the confines of the U.S. Army's coming "desert strike" maneuvers, planned for May 17-30.

Adlai Does Not Wish to Run

© New York Times Service

NEW YORK, April 30 — Adlai E. Stevenson notified Democratic leaders Thursday that he did not wish to be considered for the Senate candidacy in New York against Kenneth B. Keating, the Republican incumbent.

IN A STATEMENT issued a few hours before leaving on a three-week trip to Europe, Stevenson made no reference to the vice presidential nomination. Close friends have indicated that he would be receptive to becoming President Johnson's running mate.

Busy-They're Radioactive

It's A-Dusty House— Months to Clean It

By Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, April 30—A spring cleaning job that has been hanging fire for decades got under way Thursday at the Harry Kizirian house in suburban Landsdowne.

THE PURPOSE IS TO RID the basement of radioactive dust deposited when a University of Pennsylvania physics professor lived in the house from 1919 until his death in 1945. The Kizirians bought the house in 1960 for $13,000, planning it as their retreat in retirement.

While the physicist, Dr. Dicran Kabakjian lived there he experimented with radium in the basement. A surviving son, Dr. Raymond Kabakjian, said the father made radium needles for hospitals that used them to treat cancer.

The son said he often helped his father and that neither he nor any other member of the family suffered any ill effects.

He added: "Nobody knew about the long-term danger of radioactivity in those days."

John Villforth, of the U.S. Public Health Service's Rockville, Md., laboratory, is sharing the direction of the cleansing job with Dr. Jan Lieban, of the State Health Department. Lieban, a physician, detectived the radioactive condition more than a year ago after routinely hearing of the radium experiments of long ago.

It may take a crew of 13 men, using two truckloads of complex equipment, as long as two months to finish the cleaning task.

Villforth said that although there is potential danger from radioactivity in the basement, it is slight, and that there is no hazard ouside the house.

BEFORE THE JOINT state-federal decontamination project was decided upon, Mr. and Mrs. Kizirian and all members of their family who had been in the house were taken at government expense to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and examined.

3-Day Catholic Session Begins Today in S.L.

A national committee of Catholic laymen will meet in Salt Lake City for a three-day conference beginning Friday to discuss policy of the Catholic Church Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

IT WILL BE the first time the 35-member committee has held its annual meeting in Salt Lake City. The meetings in Holy Cross Hospital conference room will plan how laymen can assist the church in conducting the Confraternity Parish Schools of Religion.

These schools supply religious instruction to Catholic students in public elementary and secondary schools outside of school hours. In Utah more than 9,000 students are in the training program.

THE CONFRATERNITY schools are in addition to the Catholic education given to students enrolled in parochial schools. Representing Utah at the meeting will be Mrs. Daniel McDonough, Bountiful, and John H. V. Wikstrom, Ogden.

The conference is under the direction of William Glauber, Belleville, Ill., national chairman. A banquet will be held Friday at 7 p.m. in Hotel Utah.

Leader Wins Reelection To TB Post

Dr. John D. Newton, director of the State Tuberculosis Hospital, Ogden, was reelected president of the Utah Tuberculosis and Health Assn. at the annual meeting Thursday in Newhouse Hotel.

Dr. Newton

Mrs. Helen M. Knight, Moab, was elected first vice president and Wilford I. Wegener, Richfield, second vice president. Mrs. Knight received special recognition for 27 years of voluntary service.

OTHER OFFICERS reelected are Charles R. Liston, secretary, and Mason W. Smith, treasurer. Both are of Salt Lake City.

Elected directors at large were Reed A. Watkins, Mrs. Winnifred Manwaring, Dr. William M. McPhee and Mr. Smith, Salt Lake City; John H. Zenger, Provo, and Dr. Newton, Ogden. Representative directors are Dean S. Stahle, Bountiful, and Dr. Margaret Merkley, Logan.

GOV. GEORGE D. Clyde commended those assisting in the tuberculosis eradication campaign conducted by the State Health Department.

The governor said when he took office nearly eight years ago he thought eradication would be a futile goal, but with progress being made "we will conquer this problem if we keep at it."

DR. SIDNEY H. Dressler, Atlanta, Ga., special assistant chief of the tuberculosis program, U.S. Public Health Service, said "tuberculosis wears many faces in many parts of the country," but in all control programs use of the anti-tuberculosis drugs—isoniazid and PAS—is most helpful in reducing individual infectivity.

Although Utah's over-all tuberculosis rate is very low, there are spots of high incidence.

DURING A recent survey it was found that the 15-block center area of Salt Lake City had a new case rate of over 400 per 100,000 population, while that of the city as a whole was less than 20.

Maestro Maurice Abravanel received special recognition and commendation for his services as honorary Christmas Seal chairman.

High School Highlights

South Awaits Mother-Son Festivities

By Kenneth Bass

The South High annual mothers and sons party will be held in the boys' new gymnasium Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Bass

Entertainment will be furnished by a group of gymnasts from the University of Utah.

The highlight of the night will be a basketball shooting contest between the mothers. There will be dancing and refreshments.

Chairman is Granger Peck. Assisting him are Leon Nielson, Allan Francis, Tom Kilgore, Mike Hall, Richard Evershed and Steve Pohlman.

Highland High School

By Judy Asson

Miss Asson

Speakers are Bill Dickman, Marie Likins, Laurence Wood, Steve Ashton and Barbara Nelson.

The speakers were chosen from the top three per cent of the graduating class and the Merit Scholarship finalists on the basis of competitive speeches.

Judge Memorial

By George Raine

"Aloha Oe"—A farewell to thee—will be the theme of the annual Pep Club Banquet Wednesday in the school cafeteria.

Mr. Raine

A waterfall will serve as a centerpiece. It will be placed so it will flow between a wall of orchids and other floral arrangements. At each place-setting will be a place card with a small orchid.

The pep club will host all faculty members, senior girls, and girls who have participated in girls' athletics during the year.

SERVING refreshments will be the Lettermen's Club.

St. Mary of The Wasatch

By Sheila Hackett

The May procession will be held Sunday at the school.

The student body will form a living rosary outside and proceed to the shrine of St. Joseph and the grotto where hymns will be sung. Concluding the processional in the chapel, Sodality Prefect Alice Bocock will place a bouquet of white roses on the altar.

Miss Hackett

The Junior Prom will be held the night of May 8, in the Crystal Ballroom at the Hotel Newhouse.

West High School

By Jane Glines

The annual review of the homemaking, industrial arts and art departments will be held May 12 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The clothing department will present a fashion show, the industrial arts department will have student exhibits and the food classes will serve refreshments.

Miss Glines

The officers for the 1964-65 Pep Club are: Edith Saito, president; Chris Kikuchi, vice president; Kathy Ledwith, corresponding secretary; Margaret Hayes, recording secretary; Anne Clayburn, treasurer, and Karen Sarris, historian.

ROBERT MUKAI of the Utah State Bar will be guest speaker at an assembly observing Law Day.

Participating in the citywide ROTC review to be held at Highland High Friday will be the Pep Club, band and ROTC.

St. Mark—Rowland Hall

By Rob Priest

Saturday at 2 p.m. at East High School, members of the junior class will take their College Entrance Examination Board tests.

Mr. Priest

The juniors take their tests in May so those students who wish to apply to eastern colleges will have their scores back before the beginning of next school year. This enables them to apply to the colleges in the summer and early fall.

Student body elections will be held the first week of May.

Loyalty Day: Focus on 2 S.L. Sites

Salt Lake City Commission chambers and Highland High School will be convention points Friday for annual Loyalty Day observances.

IN A 5 P.M. program at Highland High School, Col. Morgan Higham, Utah National Guard, will present the annual Gen. Rich Trophy to Boyd Tew, West High School, as the outstanding rifleman in the high school Reserve Officers Training Corps and National Defense Cadet Corps program.

A Superintendent's Trophy will be presented by Dr. M. Lynn Bennion, school superintendent, to the East High School rifle team as city champions.

AS PART OF the program, the West High School Band and the pep clubs of all city high schools will march. Maj. Tobert O. Leitch, assistant professor of military science for Salt Lake high schools, will serve as moderator.

At 8:30 a.m. in the City Commission chambers, the Veterans of Foreign Wars will conduct a loyalty program, including presentation of new 50-star flags for the seven district courtrooms in the City and County Building and for office of the mayor.

Officers of the Utah VFW will present a special Loyalty Day citation to Gov. George D. Clyde at 9:45 a.m. in the governor's office.

Papers' Agency Gains Honors

Newspaper Agency Corp., representing the Salt Lake Tribune and Deseret News and Salt Lake Telegram, was presented an honorary associate membership in the National Organization of Mobile Home Dealers at a dinner Thursday night at Cottonwood Mall, 4835 Highland Dr. (1100 East).

REPRESENTING NAC was Harvey W. Northrup, retail advertising sales manager. Louis R. Bell made the presentation for the mobile home dealers' group.

Support Ideals, Judd Advises

Special to The Tribune

PROVO — Republicans must speak up with force and candor in support of their doctrines and in opposition to the incumbent administration, Thomas G. Judd, nominee for for Congress in the Second District, told members of the Provo Women's Republican Club Thursday.

"ANY CICIZEN," he said, "who values his own future and that of his country must get involved in politics if only by affirming his convictions at the ballot box. I am in politics because it holds out the promise of maximum challenge and accomplishment."

Take Diver Tanks

Cancer Fatal For Boise Rector at 54

By Associated Press

BOISE — The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Kenneth F. Rowe, 54, rector of St. John's Catholic Cathedral, died Thursday of cancer.

Mnsgr. Rowe

Death came at St. Alphonsus Hospital, which he had served as chaplain for seven years.

Monsignor Rowe was born in Lynn, Mass., Nov. 23, 1909, and was educated there and at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass. He was ordained to the priesthood in Holy Cross Cathedral in Boston in May, 1936.

He had served in Idaho since that time.

Payson Youth's Entry Grand Champ

Special to The Tribune

SPANISH FORK — Larry Dixon, Payson, won top honors for the first day of the 40th annual Utah State Junior Livestock Show here Thursday when his Hereford steer was judged grand champion.

RESERVE champion honors went to Earl Anderson, Fielding, Box Elder County.

"Outstanding feature of the opening day of the show is the large number and exceptionally high quality of the fat beef entries," Eldon A. Money, show manager, said Thursday night.

THE SHOW continues Friday morning with the conclusion of judging. Friday afternoon and evening will see horse pulling matches, a junior horsemanship event, a calf scramble and the exhibitors' jamboree at 7:30 p.m.

The sale of fat stock Saturday at 10:30 a.m. will close the show.

THE FIRST official event of the show was the organization of the exhibitors' showtown Thursday at 8 a.m.

Richard Roach, Spanish Fork, was elected mayor, with J. Allen Hales and Jay Cornaby, both Spanish Fork, selected as policemen.

OTHER RESULTS of first-day judging were: Fat hog division, grand champion, Russell Talbot, Hinckley, Millard County; reserve champion, Jay Phillips, Springville. Hampshire sheep, champion ram and champion ewe, Eva Brooks, Hennefer, Summit County; reserve champion ram, Jackie Evans, Delta; reserve champion ewe, Ronald Henrie, Tremonton. Ramboulette sheep, champion and reserve champion ram, Charles Lund, Gunnison; champion and reserve champion ewe, Randall Childs, Gunnison. Columbia sheep, champion and reserve champion ram and ewe, Jack Larsen, Spanish Fork.

IN THE FAT beef division, cattle winning high choice ratings were shown by Paul and Roger Rees, Morgan; Roger Swenson, Spanish Fork; Larry and Douglas Banks, Palmyra, Utah County; Gary Curtis, Orangeville, Emery County, and Macray Wood, Cedar City.

Fat beef fitting and showmanship over 14 years was won by Wayne Roach, Palmyra, and under 14 years by Larry Banks. Danny Throckmorton, Genola, Utah County, won the calf scramble event.

Hot Shoppes Chief Gains Award

Special to The Tribune

PROVO — "Most failures in business are due to bad habits," according to J. Willard Marriott, Washington, D.C., president and founder of the 75 - million - dollar Hot Shoppes chain.

MR. MARRIOTT was presented the "Exemplary Manhood" award for 1964 by the Associated Men Students at Brigham Young University Wednesday night.

MR. MARRIOTT stressed the importance of ingenuity, imagination and common sense in the business world. He also said, "The greatness of America is due to its free enterprise system."

Hurdles Removed

FPC Reaffirms Conclusion For Private Dam in Idaho

Tribune Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 30—The Federal Power Commission reaffirmed Thursday its February decision authorizing a private power combine to build its proposed 257-million-dollar High Mountain Sheep hydroelectric power project on the middle stretch of the Snake River on the Idaho-Oregon border.

THIS CLEARS the way for Pacific Northwest Power Co. to at long last start this huge dam it has been battling to build for several years. All hurdles now are removed except possibly court action.

What the commission did was deny applications for rehearing its February decision. Turned down were the requests of the Washington Public Power Supply System of Kennewick, Wash., whose competing application was denied, the Secretary of the Interior who wanted a federally built dam and the Department of Conservation of Washington state.

PACIFIC Northwest Power is composed of Washington Water Power Co., Montana Power Co., Pacific Power & Light Co. and Portland General Electric Co. The Washington Public Power Supply System is made up of 16 Washington state public utility districts.

Building Okehed For St. George

Special to The Tribune

WASHINGTON, April 30 — Senate Public Works Committee approval of a General Services Administration prospectus for a $265,000 federal building for St. George was announced Thursday by Sen. Frank E. Moss (D-Utah).

THE UTAHN, A member of the committee, said this completes congressional authorization of the southern Utah project. GSA now can acquire the site and award a contract for the design work, he said.

THE SENATOR noted there is $85,000 in the budget for the next fiscal year for this work.

Major Obstacle Cleared for Auditorium

Salt Lake County is a big step nearer to getting that auditorium-sports arena-convention center.

It came with signing of a bond ordinance Wednesday by the County Commission.

Forged on the anvil of legal requirements and wrought by discussion and reconciliation of varying points of view, the ordinance is a sound instrument.

MOST IMPORTANT, it assures control and operation of the center by a non-political board as required by the enabling legislation.

In essence the ordinance provides for issuance of 17 million dollars in bonds to buy a site and to build the center.

(At the same meeting the commission accepted a bond bid from First Security Corp., which was acting in behalf of a group of 15 banks and bond houses.)

It created the board of directors (all of whom had been previously designated) and it spelled out the board's powers and responsibliities.

It authorizes a levy on property to retire the bond issue.

BY THE TIME Salt Lake County's voters had approved the $17,000,000 bond issue for the civic auditorium-sports arena-convention center by a wide margin last November, the whole community was engaged in a discussion about the project and various issues related to it.

The fact that a petition was presented to the County Commission this week asking it to rescind the previous appointment of architects was one manifestation of intense public interest in the facility.

WE ARE CONFIDENT that the board of directors, the County Commission and all others concerned will cooperate fully to get the handsomest and best possible facility for the tax dollar.

As stressed many times, the need for such a complex has been recognized for more than a quarter of a century.

A series of committees through the years has studied the proposal and consistently recommended that it be built.

The rapid growth of the Wasatch Front metropolitan area and the construction of a network of freeways which will facilitate easy and quick access into Salt Lake City from all directions have combined to make such a center all the more desirable for this hub of the Intermountain West.

The convention center will serve the increasing need for a place to hold large gatherings, cultural events, entertainment, athletic and other events. The positive effect on Utah's economy will be tremendous.

The action of the county commissioners this week was the second great step toward achieving a long-cherished dream. The third great event will be the completion of the center.

Trade With the Soviets

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has gone much further than merely endorsing expanded trade with the Soviet Union and the satellite countries. In a resolution adopted at its annual meeting in Washington, the C. of C. made a specific policy recommendation.

The United States, said the resolution, should cut back the list of items barred from sale to the Soviet bloc to the same level applied by western European nations.

This would mean the release of hundreds of items, ranging from oil refineries to most types of machinery. Trade in items of direct military significance would still be prohibited.

EXPANSION OF TRADE between the U.S. and the USSR could be expected to improve the international climate. The C. of C. also took a hard-headed dollar-and-cents view. As the chairman of the resolutions committee said, the effect of American policy of having a much longer export embargo list than western Europe "has not been to deprive the Communist countries of goods, but to divert business to European suppliers."

President Johnson has been moving cautiously toward expansion of trade with the USSR and its satellites. The C. of C. action should strengthen his hand. But there is still widespread suspicion of trade with the Communists as was indicated by the heavy opposition to the recent wheat sale.

Indeed, any effort to improve relations with Moscow stirs up criticism, both in this country and abroad.

At the moment, some West Germans are highly indignant because Mr. Johnson urged them to try to "understand" the Russians. His views, contained in an interview published by the magazine, Munich Match, brought sharp criticism in several West German newspapers. Yet West Germany, like other western European countries, trades with the Soviet Union.

THE RECOMMENDATION contained in the C. of C. resolution could be put into effect by executive action in Washington. So far, there is no sign of a change in policy, though the administration has been considering the idea for some time. President Johnson would certainly sound out Congress in advance of any decision. And in that area, the firm support of a major businessmen's organization should have great effect.

The wonderful thing about our country is that it's not necessary to go all the way to the New York World's Fair to see a traffic jam. Lots of small communities can produce impressive ones.

Other diseases draw more research attention, but probably the most work-hours would be saved if somebody would discover a pill that prevented hypochondria.

The biggest salesmanship challenge in industry today would be trying to persuade the average motorist to buy a car he could afford.

There is this to be said in defense of beer cans—the headlights glinting off of them mark the edges of the highway.

The Practical Type

On Guard, It's Spring

Along with the daffodils and forsythia blooms comes the bootleg or itinerant siding, roofing or remodeling contractor.

MOST PEOPLE are vulnerable because it is spring—a time for rebirth—for providing a new roof or a long-needed extra bedroom.

But be cautious.

The roof may be leaking within a year. The concrete may crumble. And the contractor may have decided not to complete the job—even though he already has received a hefty advance payment.

The State Department of Contractors and the Better Business Bureau of Greater Salt Lake have suggestions for householders:

Check qualifications of the "contractor." Is he licensed? On jobs costing over $1,000 he is required to have a license. On jobs costing less than $1,000, your next door neighbor could be the contractor. And, indeed, he may be capable of doing an acceptable job.

Also check with the Department of Contractors. If a contractor—licensed or unlicensed — has a body of complaints against him, the department will say so.

Get three bids for a better idea of the job's worth.

BEWARE THE CONTRACTOR who wants his money in advance.

Check to determine if he has paid his suppliers and workers.

Red flag: The pitch the job will be paid for by "commissions" from referrals.

Suggests one investigator: Never sign any contract after 8 p.m. "We get more complaints from people who say the salesman just 'wore us out.'"

Finally, get lien waivers from the suppliers and workers before paying for the job.

Refuse Dump Problem

Ogden's difficulties in finding a new refuse disposal area illustrate the challenge of this municipal service problem in populous areas.

Ogden's present dump, located close to town and used for 40 years, is filled beyond capacity. Besides, it must be closed this summer to make way for a new interstate highway.

But every effort thus far to find a new site has been blocked by strong protests. One proposed site, the "hobo hangout" along the Union Pacific tracks in West Ogden, is opposed because it is held to be an ideal area for future industrial development. The latest plan, to put a new dump in southern Box Elder County brought loud objections from residents and a Box Elder County Commission resolution barring garbage disposal in the area.

There is plenty of land to the west of Ogden toward Great Salt Lake, but there are a number of small towns and farms in the area—and Ogden has found people living as far as 10 miles away from a proposed dump site object.

As has been the case with so many other metropolitan areas—and as will ultimately be true of Salt Lake City—it seems that Ogden may find the only eventual satisfactory answer is incineration of refuse.

Bobby's Future Big Question for LBJ

WASHINGTON — The biggest question in national politics today is not merely who will become the Republican presidential nominee but whether Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will be the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Mr. Lawrence

It is easy enough to say that the dilemma is more theoretical than real and that President Johnson will pick his own running mate. But the problem is not so simple.

So far as the friends of Bobby Kennedy are concerned, the fight has hardly begun.

They are very influential inside the party in the big cities of the populous states which have large electoral votes. These individuals are active politicians who worked under Bobby Kennedy when he was running his brother's campaign before and after the convention of 1960. They are persons who feel there is a sentiment for the Kennedy name inside and outside the party which amounts to a real emotion.

IT IS ALL very well to say by way of rebuttal that the present attorney general has antagonized the South politically by his dramatic moves in enforcement of court orders in civil rights cases. But for every electoral vote that could be lost in the South, it is contended that there are far more electoral votes at stake in the North that could be lost if key men and women in the party organizations were disappointed and became apathetic because the attorney general had been turned down.

THERE ARE those, on the other hand, who say that Mr. Johnson had better let well enough alone—that the civil rights controversy may cost him votes in the North and South anyway, and that he shouldn't complicate the situation by making it theoretically possible for Bobby Kennedy to be president some day.

Many politicians in their private analyses of the situation suggest that Mr. Johnson will virtually have to take a computer to figure out what gains and losses are involved in selecting or failing to select Bobby Kennedy for the vice presidential nomination.

In Washington in the last three years many observers have said from time to time that they thought the attorney general was far more conscious of the facts of life and was even more astute in his understanding of public affairs than was his brother in the White House.

The latter relied heavily on the attorney general for advice not merely on legal questions but on national and international policies.

Last Sunday night in an interview broadcast by radio station WBZ in Boston, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy unequivocally set forth his brother's qualifications for the vice presidential nomination. The Massachusetts senator said:

"I would say that the attorney general has built up a significant national following, has established a reputation of his own before even the time he was appointed to the attorney generalship. He'd made, I believe, an outstanding record in the Senate rackets committee.

"I think personally any fair evaluation would suggest that he's done a capable job as attorney general.

"He's been involved in the National Security Council on the crucial questions of Cuba and southeast Asia. He's been involved in foreign policy, and I feel therefore he has considerable following of his own throughout the country.

"But I think when you talk about the question of the vice presidency you have to keep in mind that this decision will be made, as it should be made, by President Johnson."

IF IT WERE NOT for the civil rights controversy, there wouldn't be the slightest hesitancy on the part of some highly placed Democrats in urging President Johnson to choose the attorney general for the vice presidential nomination. The age argument wouldn't be an obstacle, especially since the political strength of the late President Kennedy himself was to no small extent due to the image of youth presented to the young voters of the country, whose number is considerable.

THE RELIGIOUS issue, although not referred to in any public comments about Bobby Kennedy's chances for the vice presidential nomination, is frequently discussed privately by the politicians from the standpoint of advantages and disadvantages.

It is surprising to find, incidentally, in a country devoted to the principles of democracy, such widespread acquiescence in the idea that the selection of a vice president —who is, of course, a possible president—should not be voted on by a free convention of the party, and that the choice should be dictated by the presidential nominee himself after the manner of a party boss.

We would pray to those who are drunk with fame,
Who have drained its cup to the lees,
And to those who are yearning to taste the same,
Yea, even still more to these.
We would shriek from cities and village nooks,
From plains where the wild deer feast,
Oh, don't, don't, DON'T give us any more books,
For a hundred years—at least.

What Is Poverty?

Editor, Tribune: I wonder how many readers read that after the White House revealed that the annual income of $3,000 is the so-called poverty line for families of four, Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York did some investigating and found that in the first three military grades a married man with two children makes less than $3,000 even when the values of food, housing, and other allowances are counted in. Are these 1,082,000 men and their families living in poverty?

The fact that it costs the taxpayers more than $3,000 to train, maintain, etc., each married military man with two children, is of small consequence. If we did not have such unselfish men serving us and our country, perhaps we wouldn't have our precious freedom which would allow such as you and I to voice our opinions.

For every single legitimate case of so-called poverty, wherein, actually, the persons involved are rich beyond measure, in character, morals and family life. . . . . I have over my many years, found two cases of poverty that were self inflicted by wastefulness, drinking, selfishness, vanity, shallowness and a degeneration of morals in general. It would be safe to say that over half of these could not be helped under any legislation.

These piteous peoples are aided ceaselessly by various groups and agencies. And this aid is provided with sympathetic love and compassion. It does not encourage graft, dishonesty and evasion, as federal government aid could and would do. Why not support your Salvation Armies, Goodwill Industries and other private agencies and keep your tax money in your pocket to spend as you will, not as a few representatives in Washington think it should be spent. Poverty requires heart. Poverty does not require bureaucracy.

Predictable Loser

Editor, Tribune: The press reports attributing great presidential popularity to Henry Cabot Lodge would be amusing were they not so ominous. For the New Englander's record and performance has been such that his nomination would demonstrate an unmistakable GOP death wish.

As a U.S. senator prior to his 1952 defeat, Lodge was a domestic liberal and has such brilliant foreign policy ideas as the establishment of an American Foreign Legion. In 1952 he engineered the repudiation of the duly selected GOP national delegation from Texas and, in the process, called the late Robert Taft a "thief." As ambassador to Viet Nam, he has proved himself adept at the overthrow of friendly governments but at little else.

From a practical standpoint, his Vietnamese absence and silence no doubt helps him in the pre-convention scuffle. His 1960 vice-presidential candidacy proved him: (a) an ineffective campaigner, who worked only at 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. schedule; and (b) a presumptuous and inept politician, whose promise of a Negro in the cabinet preempted the prerogative of the presidential nominee and lost Southern votes without gaining minority ones.

Lodge, in short, is a predictable loser who, in losing, will fragment the Republican Party and insure a top-to-bottom debacle for its candidates.

ALLEN SEWELL

Courteous Officers

Editor, Tribune: The other night I was involved in a rear-end collision in Salt Lake City. I wish to publicly commend the attending policemen, Officer Kennersley and his assistant, Officer Webster, for the capable manner in which they handled the situation. Two more courteous, capable and thorough policemen I have never met in my life. During the course of the investigation it was impressed upon me that these men were highly trained and that their work also includes being psychologists and diplomats.

It is my candid opinion that the residents of Salt Lake City can rest assured that they have a very efficient police force if the rest of the policemen are anywhere near the caliber of officers and gentlemen that Officer Kennersley and his assistant showed themselves to be.

Incidentally they didn't overlook the citation I rightfully had coming.

Help Alaskans

Editor, Tribune: In deep concern of the economic problems which the individual citizens of the earthquake-stricken cities in Alaska now face, I'd like to spread the following idea:

Since the federal aid granted Alaska goes only for state usage, I suggest that church members in the 49 states donate funds to their religious denominations. These donations could then be used as the denominations or Alaska ministers see fit to help the individuals in need. With only the federal aid the economy of the state will progress but the individual economy will not directly benefit.

Being in the geographical location Alaska is in, it was economically behind the other 49 states before the earthquake, and now Governor Egan of Alaska has estimated Alaska to be set back 25 years.

Of the two years I spent in Alaska while in the Army I was highly impressed by the unity of the Alaskans and their determination.

We Americans have been asked to donate funds in the past for other countries. Now is an excellent time to help some fellow Americans.

Why No Award?

Editor, Tribune: It came as something of a shock to learn that the annual Dorothy Canfield Fisher Small Library Awards for 1964 distributed $53,500 this month to libraries in 45 states, but had no award in Utah.

Other states that could not qualify: Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Vermont. To quote the gift announcement: "Five states and two U.S. territories (Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands) eliminated themselves because they were not able to meet the criteria set down by the American Library Association, which assists the Book-of-the-Month Club in the making of the awards."

We do not know what libraries must do or be to qualify for the grant of $1,000 or more set up for each state, but to rate with Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana in efforts to maintain libraries is risky. People will get the idea that this is the way we are.

M. N. SMART

Key Word Is 'We'

Editor, Tribune: The title "Fallacious Logic" to Mr. Possey's letter of April 22 is most apt. His three-point essay of misinformation does little to further the cause to which he so energetically applies himself.

The civil rights bill is indeed contrary to our tradition of liberty and freedom. Any time our national government can step through the boundaries of state and local jurisdiction to tell local business who they must hire, feed, lodge, or provide service for, then the government has stepped beyond its constitutional bounds.

There is no argument that a monstrous wrong has been and is being done. It must be corrected; quickly and permanently. Every man in America has the right to the best this country can give him. His most important gift is opportunity. We cannot deny that opportunity. The key word here is "we." Only we can right the wrong and only we can help each other, man to man.

In the meantime, you cannot legislate brotherhood.

Postwar Tragedy: U.S.-French Split

© New York Times Service

WASHINGTON, April 30 — One of the tragedies of the postwar age has been the decline in the relations between the United States and France, and an important cause of that decline has been a widespread misunderstanding in both countries over what produced the conflict in the first place.

Mr. Reston

It is widely assumed, even by many students of foreign affairs, that the conflict began in the autumn of 1958, because General Charles de Gaulle proposed at that time the creation of a U.S.-French-British "directorate" to guide the policies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Alliance.

IT ALSO IS widely assumed that the United States never replied to this proposal, and that this was regarded by De Gaulle as a personal affront and a humiliating rebuke to France, which provoked him to withdraw increasingly from the Western Alliance and adopt an independent policy, often hostile to the United States and the other allies.

Even this week, when De Gaulle withdrew all French naval officers from the NATO command, these two assumptions were being given in the Washington diplomatic corps as the reasons for his action.

But as a matter of fact, both assumptions are wrong.

It is true that the basic conflict started in the series of proposals from De Gaulle to President Dwight D. Eisenhower in a memorandum dated Sept. 17, 1958, but it is not true that the memorandum suggested a U.S. - British-French "directorate" within the NATO Alliance on North Atlantic policies, and it is not true that Mr. Eisenhower did not reply.

WHAT DE GAULLE suggested in the memorandum of Sept. 17, 1958 was not a U.S.-British - French directorate to determine policies for all the allies within the North Atlantic Treaty area, but rather an arrangement whereby the Washington - Paris - London governments would agree on common policies—each having a veto on the others—on what to do in Asia, Africa, and elsewhere outside the North Atlantic area.

More important, the De Gaulle memorandum of 1958 sought a specific agreement that the U.S. should not use atomic weapons anywhere in the world without the agreement of France, that is to say without De Gaulle's agreement.

PRESIDENT de Gaulle agreed that if the U.S., Britain or France, was attacked directly, it could use any weapon in retaliation, but short of that, the U.S. should not use atomic weapons in any other situation unless France and Britain agreed.

This was the "directorate" he wanted.

IT WAS NOTHING less than a proposal for a world strategy, jointly conceived by Washington, Paris and London, in which American atomic power could be used in any situation other than an armed attack on the U.S. only if France and Britain agreed.

De Gaulle concluded his memorandum of 1958 by saying that in the future his cooperation with the North Atlantic Treaty allies would depend upon the fulfillment of his demands that France be given an equal role with the U.S. and Britain on the use of American power in world strategic problems.

In retrospect, it is not difficult to understand De Gaulle's proposal.

Obviously, any use of American atomic power was likely to affect the interests if not the security of France.

BUT ALSO obviously, he was suggesting that the U.S. produce the power, at astronimical cost, and give France and Britain a veto over its use, except in the event of a direct attack on the territory of the U.S.

This clearly was not the kind of proposition Mr. Einsehower could expect the Congress of the U.S. to accept with much enthusiasm.

Nevertheless, Mr. Eisenhower did not, as still widely believed, ignore the De Gaulle, memorandum.

He replied on Oct. 20, 1958. He agreed that the threat of Communist aggression affected not only the U.S. but France, and not only France but the rest of the NATO allies and many other countries.

ACCORDINGLY, he approved the idea of broader consultation among the NATO allies on world problems beyond the NATO area, but insisted that this consultation should not be limited to Paris and London, but must include all members of NATO.

Mr. Eisenhower did not reject the De Gaulle proposals abruptly but suggested a series of consultations by technicians of the U.S., France and Britain, provided it was made clear to the German and Italian governments, among others, that the meetings were designed to explore De Gaulle's suggestions rather than to carry them into effect.

THIS EISENHOWER counter-proposal started a series of talks which went on through the Eisenhower Administration and were picked up by the Kennedy Administration.

They were never able to reconcile the French suggestion of a three-power strategy for the world with the American strategy for wider consultation with other allies in a series of regional alliances, and of course, they were not able to meet De Gaulle's demand for a veto over the use of American atomic power on questions not involving a direct attack on the U.S.

MUCH CAN be said on both sides of this question. The trouble has been that the facts of the controversy have been obscured by official secrecy.

Cyrus Sulzberger of the New York Times tried to straighten out the record last year, but he did so during the strike of the New York newspapers and his excellent reports at that time were not given the attention they deserve.

NOW, HOWEVER, since the misconceptions of the past remain, the facts of the controversy are being made available, and they will be carried in other reports in this space.

Dr. Van Dellen

Yes, Surgeon Can Erase That Tattoo

A Skokie, Ill., reader writes: "My son, a young Navy recruit, has three tattoos on his arms. He regrets having this done and wants them removed. Is this possible and what is the procedure?"

Dr. Van Dellen

This is a familiar story among young men who leave home for a tour of duty in the armed services.

Tattooing has many drawbacks and these boys should know the facts.

In the first place, women object to tattoos. Mother is horrified when her "little boy" returns from his wandering with a ship on his chest or Daisy on his arm.

The situation is even more embarrassing when he marries a Marian or a Pearl.

Tattooing is a mechanical process by which coloring matter is inserted beneath the skin by means of needles and pointed instruments.

MOST TATTOO artists use a reasonable amount of cleanliness and antisepsis. But there is no guarantee this will be done.

Old-timers used to wet the needle with the lips and, if they had syphilis, passed the disease on to the customer.

THE THIRD objection is that it costs much more to get the design taken off than to have it put on. There are various means of eradication but all are expensive.

The skin containing the adornment can be removed surgically or destroyed electrically, chemically, or mechanically.

A small dagger on an arm, for example, is eradicated easily, whereas a ship on the chest is more difficult.

SKIN PLANING, the technique used to eradicate acne scars, is another method. The skin is frozen and the surface is smoothed with an electrically driven steel brush.

Let's Take Tour Of Washington

"The Washington Story" by Joseph Leeming is a pictorial guide to Washington.

It gives the story of the Capitol, White House, Washington Monument and other buildings and places of interest.

The historical churches and national shrines, including Mount Vernon and Arlington National Cemetery, are described. This fully illustrated book is fine for school children, and for everyone who is interested in the Nation's Capital—$1, plus 10 cents for mailing.

Grin and Bear It — By Lichty

"My client had no intention of evading his tax, your Honor! . . . He just didn't want the government to think he was bragging!"

Russell Baker

Can LBJ Keep It Up—Or, How Can WE Stand It?

© New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The great question facing America this spring is not, "How does Lyndon Johnson keep it up?" but, "How long can the rest of us stand it?"

Mr. Baker

The problem is poignantly expressed in a letter from a Washington woman who writes, "All my husband and I can do in the evening nowadays is sit around talking about Lyndon Johnson." Others report similar problems.

SOME PEOPLE are so alarmed about the amount of time the President occupies in their minds that they shut themselves in padded rooms and concentrate on not thinking about Lyndon Johnson.

They usually come out of seclusion screaming for the latest papers to see what he has done between editions.

There is always something. He has stretched a beagle's ears, pioneered a new teleprompter, jollied a king, broken the speed limit, danced the fox trot, inspired the poor, made the trains run, charmed businessmen, showed the rose garden, flown to Chicago, written to Khrushchev, thrown a light switch, granted boons to a 6-year-old, tossed out the first ball, lobbied a senator, greeted the tourists.

FOR THE FIRST time in anyone's memory, we have a President who does everything.

There is something to be said for such a President, but there are also drawbacks. In the past, it was customary for the burdens of the office to wear out our presidents.

Now we have a President who threatens to wear out the country.

The question President Johnson should ask himself is whether it is altogether healthy for everybody to have to think about a President all the time.

A President is admittedly an important man, but when all is said and done, he is still only a President.

RIGHT NOW, for example, it is very hard to get in any concentrated thinking about Khrushchev, De Gaulle, Princess Irene, Elizabeth Taylor, the New York Mets, Sam Huff or Barry Goldwater.

All of these institutions keep appearing at the edge of the news, waiting to be thought about, as they should be thought about in any well-balanced society.

Lyndon Johnson won't give them a chance.

Just as the mind comes to grips with Khrushchev's denunciation of the birthday greeting he received from Mao Tse-tung, Lyndon Johnson commandeers the television screen to announce that he has done a good deed for Cathy May.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON seems bent on retaining every second of public thought that was once spread out through the entire Kennedy family — John and his father, the ambassador; Robert, Teddy, Sargent Shriver, Jacqueline, Ethel, Eunice, Jean, Caroline and John Jr.

It is an incredible task.

No one but Lyndon Johnson could have done it. But can the country take it?

If Mr. Johnson holds the pace, the weaker links in the electorate will surely start screaming for mercy before election day.

TAKE A WEEK at the ranch, Mr. President. Bar the gates. Doze by the pool. Give us all a chance to rediscover Casey Stengel, to ponder the mystery of Harold Stassen and to dream of the glories of Sophia Loren.

Marquis Childs

Wallace Exploits Indiana Discontent

INDIANAPOLIS — Having learned the lesson of overconfidence in Wisconsin, no one from Gov. Matthew Welsh on down will speculate about the size of segregationist George Wallace's vote in next week's primary.

Mr. Childs

Not only were the discontents underestimated but the shrewdness of the Alabama governor's appeal has also been underrated. In the Midwest he never talks about Negroes, except to say he gets along well with them, or about segregation or racial trouble.

His target is the federal government and the evil of its ever-encroaching power.

Wallace denounces the civil rights bill as another and more insidious extension of that power.

"They can order you to hire a red-headed Chinese or a Baptist Japanese," he tells Indiana audiences.

Large sums of money are coming from somewhere—the John Birch Society is apparently one source—to help him reach as many people as possible. The Wallace managers are reported to have committed $50,000 for television time in the last 10 days, including three statewide hookups.

"What he is saying, in effect," Gov. Welsh remarked after one of these telecasts, "is that we in Alabama would secede if we could afford it. But with all that federal aid they get down there they can't afford to."

After a terrible civil war over secession and 100 years of trying to heal the wounds that is what Wallace is preaching—nullification.

He is exploiting all the discontents of a troubled and uncertain time.

The discontents are abundant here where after a long hassle between Welsh, a Democrat, and the Republican Legislature a two per cent sales tax was adopted. It was the only way out if the schools were to be able to expand to take the rising tide of youngsters out of the postwar boom. But organized labor, the core of Democratic strength, is bitterly opposed to the tax which Welsh supported. The unions are having their own integration problems.

Wallace appeals to second and third-generation Poles and Czechs working in the steel plants of Gary in Lake County.

THEY ARE concerned about status and about jobs in an area where the Negro population may be 40 per cent. As everywhere it is housing with proposed anti-discrimination ordinances in several cities that is the root of the discontent.

Heading a slate of delegates pledged to President Johnson, Welsh and the Democratic organization are working to hold down the vote for the Wallace slate. But Welsh cannot succeed himself under Indiana's Constitution, which seems to have been written shortly after the discovery of the wheel, so his hold is limited.

Under the voodoo-doll theory of state governorship the citizenry will stick pins in Welsh to get even for all the discomforts and dislocations of overgrown urbanism.

As for the President, private polls show he would carry the state, which gave Richard Nixon his highest percentage of victory in 1960, by two to one against any Republican if the election were held today.

In 1961 Welsh, working with the Republican Legislature, got through a state civil rights act that in some respects goes beyond the measure now before Congress. Last year it was strengthened with only three dissenting votes. With a strong civil-rights commission it has been widely accepted.

CURRENTLY, and this may be the saddest commentary on the whole business, the seeds of rebellion are being planted.

In 1861 Lincoln resolved not to free the slaves but to save the union from nullification and secession.

Those, it has been said, who do not learn from history are compelled to live it over again.

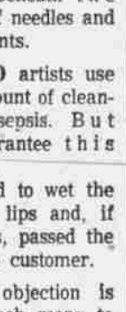
East	South	West	North
3 ♦	4 ♦	Pass	4 ♥
Pass	4 ♠	Pass	5 ♠
Pass	6 ♠	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Six of diamonds.

East did not have it in his mind to make matters easy for his vulnerable opponents in today's hand, so he opened the bidding with a preemptive call of three diamonds.

South had the equivalent of a demand bid and, since he did not require much from partner to produce a slam, he announced his values in the only way possible by making a forcing cue bid in the opponent's suit.



Mr. Goren

When North bid four hearts, South retreated to four spades. Having found a safer haven, North might have been content to drop matters at this point. He paused, however, to reflect on why South had bothered to make a cue bid, when the latter could just as well have overcalled directly with four spades, since that was obviously his intention from the beginning.

North concluded that his partner had a very powerful hand and was interested in reaching a slam.

Inasmuch as South's aggressive sequence of bids had not been based on a solid trump suit, North reasoned that his spade holding as well as the singleton diamond would be unexpected values, and he accordingly raised beyond game to five spades. South cheerfully contracted for slam.

WEST OPENED the six of diamonds and East's queen forced out the ace. Declarer observed that he was off the ace of clubs with the possibility of another loser in that suit. His first objective was to develop the dummy's heart suit for a discard.

The ace of hearts was cashed and then the North hand was entered with a trump in order to ruff a heart.

ANOTHER SPADE lead put the dummy in to trump another heart and, when both opponents followed suit, success was assured. Dummy could be reentered via a diamond ruff to establish the long heart and then another spade lead permits South to discard his ten of clubs on the jack of hearts.

HAD HEARTS not broken so favorably, South would still have had time to make club plays from the dummy in an attempt to find East with an honor in that suit.

Fiscal Adviser Asks 5 City Reforms

Proposals designed to achieve budget economies to assist in financing a proposed salary increase for noncivil service city employes and to "effect a semi-permanent solution" to the revenue deficiency in the general fund were received Thursday by the Salt Lake City Commission.

FRED M. OLIVER, the city's fiscal consultant, submitted five suggestions for achieving operating economies, including a hard look at a physical work program which caused payment of overtime amounting to $157,026 for the 1963 calendar year.

Development of areas of joint cooperation between the city and county governments and revision of at least two "unsound" programs were proposed by Mr. Oliver to help close the revenue gap in the general fund.

EMPHASIZING that it is not his recommendation nor his business to recommend consolidation of city and county government operations, Mr. Oliver cited several areas in which city and county government overlap.

HE PROPOSED elimination of tax inequities, including: double taxation of city residents for "municipal-type services performed by the county in non-incorporated areas (a proposal already approved for consideration); securing reimbursement to the city for use by noncity residents of the city's major park systems; elimination of double charge for county assessment and collection of taxes; elimination of the 2½ per cent collection fee on city sales tax now deducted by the state from sales tax remittances.

ONE OF THE "most urgent and fruitful areas of cooperation" proposed is "development of a common salary and wage policy to eliminate competition for personnel plus constant pressures from employe groups seeking salary levels" adjustments.

This could be started with a joint wage and job classification study, he said.

COMPLETION OF the Metropolitan Hall of Justice, Mr. Oliver continued, will make possible a closer program of cooperation between city police and the county sheriff, including single jail facilities, joint identification records and criminal files, a joint dispatching system, joint training programs, and programs for mutual use or exchange of personnel in traffic control and criminal investigation.

IN THE AREA OF present unsound programming, Mr. Oliver cited the City Cemetery and the police pension fund.

The city, Mr. Oliver said, is selling off cemetery lots to finance its current maintenance expenses.

Nonresident Student Poses Utah Puzzler

College Crowding, Cost Spur Education Study

By William F. Smiley
Tribune Education Editor

Dual pressures of increasing enrollments and limited financial support are causing Utah colleges and universities to study more closely their enrollment of nonresident students.

THE UTAH COORDINATING COUNCIL OF Higher Education has compiled a series of 12 tables intended to be descriptive of the current situation quantitatively.

"This is not a comprehensive study of out-of-state students," said Dr. Arthur D. Browne, council director. "It is not concerned with the merits of a liberal or a restrictive policy."

INSTEAD, HE SAID, IT IS PREPARED MERELY as a source of information to college officials who have an interest in the problem.

The enrollments quoted are the head-count of fall term students in daytime classes only.

IN PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS A NONRESIDENT student is defined as one who has not acquired domicile under provisions of Utah law.

In private schools, where there is no differential fee according to residence, the institutional record of residence is the source.

THE PERCENTAGE OF UTAH college students attending out-of-state institutions has remained fairly stable over the past five years, with 9,393, or 35 per cent in 1958, 14,352 or 35 and three-tenths per cent in 1963.

Of the total undergraduates—16,844 in 1958 and 24,927 five years later—the per cent enrolled in other states has declined slightly from five and nine-tenths per cent in 1958 to five and one-tenth per cent in 1963. In other words, more Utah students are staying in Utah for their college work.

OF THE TOTAL undergraduates in Utah colleges—24,427 in 1958 and 36,551 in 1963—the percentage of nonresidents has inched upward from 35 and one-tenth to 35 and three-tenths per cent. More nonresident students are attending Utah schools.

The study points out:

"THE PROPORTION of nonresident students in public and private schools (of higher education) combined has increased steadily from 34 and two-tenths per cent in 1959 to 37 and eight-tenths per cent in 1963.

"The proportion of out-of-state students in public institutions is approximately one-third as great as that in private institutions."

BRIGHAM YOUNG University, with 66 and four-tenths per cent of its student body listed as nonresident, holds the out-of-state figure high in all but graduate study. The report states:

"The graduate level is the only one among the five class levels (freshman, sophomore, junior, senior and graduate) in which the per cent of out-of-state enrollment to total class enrollment is greater in public than in private institutions."

THE PERCENTAGE of nonresident women enrollees is increasing and for all institutions

Arena Board Picks Slate of 4 Officers

The board of directors which will plan and operate Salt Lake County's 17-million-dollar civic auditorium - sports arena - convention center Thursday elected McCown E. Hunt president and chairman at its first official meeting.

THE BOARD was officially created and activated by an ordinance adopted Wednesday by the Salt Lake County Commission.

Other officers are J. Howard Dunn, vice president and vice chairman; Mrs. J. Arthur Wood, secretary, and James E. Hogle, treasurer.

THE FOUR officers will function as an executive committee. Mrs. Wood is out of the state and, until her return in June, Thayne Acord will serve on the executive committee.

Mr. Hunt was a member of the citizen's advisory committee set up to guide the project when it was initiated. He is a partner in the engineering and architectural firm of Folsom and Hunt.

MR. HUNT SAID the first major function of the board will be to select a site for the auditorium-sports arena-convention center complex.

He explained that the entire board will function as a site selection committee and expressed the hope that a decision could be reached within three weeks.

THE BOARD, he added, immediately would start studying the data and information on proposed sites which was assembled by the citizen's advisory committee and groups and committees which have served in the past in connection with proposed civic auditorium projects.

Electric Meet Told About 'Space Talk'

Locating intelligent inhabitants on other planets is one of the few obstacles to communicating from earth with such planets.

DR. BERNARD M. Oliver, Palo Alto, Calif., speaking to nearly 800 conferees attending the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers' regional meeting at Hotel Utah, said Thursday night he believes such communication is feasible.

Discussing space communications, he said contact with life on other planets or other stars outside the "sun family" is timely because over the last 40 years "our estimates as to density of life in the universe have increased enormously."

"SIMULTANEOUSLY, our ability to signal far out in space and receive signals from far out in space has increased enormously.

"It now appears we have means to signal and receive from distances so great that chances of contacting other intelligent civilizations are quite high."

DR. OLIVER went on to suggest that the cost of such endeavor is small compared with

Dan Valentine

But let a bridegroom try to wear his Uncle Joe's suit at his wedding and he's a bum.

It's the truth. There is great prestige connected with a girl wearing an heirloom gown at her wedding . . but there is no prestige at all connected to a bridegroom if he wears a pair of his cousin's old pants at wedding festivities.

Take the case of pretty Deanna Saville of Salt Lake City. Deanna plans to get married May 20 to Paul Johnson.

Deanna plans to borrow a wedding gown from her cousin, Mrs. Robert Carr Stone, who lives in Lafayette, Ind.

BUT PAUL Johnson, the bridegroom, expects to wear a new suit at the wedding.

See what I mean. . . . Deanna wears a borrowed wedding gown and she's the envy of all. . . . But if poor Paul announced he was going to attend his wedding wearing the suit his great grandfather was married in, there would be protest, indeed.

For the first time in many months the White Pine County Jail in Ely, Nev., is completely empty . . . just thought you'd like to know . . .

JUST RAMBLING: Charles A. Swain, from New Jersey, president of Kiwanis International, will be in Salt Lake City May 12. He has a record of attending Kiwanis luncheons for 26 years without missing one, and I want to meet the man—any man who can survive 26 years of the hard little peas and tough chicken legs served at Kiwanis meetings must be quite a man, indeed. . . .

A recent column was devoted to famous "firsts" in the Intermountain West. But one was missed. Robert Early writes that Idaho had the first woman state treasurer in the entire nation—Mrs. Mrytle Enking of Gooding! . . .

AND I'M GLAD to report that the ancient art of gingerbread man baking is not dead after all. Mrs. Willis A. Phillips, 2709 Adams St., can still whip up a gingerbread man to make the mouths of youngsters water. She's 82, and a great-grandmother—and one of the few gingerbread bakers in the land. . . .

With June coming up, and because it's leap year, bachelors should be very careful to look at their sweetheart's fingers before getting married.

It seems that the fingers can tell quite a bit about a girl.

Check the middle finger: If it's well-rounded, it means she is an optimistic girl and not afraid to take a chance. If the knuckles of the index finger are straight, it means the girl is very intelligent. If the ring finger is extra long, extra straight, and extra slender it means the girl is very artistic and loves music . . . (and it also means the slender ring finger probably will be all rough and stubby after a year of marriage and mopping the floor!) . . .

An ambitious woman can push her husband into making more money that he wouldn't need it he hadn't met her!

TODAY'S VALENTINE

It's a pleasure to give a very extra special Valentine to a lovely lady and a wonderful teacher—Mrs. Linda Hamblin of Kanab, Utah.

Mrs. Hamblin will be retiring as kindergarten teacher at the Kanab Elementary School at the end of the school year. And she will be missed. She's retiring voluntarily, and at 75 she still has a young twinkle in her eye, a spring in her step, and laughter in her disposition.

Her principal, Ernest G. Kirby, says: "She's a wonderful, remarkable woman and teacher, greatly loved by everyone."

Mrs. Hamblin is retiring, but she's just beginning to live. This summer she'll rest and vacation with her children . . . but come next winter she's planning to be off on a trip through the South Pacific.

A wonderful teacher, fine citizen, gracious lady . . . and a Valentine to you, Linda Hamblin.

SAM, THE SAD CYNIC, SAYS:

Utah should have a lieutenant governor position—so people who can't afford the race for governor would have something to run for.

Postal Receipts Dip

Postal receipts at offices in the Salt Lake City delivery zone totaled $711,301 in the 28-day fiscal period ended April 24, a decrease of three-tenths of one per cent from receipts in a comparable period last year, postal officials said.

April's Showers Likely to Slop Over Into May

As if realizing that Thursday was the last day for April showers, Utah weather closed the month in traditional style.

THE FORECAST for Friday in Utah is partly cloudy over most areas, with cloudy skies, showers or thundershowers expected in the northwest. Little change in temperature is expected.

Shifty Load Tips Truck, Blasting Mixture Spills

Special to The Tribune

RIVERTON — A large semi-trailer and tractor overturned near the Jordan River on Utah-111 (12300 South) Thursday and spilled tons of an explosive compound on the side of the road.

SALT LAKE COUNTY firemen stood by for several hours to wash away leaking diesel fuel and prevent it from being soaked up by the spilled ammonium nitrate, which would make a potentially explosive situation.

Trooper Bob Greenhalgh, Utah Highway Patrol, said the westbound truck overturned about 9:30 a.m. as it failed to make a curve at the bottom of a hill at approximately 1100 West.

HE SAID THE driver, John Orson Brown, 46, 428 Wendell Way (3630 South), had just crossed a narrow canal bridge and was shifting down to go up the hill. The load apparently shifted and the truck tipped on its side.

Mr. Brown was not injured, but damage was listed by Trooper Greenhalgh at $5,000.

THE TRUCK WAS owned by the Clark Tank Lines, 1450 N. Beck St., Salt Lake, and was carrying more than 25 tons of ammonium nitrate to Kennecott Copper Corp., to be used in blasting operations, Trooper Greenhalgh said.

The trooper said nitrate, also a fertilizer, is mixed with diesel fuel to be used as an explosive.

Worthwhile Youth Work— 'Demolish Caste System'

Demolishing the "caste system is probably the most urgently needed and potentially the most satisfying activity beckoning to today's young Americans," Dr. Walter Gellhorn, Betts professor of law, Columbia University, said Thursday evening.

APPEARING under the sponsorship of the University of Utah School of Law as the fourth annual guest speaker for the William H. Leary Memorial Lecture, Dr. Gellhorn asked, "When legal processes are blatantly used for the purpose of denying rather than safeguarding the citizen's rights, what persuasive arguments can be made for placing faith in the law instead of in social warfare?"

HE WAS appearing at the Pioneer Memorial Theater in a discussion of "A Decade of Desegregation—Retrospect and Prospect."

"ALMOST DAILY reports of massive demonstrations against segregation and of fulminating responses by persons who, like Gov. Wallace of Alabama, seem not to be up-to-date in their reading of Constitutional Law, create the impression that the speed of progress has not been merely deliberate, but absolutely glacial," Dr. Gellhorn said.

Uranium Mining Produces First Disease-Death Claim

The State Industrial Commission's first death benefit claim based on an occupational disease allegation in connection with uranium mining in Utah has been filed.

INDUSTRIAL Commission Chairman Otto A. Wiesley said the claim will go before the state occupational disease medical panel.

The miner, Douglas G. Garner, 47, Moab, worked at a Hecla Mining Co. uranium mine in the Big Indian District near Moab prior to his death Sept. 15, 1963, the commission chairman said.

DEATH BENEFIT claims have been filed on behalf of his widow, Eola M. Garner, and the couple's minor children.

The surviyors could receive a maximum of $13,000 in benefits if the claim is awarded, the commission chairman said.

SINCE THIS is the first case of its kind ever filed with Utah's industrial commission, it represents a precedent-setting action.

The claim alleges that Mr. Garner died from cancer of the lungs caused by exposure to radioactive material.

"TO BEGIN with," Mr. Wiesley explained, "we'll have to establish that the kind of radioactivity claimed responsible does cause cancer of the lungs.

"Then," he added, "the panel will have to satisfy itself that the particular cancer involved resulted from exposure."

NEITHER THE commission nor its occupational disease medical panel has ever tackled these questions, Mr. Wiesley said.

Hecla, it was explained, is a self-insurer. It is not insured for occupational disease claims through the State Insurance Fund.

DAVID C. THOMAS, state insurance fund manager, said Thursday "most uranium mining operations in Utah have insured through the state fund, but absolutely no death benefit claims have ever been filed with us in connection with uranium mining."

Mr. Wiesley said: "The very absence of any such claims convinces us we've done a good job at keeping radioactivity dangers in Utah mines down."

Thieves Grab TVs

A pair of television sets valued at $253 were taken by burglars who broke glass in the front door to gain entry to Clark Co., 55 W. Post Office Pl. (340 South), police reported Thursday.

1, 2, 3 Kick—It's Llama 'Tangle'

The call came to police headquarters: "It kicked me and knocked me down. It looks like a camel. It's in a gas station at 21st South and 23rd East."

She'll Be 'Sweet 16'

Liger's Going to Give a Party

Sweet 16 and never been kissed.

You're not a lion, tiger, when you say that about Shasta, the world's only liger.

But the mere fact she's never been kissed doesn't keep the Hogle Zoo's world-famous cat from being able to throw a whale of a party.

Shasta

So that's exactly what she's planning . . . the spring season's biggest outing.

The Salt Lake Tribune, Hogle Zoo and about 9,000 of Shasta's young friends are all pitching in to make her 16th birthday her best and biggest yet.

The big day is Saturday at Shasta's canyon villa—the Hogle Zoo.

Guests are scheduled to start arriving at 10 a.m. with the pace through the gates quickening as the day grows.

ADMISSION IS FREE for all Shasta's friends, providing they bring an original, hand-drawn birthday card for the big cat. That is the case for youngsters 13 years old and younger. For the cat's older friends, regular admission prices will be charged.

The Tribune will have a large array of prizes to give to the boys and girls with the best cards.

Boy's and girl's bicycles will be two top awards.

JUDGING FOR THE cards will end at 4 p.m., so youngsters should plan on getting to the zoo before then with cards. A prize will also go to the school class which draws the best card.

Coins Not as They Seem? You Can Just Bank on It

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Harry Gill Jr., 13, Houston, Tex., for his question:

What do they use to make money?

You would expect a copper penny to be made from copper, but this is not quite true. You be sure that a nickel five-cent piece is made from nickel. But this is far from true. There is more copper in a nickel than there is in a penny. Even silver dollars are not all silver.

The manufacture of coins and paper money is the job of the United States government, and no one may start up this kind of money-making business for himself.

THE GOVERNMENT makes no secret of some of its money-making recipes, but the law is ready to pounce upon any private citizen who tries these recipes for himself.

Other recipes are kept strictly secret and known only to official Treasury agents.

OUR COINS are made from metal alloys. These mixtures of metals have proved sturdy and well able to withstand the strains put upon them by shoppers and savers, by lavish spenders and piggy banks.

The alloy used for making pennies is 95 per cent copper, plus a 5 per cent mixture of tin and zinc.

The alloy for making shiny nickels is only 25 per cent nickel, and the rest is copper.

Copper is a very soft and fragile metal, so coins of pure copper would break up faster than we could spend them.

When silver and copper are melted together they form an alloy which is 10 per cent copper and 90 per cent silver.

THERE IS NO secret about the metals our government uses to mint coins. But when it comes to the materials for making paper money, we are met with secrecy on all sides.

DID YOU MISS OUT ON THIS ONE?

WE SOLD OUR FIRST SHIPMENT SO FAST that a lot of customers did not get theirs. WE RECEIVED ANOTHER SHIPMENT SO HURRY ON DOWN . . . this machine adds, subtracts and multiplies and it does all that electrically. . . .

"I ALSO SUGGEST that such successful communication would have an impact as profound on our new world culture as did the voyage of Columbus credited with discovery of America," Dr. Oliver declared.

Prior to the banquet Dr. Daniel E. Noble, Phoenix, and Dr. Oliver engaged in a brief discussion on interplanetary communication and travel.

"CHANCES OF a vehicle from the nearest star or planet outside the solar system even finding the earth are very remote," Dr. Noble said. "Travel time from the nearest star from which a physical contact would likely to be made is about 10 light years." (A light year is about six trillion miles.)

Dr. Noble will be featured speaker Friday noon at a luncheon meeting. His topic is "Industry and the Changing World of Electronics."

OBED C. HAYCOCK, professor of electrical engineering and director of the upper air research laboratory at University of Utah, was presented with the grade of "fellow" in the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers.

Carriers Give 'Bond' Data

Carriers of The Salt Lake Tribune Friday delivered a printed flyer to their subscribers explaining the U.S. Savings Bond program.

TITLED "RX for Security," the flyer explains the Series E interest yield rate and ways in which the bonds may be purchased.

This is the 10th year that The Tribune carriers have volunteered to distribute a savings bond message to their subscribers.

ANOTHER EVENT marking the 23rd anniversary of the savings bond program will be the first day of distribution by banks of a new $75 Series E bond bearing the portrait of the late John F. Kennedy.

The Salt Lake Kiwanis Club will present $1 savings stamps albums to about 40 new citizens to be sworn in as a climax to naturalization at 10:30 a.m. in a ceremony at the State Capitol rotunda.

CLEM S. SCHRAMM, state savings bonds director, urged school children to work toward completion of savings stamps albums to exchange them for bonds and qualify for Space Minuteman citations from the U.S. Treasury Department.

Utah Law Day Appeal—Observe Golden Rule

Special to The Tribune

HILL AIR FORCE BASE—F. Henri Henriod, chief justice of the Utah Supreme Court, keynoted a Law Day luncheon at the Hill AFB Officers Club Thursday with an appeal to understand the real meaning of American law by observing the one fundamental law—the Golden Rule.

JUSTICE Henriod addressed a group of Davis and Weber county law enforcement officers, mayors and Air Force officials.

Lt. Col Thomas H. Barksdale, judge advocate for the Ogden Air Materiel Area, presided during the luncheon.

THREE AWARD presentations highlighted the luncheon program. Leonard Blaylock, special agent in charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Salt Lake City, received the bronze Americanism plaque from Roland Anderson, president of the Weber County Bar Assn. The award is sponsored by the American Bar Assn.

Honored for winning the Ogden ABA-sponsored American Freedoms essay contest were 10-year-old Mike Bradshaw, son of S.Sgt. and Mrs. M. L. Bradshaw, Sunset, and James Maybury, Washington Terrace, an employe in the Bomarc Division at the base and a naturalized citizen.

Risk of War 'Needed to Keep Peace'

"We must be prepared to risk World War III to prevent it. We cannot be a peace-at-any-cost country. Although another major war is unlikely, there will be no peace in our time, for we constantly will be faced with crises."

WITH THESE words Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, summed up an address on "Where Do We Go From Here," delivered Thursday at the Brigham Young Univeristy Forum in Salt Lake City.

HE SAID WE have been engaging in economic and political world conflict with Russia since World War II.

"Militarily, we have two big advantages over the Russians. Our industrial power, which is the foundation for our military power, is ahead of theirs. Also we have the world's greatest naval power, although Russia still maintains the world's largest submarine fleet. However, we have more nuclear submarines than they, submarines which can launch missiles with nuclear warheads.

"NUCLEAR submarines pose a threat because they can stay under water indefinitely and can't be detected by radar.

"We are ahead of the Russians technologically, but Russia will solve her technological problems eventually. Russia has a larger land force; she has 150 divisions while we have 16. She has 650 divisions including Red China, but England and France add to our force," he said.

HE ALSO POINTED out the advantages given by the Polaris submarine fleet.

Chief to Visit Rail Union

Charles Luna, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, will be featured speaker at the 28th annual Idaho-Utah meeting of the brotherhood and ladies auxiliary Saturday in the Newhouse Hotel.

Mr. Luna

Other special guests will be Mrs. Nettie E. Conway, Winslow, Ariz., vice president of District 8; John H. Shepherd, vice president, Denver; R. E. Carroll, general chairman, Denver, and Harold Wright, general chairman, Pocatello.

MR. LUNA, WHO will arrive in Salt Lake City Friday at 5:35 p.m., will address the banquet meeting Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Bonneville Room, Newhouse Hotel.

General chairman of the meeting is George W. Black, Salt Lake City.

WWI Vets' Officer Readies Utah Convention Speech

"Some people are character assassins. They throw cold water on everything.

"THESE PEOPLE never say anything at a meeting, but they go home and write poison pen letters criticizing every officer who doesn't think as they do about how the organization should be run."

Harlan W. Barnes, past national commander, Veterans of World War I, thus gave a hint of his speech, "Character Assassins," to be given Friday and Saturday in the Newhouse Hotel at the organization's Utah convention.

MR. BARNES, of Portland, Ore., has been in veterans' affairs since 1919.

"The purpose of the organization is to take care of the needy through legislation," he said.

Utah Camp Calls 100 Girl Scouts

Senior Girl Scouts from Utah and eastern Nevada will pitch tents at Camp Red Cliffe in Ogden Canyon Friday for an outing through Sunday.

CAROL WILDEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel G. Wildey, 3191 Metropolitan Way (2930 South), chairman of the arrangements committee, said more than 100 Scouts are expected to gather to review camping skills to help them qualify for a Yellowstone National Park camping trip June 29 to July 3.

REGISTRATION will open at 5:30 p.m. Activities planned include compass work, lashing, wide games and outdoor cooking.

Utah Ponders Sharp Rise in Nonresident Students

combined is up from 39 and one-tenth per cent in 1961 to 41 and three-tenths per cent in 1963.

"With rare exception," the report says, "students from all 50 states and from the District of Columbia are enrolled each year in public and private higher institutions in Utah. Two-thirds of the enrollees from states other than Utah come from six western states.

"THE NUMBER of students from foreign countries who enrolled in Utah higher education institutions increased from 1,043 in 1960 to 1,373 in 1963."

In 1959, four per cent, or 24 of the total enrollment of 604 students at Salt Lake Trade Technical Institute were from out-of-state. In 1963 the nonresidents accounted for 11 and five-tenths per cent of the student body—90 out of 786.

SIMILARLY, for Utah Trade Technical Institute at Provo, the 16 nonresidents of 418 enrolled in 1959 made up three and eight-tenths per cent of the total, while in 1963 the 38 out of a student body of 626 made up six and one-tenth per cent of the total.

Report Break-in

Employes of Stadium Gardens, 1320 E. 5th South, reported a rear door in the business was broken and someone entered the store. Nothing appeared to have been disturbed in the business, police said Thursday.

Auto Crashes Claim 2 in S. Utah, S.L.

A Salt Lake City woman Thursday became the second fatality victim of a previous car-pedestrian accident, and a Navajo Indian became San Juan County's second vehicle fatality of the year.

Special to The Tribune

LA SAL, San Juan County—A Navajo Indian was killed late Wednesday night near here when he was pinned in flaming automobile wreckage. A passenger was injured when thrown out of the car.

KILLED WAS Harry A. Lee, in his 20s, employed at a La Sal Creek uranium mine. Rescuers were unable to pull him out of the burning car after it plunged off a 15-foot embankment and overturned.

Joe Ray Harvey, 18, another Indian mine employe, suffered a broken hip. He was taken to Monticello Hospital. Authorities said he will be transferred to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital, Shiprock, N.M.

UTAH HIGHWAY Patrol Trooper Robert R. Low said Harvey was thrown from the vehicle after it veered off a county road intersecting State Highway 46, two miles west of La Sal, about 11:30 p.m.

A Saturday evening car-pedestrian accident claimed its second victim Thursday with the death in a Salt Lake hospital at 4:10 a.m. of Juanita Kreshaff, 28, 401 Center St. (201 North).

MISS KRESHAFF was injured Saturday about 9:40 p.m. as she and three companions crossed 2nd South at about 425 East on their way to a dance at the University West Stake Center, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

All four were struck by an eastbound car driven by Robert Baskin, 37, 661-3rd Ave.

KERMA JOHNSON, 26, 167 3rd Ave., died about five hours after the accident in another Salt Lake hospital. She suffered head injuries.

Marjean Gibson, 26, 605 S. Main, Bountiful, and Shirley Aland, 25, 330 A St., also were injured.

MISS KRESHAFF had been reported in fair condition during the week, but took a sudden turn for the worse late Wednesday and early Thursday, hospital attendants reported.

$40 Engine Stolen

Award to Honor Social Welfare Aide

Hugo B. Anderson, 1640 Yale Ave. (1075 South), was designated Thursday to receive the second annual award in recognition of "some 48 years in community organization activities at the local, state and national levels."

DR. LAWRENCE D. Schroder, award will be presented Monday council president, said the at the council's annual meeting at Hotel Utah.

"Mr. Anderson is distinguished for his long, continuous and outstanding services in social welfare planning,' Dr. Schroder said.

A FORMER JUDGE in Utah's Decond District Juvenile Court, member of Utah State Bar, American Bar Assn. and practicing attorney, Mr. Anderson is widely known for coordination of health and welfare services in Salt Lake County and Utah.

HE IS chairman of the Community Services Council's Day Care Services Committee. He is also past president and legal adviser to Salt Lake Area United Fund (which he helped organize in 1955) and was executive secretary for 29 years of Community Chest, predecessor of United Fund.

Mr. Anderson also helped draft Utah's first children's code in 1933. The code became part of the Compiled Laws of Utah.

HE SERVED 12 years on the board of directors of Utah State Industrial School and helped draft the law for organization and regulation of the first Utah Department of Public Welfare in 1935.

From 1921 to 1925 he was executive secretary of the State Welfare Department and in 1940 became chairman of the first Merit Council of the State Welfare Department.

Hugo B. Anderson . . . Cited for social welfare planning.

Cleaners President

New president of the Salt Lake City Cleaning and Laundry Assn. is Ann Showalter, 1597 - 11th East, succeeding Frank Childs, 2921 E. 33rd South. Elected vice president was Lon D. Meservy, 461 W. 5th South, Bountiful. Gus Bueter, 140 N. 2nd West, was named secretary.

New Athena Try On Tap May 14

By Associated Press

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M., — The second Athena test missile has been scheduled for May 14 from Green River, Utah, a White Sands spokesman said Thursday.

THE FIRST shot in the 78-shot test series went astray and crashed near Ignacio, Colo., Feb. 10. The Air Force said an electrical short circuit in a junction box may have caused the failure.

The Athena program will run about 18 months and is to gather reentry phenomena data to aid in the development of advanced reentry systems.

U. Names Pres. Brown as Baccalaureate Speaker

Selection of Hugh B. Brown as baccalaureate speaker for the University of Utah June 7 at 7 p.m. in the Stadium Bowl was announced Thursday by Dr. A. Ray Olpin, U. of U. president.

Hugh B. Brown . . . To speak at U. of U. baccalaureate.

THE SPEAKER is first counselor in the First Presidency, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Commencement exercises, without a speaker, will be June 8 at 6 p.m., also in the Stadium Bowl.

OTHER commencement activities include a Senior Supper Dance sponsored by the alumni on June 6 and a senior luncheon June 8.

President Brown was educated in Salt Lake City schools and studied law in Alberta, Canada. He served in World War I in the Canadian army, retiring with the rank of major.

FORMER professor of religion and coordinator of veterans affairs at Brigham Young University, Provo, he also practiced law in Alberta from 1921 to 1927 and in Salt Lake City from 1927 to 1953.

He was general manager of Richland Oil Development Co. of Canada, Ltd., from 1950 to 1953.

HE AUTHORED "Rational Faith" in 1949 and "Eternal Quest" in 1956.

As a church man, he was president of the British LDS Mission from 1937 to 1940 and again from 1944 to 1946. From 1953 until 1958 he was assistant to the Council of Twelve Apostles of the LDS Church, and became a member of the Council of Twelve in 1958.

HE WAS second counselor in the First Presidency from 1961 until his appointment as first counselor in 1963.

Joins National Board

Mrs. G. Kenneth Handley, 1427 Military Wy. (100 North), has been elected to a four-year term on the National Travelers Aid Assn. board of directors.

For Oddities, The 'Rhino' Draws Prize

African natives have always been slightly awed by some of the "crazy" things white men are capable of doing. But Hollywood's latest visit to Africa was just about the limit in oddity.

A location company, including stars Harry Guardino, Robert Culp and Shirley Eaton, was sent to Zululand for filming of "Rhino," which is going to be shown at the Capitol Theatre.

Domestic Leopard

The story concerns the capture and handling of some of the fiercest beasts in the world through the use of tranquilizer drugs. And the Zulu trackers could hardly believe their eyes.

Here are some of the authentic sequences filmed:

A leopard was given a "taming drug" and behaved so much like a domestic cat that Culp was able to carry it in his arms. It even downed a soft drink.

Donkey Zebra

A lion was tranquilized in the bush so that Culp could open its jaws and pretend to perform a minor operation on its teeth. It made some frightening noises but didn't bite.

A zebra, one of the fleetest creatures in Africa, was given a drug that made it act like a donkey. It was led around on a rein moments after it had been caught in the wild. And a zebra is not an animal to be trifled with. One bite of its steel-trap jaws can take a man's hand off.

A huge buffalo, one of Africa's most ferocious animals, was drugged and a small transmitter attached to its horns so it could be tracked by radio once it was released.

Burnett Musical May 'Fade In' Yet

NEW YORK — Carol Burnett's musical, "Fade In — Fade Out," is trouble out of town. The cliche report is, "It needs a lot of work." But every song-and-dancer that has opened on Broadway this year has been through that phase, and Carol's vehicle has the kind of advance ticket sale that should insure victory no matter what the critics say.

Miss Kilgallen

Scores of local musicians who were assured jobs at the World's Fair are in a state of panic because the clubs, theatres and lounges that were to employ them aren't ready for action. Most of the sidemen turned down their usual summer spots in favor of fair gigs which haven't materialized.

No Marriage Rift

Gina Lollobrigida, who spends almost as much time denying marital rift rumors as she does making movies, is busy telling everyone that she is not having any trouble with her husband, Dr. Milko Skofic. But they will be separated for a long time by her flicker career.

After she finishes "Strange Bedfellows" at Universal in Hollywood, she has assignments in Spain and in Hong Kong.

Mel Torme and his wife, Arlene, have reconciled — although the problems reached the divorce lawyer stage.

Movie producer Sam Spiegel made the entrance of the week at El Morocco. He had a Kessler twin—such beauties! — on each arm.

Robert Cummings is flying in for the 'What a Way to Go!" premiere at the World's Fair in a specially painted pink Piper Cub. (What a way to arrive!).

Gordon Muscles Into Goliath Role

Gordon Scott, famed muscleman of a multitude of screen exploits, again shows his prowess in "Goliath and the Vampires," including a battle with a madman monster. He also tangles with magic powers of Vampire in film coming to Lyric, Highland, Redwood.

Chorus Readying Spring Concert Tonight in S.L.

The Scandia Male Chorus will be heard in its yearly spring concert Friday at 8 p.m. at the University Ward, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 160 University Street.

GORDON HOMER will direct the chorus, and baritone R. Hulbert Keddington will appear as soloist.

Family Hour Dance Show Saturday at U.

A Family Hour dance exhibition will be staged Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the University of Utah Student Union.

Sponsored by the Contemporary Dance Council; Virginia Tanner, director of the Children's Dance Theater, and the university's Division of Continuing Education, the presentation will include children's art exhibits prepared by James L. Haseltine, Salt Lake Art Center director, and Anne Cannon. The program will stress correlation between art and the dance.

Choir Sings Tonight

The annual concert of the Salt Lake Philharmonic Choir will be presented Friday at 8:15 p.m. at Highland High School auditorium. The 130-voice chorus will be directed by Armont Willardsen.

Y. Collegians To Unveil 'Old' Flicker

"Aha! I'll work my way through college," thinks Jay Baumgardner, star of the Brigham Young University silent movie "Thurber the Custodian."

Thurber arrives at BYU and finds employment at ten cents an hour as a custodian for the Physical Plant and sets up a cozy home in the steam tunnels. Up pops romance and the plot thickens in the flicker done in old-time speeded action with subtitles.

World Premiere

The world premiere of the movie, featuring the stars attired in gay twenties costumes arriving in a cavalcade of antique cars amid the glow of searchlights, will take place Friday at 8:30 p.m. in George Albert Smith Fieldhouse.

Conflict between duty and romance leads to numerous predicaments during the 45-minute production directed by Wally Broberg, who also helped write, edit and film the movie.

Ticklish Situation

Others in the cast appearing as "guest villains" are LaVar Rockwood, student coordinator as the head custodian; J. Elliot Cameron, dean of students, and Ben Lewis, vice president.

Crowd Applauds 'Alladin' Drama

About 400 people attended Thursday night's performance of the Young People's Theater production of "Alladin," in Pioneer Memorial Theater.

There are limited tickets still available for five more performances of the production, Friday at 4:15 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.; and Saturday at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 4:15 p.m.

Grace Coppin McGrath wrote the script for the production which is directed by her husband, Byron McGrath. The story is "one little chapter" from the "1001 Nights." It depicts Alladin, the magic lamp and the Genie which appears out of the lamp.

A PROCLAMATION

By the President of the United States of America

WHEREAS the number of Americans aged sixty-five and over comprise a segment of our population which is growing at an accelerating rate as the miracles of modern medicine contribute to increased life expectancy; and

WHEREAS, since not everyone is blessed with the gift of long life, those who are so endowed should occupy a place of special honor among us; and

WHEREAS our country, although more blessed with abundance than any other, cannot afford to be wasteful of its resources if it is to achieve its fullest potential; and

WHEREAS the Federal Government is deeply and constantly concerned with the well-being of all its citizens; and

WHEREAS this Nation can and should offer leadership and assistance to the States, municipalities, and voluntary organizations in their efforts to extend special recognition to and make continuing maximum use of the skills of our senior citizens:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the month of May 1964 as Senior Citizens Month, and I urge all public and private organizations and all citizens to make the theme of this special month—Opportunities for Older Americans—become a living reality. Let us repay our older Americans for their sustained creative participation in our national and community life by providing them with a wide range of meaningful opportunities. Let us take all necessary steps to see that they have a real chance to enjoy health, love, and a life of dignity. Let us find ways to employ the skill and wisdom that so many of our older Americans possess and long to share. Let us make this month outstanding in our continuing effort to keep in the mainstream of our national life all those who have lived so long and contributed so generously.

I also invite the Governors of the States, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and appropriate officials in other areas subject to the jurisdiction of the United States to join in the observance of Senior Citizens Month.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this twenty-sixth day of March in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-eighth.

Lyndon B. Johnson

TV Channels: Cut Stars' Pay? Other Throats Also in Way

By Richard O. Martin
Tribune Staff Writer

Consider the plight of the poor television star: they're trying to cut his salary!

Mr. Martin

Most of us wouldn't know what to do with the surplus if our weekly salaries ran to four figures. But some of the higher - salaried topliners in Hollywood are being threatened with pay CUTS which could amount to as much as $5,000 a week.

There was a time when the biggest stars in the business could be fairly assured of receiving as much as $10,000 for a major guest star appearance — a week's work.

But talent fees have been reduced until $7,500 is pretty much a standard rate and several producers are trying to lower the stars' weekly pay to a flat $5,000 per.

A recent statement by Richard Wookey, who heads the casting for NBC-TV in Hollywood, that stars are "grossly overpaid" bids fair to boil interesting controversy.

"WHAT I HAVE to say is based on previous years of experience," Wookey declares. "I do strongly feel that the tops of these shows have been abused. I think it was the industry's own fault in the first instance we allowed it to happen."

Blaming a good portion of the problem on agents, who receive 10 per cent of their clients' salaries, Wookey says:

"I think the major fault lies with the agents who have misguided their performers to a point where they've given them delusions of grandeur. It's hard for the actor's ego to pull back on that. I've been an actor, I've been an agent and a casting director.

"I THINK definitely that tops will be imposed on the major burden of the television filmed shows," Wookey says, "and actors will either have to subscribe to it or find their work in some other area. They're certainly not going to get it on stage."

However, since there are always more than one side to any question, the highly successful Four Star Television producer Aaron Spelling takes umbrage at Wookey's statements.

HE WENT OUT of his way to tell a trade publication that he is in complete disagreement with Wookey's views.

"Everybody's salaries are up but the actors'," he is quoted. "Writers, directors, others, have no ceilings. What is Wookey casting that he has this archaic viewpoint toward stars?

"WE SPENT $10,000 for stars on the half-hour Dick Powell-Zane Grey series and that kept the standard up. I can't imagine a position such as Wookey's. The moment a show gets into trouble everybody tries to get stars.

"Yet the very people who made the TV medium are the ones they take advantage of. I'd like to see Wookey sell an anthology series without stars. What is he casting?"

SPELLING GOES on to say: "Everybody says cut the salaries but get us stars. If I have another anthology, we will have a $10,000 top for stars. They sell the show."

FRIDAY'S TV: An animated version of George Orwell's anti-authoritarian satire, "Animal Farm," will be aired Friday

The feature, which reveals some basic problems in human makeup and the nature of certain political systems, will be introduced by Dr. Harold Folland, head of the University of Utah English Department. The program will be in color.

GROUCHO MARX and his wife, Eden, will star in their first television dramatic appearance together Friday on Bob Hope Presents (Ch. 2, 7:30 p.m.).

They will costar in "Time for Elizabeth," a stage comedy which Groucho wrote in collaboration in 1948, which has been adapted for television production.

Six to Undergo Tribune Quiz

Six students from St. Mary of the Wasatch and about 50 questions on current news events will share the spotlight Saturday during the Inquiring Editor program.

THE Inquiring Editor, a public service program of The Salt Lake Tribune and KUTV, will be telecast Saturday at 5 p.m. over KUTV, Channel 2.

The girls will be divided into seniors and juniors as they compete for gold plaques given weekly to the team which wins in the contest.

Another Beaver Weaver Strangles Bees, 7-0

Salt Lake Tribune Sports

NEWS ITEM: Baseball fans are complaining across the country over the "new breed" of spectators, who bring their transistors to the park and tune in to the broadcast of the game they are watching, to the discomfiture of the veteran fans.

In recent year, we have spotted any number of radios in Derks Field, and if the fans enjoy the explanation of the game as aired by the dulcet tones of Augie Navarro, far be it from us to say "shame."

OF COURSE, IF sufficient fans raise objections, the Bees could set aside a "radios-only" section in the stands, like the "no smoking" areas.

No longer can some people watch an athletic event and figure out what's going on by themselves—they must be told. Eventually, a new ball park will be built with each spectator entitled to look through a 21-inch square before his seat, with a broadcast piped to each section of the stands.

This might be the answer to bigger baseball crowds, especially in the minors.

BUT WE DON'T go along with the suggestion that pops up now and then, that the public address announcer give introductory spiels about each hitter as he comes to the plate, as radio announcers do.

Imagine the P.A. announcer, Leo Pignanelli, saying:

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen and welcome to Derks Field. The first batter for Portland is Chico Salmon, pronounced SAL-MOAN.

"Chico bats and throws right. He batted .325 for Denver in the PCL last year. He stands 5-10 and weighs 160 pounds and likes his breakfast of crunchies. He was born in Colon, Panama, and resides in Knoxville, Tenn. He currently is batting at a .317 clip, with eight runs, 20 total bases, two doubles, one triple, one homer and three runs batted in. . . ."

"Let's correct that batting total for Salmon now. That was his third double, and it was the 14th double given up by Salt Lake pitchers this season, the fourth given up in the first inning and the second given up in the first inning on Thursday night."

And, Now a Word From Our Sponsors

From giving the biographical sketches of each player, each time he came to the plate, it would be just a matter of time before the public address announcer expanded his part to reading even more commercials between the innings.

As Portland's Tommy Agee grounded into a double play to end the inning, Pignanelli could intone:

"The first half of the first inning was brought to you by your cooperative loan company, where our motto is, 'If you want to be in the swim, float a loan from us and we'll keep you company.

"And, now for the bottom of the first inning, which will be brought to you by your neighborhood grocery, where you never sausage (ho-ho) bargains in meats. . . . And now here comes good old Jesse White to bat for the Bees and get something started (we hope, we hope) . . ."

As the inning ends, Pignanelli resumes, "All of us from your friendly neighborhood grocery, especially those fine lads in the meat department, wish to say 'franks' for listening and good luck, Bees."

To keep in the spirit of the game, in the event the between-inning commercial over-lapped and the players were ready to resume, a banner could be unfurled over the mound to read "More to follow."

When Silence Is Golden

The baseball park is unique in everyday life. It is one of the rare places where a man or woman can relax, munch a hot dog or peanuts, enjoy a cooling beverage, and forget the cares of the world, while concentrating upon the National Pastime.

Let's keep it that way.

For those fans who must listen to a running commentary to enjoy a ball game, happy listening on their transistors.

But to those hundreds of thousands who want to enjoy baseball, let's protect the privacy of the sport by guarding against the commercials.

THE TV SPORTS have become cluttered up to the extent a watcher sees more people shaving than getting base hits, more gals ironing, doing the family wash or applying wave set than runners running, and more happy kids gulping cereals that pop and snap than fielders fielding.

Already the TV people have suggested changes in the spectator sports to get them in line with the video policies.

The next step could be innnig-by-inning sponsorships of the ball game, as the club owners without TV contracts attempt to cash in at the advertising agency windows.

Observation Ward

Billy Ott, currently leading Pacific Coast League batters with a .400-plus batting average, gets assistance from outfield teammate Jesse White, right, in polishing up the reliable Ott bat. White also is threatening to top the .400 percentage.

Buzzers 'Cousins' To Portland Pair

By John Mooney
Tribune Sports Editor

There may be doubts in the minds of some whether the Salt Lake Bees are being beaten by the Beavers or the Weavers of Portland in the current stand at Derks Field.

The matter isn't one of relativity, because the Portland two pitchers have only one related thing in common: Both list the Bees as cousins.

IT WAS FLOYD, a former Bee, who scattered six singles Thursday in notching the first Pacific Coast League shutout in his career in a 7-0 victory over the Bees.

His pitching stint followed on the heels of Jim Weaver's seven hit mound rationing Wednesday.

Weaver — Floyd — had all the batting support he needed from Tony Curry, whose "four for five" Thursday and "seven for nine" in the three game series paced the 14 hit Beaver attack on three Bee hurlers.

The final game of the series and the last appearance of the Bees in the current home stand, is on the docket Friday at 7:30 p.m.

It will be the first Kiwanis Knothole night of the season, and the University of Utah and Weber College nines will play a preliminary game starting at 5 p.m. — weather permitting.

The Beavers wasted little time in taking the 2-1 edge in their current series at Derks. They jumped up on starter Cal Koonce for four hits, including Curry's double for two runs. And while the Beavers continued the offense, the Weavers handled the defense in excellent fashion.

WEAVER WALKED only two and struck out five, and was in trouble only in the third inning, when the Bees loaded the bases with only one out.

But the eager Beavers saved the eager Weaver by pulling out the only double play of the ball game to get him off the hook.

After that he didn't give up more than one hit an inning.

The bees' normally reliable defense kicked in five errors that allowed three unearned runs to score and make Weaver's task an easy one.

BEE BUZZINGS . . . For the final Friday the Bees will pitch either Paul Jaeckel (3-0), or Jim Schandevel (1-1), depending upon whether Jaeckel's leg injury responds to treatment. Portland will pitch Louis Tiant, who has picked up two victorys in relief . . . Sam McDowell, another former Bee whose rotation would have pitched him in this series was sent on home to Portland to pitch the opener Saturday against Denver . . . Curry, who is known as a streak hitter, was all of that in the first three games of this series.

In nine times at bat he had one homer, three doubles and three singles and five runs batted in.

Salt Lake Bee Slugger Sets Coast Loop Pace

BILLY OTT, the handsome outfielder for the Salt Lake Bees is off to his best early season batting surge, and he's leading the Pacific Coast League with an average well above .400.

Ott, a regular outfielder with the Bees last season, has been the brightest spot in the Bee attack this year and one of the reasons Salt Lake has been a divisional contender all season.

OTT ISN'T a one-man show, though. Jesse White, the happy little outfielder, is pressing the magic .400 mark. Shortstop Glenn Beckert also is hitting much better than his limited experience in higher classification baseball would indicate.

Don Davis and Bob Will, with less times at bat, also have high batting averages.

Mgr. Vedie Himsl is happy to see those bats hits spread among his line up.

"When you get several players hitting, it carries the rest of the lineup along, and some of the boys who are slow getting started will be able to pick up and join the hit parade," he comments.

"YOU KNOW that it's a baseball rarity for a player to go through the long season without tapering off or getting in a slump. But this appears to be the type of ball club that can be tough, because we have so many boys who look like potential hitters."

Arks Defeat Spokes in 7-6 Contest

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., April 30 — Adolpho Phillips singled to left with the bases loaded in the 10th inning to give Arkansas a 7-6 Pacific Coast League baseball victory over Spokane here Thursday night.

PHILLIPS' SINGLE came with two men out and scored Norm Gibon, who singled to open the inning.

Rookie, Veterans Rocket A's to Win Over Tigers

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 30 (UPI) — Rookie Tom Reynolds joined veterans Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile to pace the Kansas City Athletics to a 10-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers Thursday.

REYNOLDS, WHO led the Midwest league in all offensive departments last year, smashed a 3-run homer over the centerfield fence in the first inning and singled in another run in the third.

Colavito belted his third homer of the year with a man on in the seventh after singling in a first inning run. Gentile collected his third homer and had an additional single.

ORLANDO PENA gained his second win against a pair of defeats. Detroit managed 11 hits off the Cuban righthander.

Detroit got its first run in the third on singles by Bill Freehan, Don Wert and Bill Bruton. Dick McAuliffe's double and Wert's single accounted for the Tigers second run in the seventh

Palmer Method... By Arnold Palmer

A paradox that many golfers find difficult to accept is the fact that you should "hit down" on a shot when you want the ball to "get up."

Illustration #1 shows what happens when you strike "down and through" with an iron club. Note how the downward movement of the clubface to rub against the dimpled surface of the ball. The result is backspin, without which your shots would not fly high and true.

Illustration #2 shows what happens when a golfer tries to lift or scoop the ball into flight instead of striking a down-and-through blow. Scooped shots don't provide club-ball friction that results in backspin. Without much backspin the ball shoots forward but fails to rise appreciably.

Remember to swing the clubhead down and through if you want height on your shots.

Nicklaus Trails by One Stroke As Palmer Falls Far Behind

By Jack Schroeder
Tribune Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS — Quiet, unassuming Doug Ford, who plays golf as though he were practicing for the mile run, spliced together a 33-34 for a five-under-par 67 and a one stroke lead over defending champion Jack Nicklaus in the first round of the Tournament of Champions Thursday at the Desert Inn Country Club,

FORD, AT 41, IS 17 years older than the power-hitting Nicklaus but Thursday asked no quarter as he played almost flawless golf to carry a one stroke advantage over jumbo Jack and a two-stroke bulge over southpaw Bob Charles and Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriquez into Friday's second round.

Ford, who once played 18 holes here in one hour and 15 minutes, is considered the fastest player on the PGA tour.

Ford took only 67 strokes over the 7,100-yard Desert Inn Country Club that saw 13 players in the field of 29 break par 72 figures.

A BREEZE OF between 15 and 25 mph wafted across the desert course and the temperature reached 82 degrees making it almost ideal playing conditions for the glossy field of links champions.

Ford hit on all cylinders Thursday. He went out in 34 with birdies on 5 and 7 and then came back with his 33 tanking birds on 12, 15 and 17.

He had no bogeys and was seldom in trouble.

On the par five No. 5 hole he chipped to within six inches and tanked his birdie putt. Then on the No. 8 hole he chipped in from the fringe from about 30 feet with a 9 iron for his second bird.

ON THE 12TH hole he dropped a four footer for a bird, chipped to within one inch of the pin on 15 for a birdie four and knocked down a 35-footer on 17 for another bird.

Nicklaus was his usual powerful self Thursday. He hit a 325 yard drive on the fifth hole and topped that with a 330 yard blast on 8.

He put together a pair of 34s for his four-under-par 68.

He had birdies at 4 when he sank a 15 foot putt and got another on 5 where he chipped to within four inches and tapped in a gimme. He got another bird on the 10th from four feet and sank a 15 footer on 15 for still another bird.

Nicklaus also had no bogeys in his opening round.

Charles, the lefthander from New Zealand and the hero of southpaws everywhere, used his velvet putting touch to fire a 34-35—69 and Rodriguez, who is little larger than a pint, had a 34-35—69 to share third place.

ROCKY PHIL Rodgers had a 70 and was deadlocked with two former Utah Open champions, lean Al Geiberger and popular Tommy Jacobs at two-under-par figures.

MASTERS CHAMPION Arnold Palmer, who shared the favorite's role with Nicklaus in the early betting run, had to settle for an even par 72. But he did it the hard way.

Palmer was extremely erratic on the opening day. He scratched out a pair of pars on the first two holes, then bogeyed the next two and then put together four consecutive threes.

That included an eagle and two birdies and he went out in 34, two under par.

Then the muscleman from Latrobe, Pa., bogeyed No. 10 but got back in the running with a birdie on the 12th hole and once again was two under for the day. He parred in to the 18th where disaster struck.

PALMER DROVE his tee shot into the water and then pushed his next shot into the trap that guards the left side of the No. 9 hole. He had to settle for a double bogey six and that gave him the 72.

But there were bigger disasters.

DAVE HILL, paired with Palmer, took an 8 on the 18th hole and one of those strokes he called on himself when the ball changed position while he was addressing it.

Tony Lema, the champagne boy of the PGA tour, had the second largest score of the day when he went out in 40 and came home with 37 for a 77. Only Jack Rule's 79 was higher.

FORD WENT into this event as a 30-1 underdog, one of the real long shots in the tournament. This is his 10th tournament here in the 12 years it has been staged and Ford ranks as one of the five all-time money winners on the tour.

Thursday he hit 14 greens, putted well and made some crucial putts.

Indians Rally to Trip Twins

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., April 30 (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians rallied for three runs in the seventh inning Thursday to support Pete Ramos in an 8-4 victory over his old Minnesota Twins teammates.

Ramos, who has given up only four earned runs in 19 innings, recorded a win in his first decision.

Your Merc dealer invites you to compare
the 9.8 hp Merc 110 with competitors' 9.5 hp fishing motor

Merc 110 is the lightest outboard in the 10 hp class ever built. Yet, it performs like a 12 hp, trolls like a 3 hp and weighs like a 5 hp outboard.

Merc 110 balances perfectly on the transom. You don't have to lean over the back of the boat to clamp it on... risking the chance of falling in the drink. Merc power plants are high enough to be at least as high as the transom. Unlike competitive outboards, it keeps its power dry.

Merc 110 has a tilted powerhead that prevents fuel "puddling" at any speed. It idles and trolls smoothly without flooding or misfiring on "raw" fuel. The fixed-jet carburetor is on the front of the motor toward the boat... not on the back. You don't have to get in the water when normal service is required.

Merc 110 has a unique Glide-Angle design that lets it slide up and over unseen obstacles... over sandbars and through shallows. No need to tilt it by hand. It corrects itself when you hit deep water again. There's no protruding nose on the front to harvest weeds, snag rocks or plow sand. It has no shear pins ...a live rubber safety clutch protects the prop on impact.

Merc 110 has a Jet-Prop exhaust system. The exhaust is fired through the center of the propeller hub... burying the fumes, and with it the sound, far behind the boat. The exhaust fills the vacuum pocket that forms in back of propeller hubs, resulting in increased thrust and improved breathing of the engine.

There are many other features to COMPARE on a Merc 110... and your Mercury dealer will be happy to have you make the comparison. See him soon. See how you get more RUN for your money with Mercury... 100, 85, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8, 6 and 3.9 hp outboards and MerCruiser Stern Drives... 110 to 310 hp gasoline; 60 and 100 hp diesel.

Cokes Rates Ring Edge

PHILADELPHIA, April 30 (UPI) — Welterweights Stanley (Kitten) Hayward of Philadelphia and Curtis Cokes of Dallas, Tex., meet in a 10-round fight the Blue Horizon Arena. Cokes is ranked seventh among welterweights while Hayward is ranked 10th.

HAYWARD with eight knockouts included in his 18-2-1 record, upset Dick Turner in January; Cokes has a 35-6-2 record, with 18 knockouts.

Promoter Herman Taylor has promised the winner of this match a fight with Jose Stable, and the victor in that bout could get a shot at champion Griffith.

Hayward was an 8-5 underdog in his last start, but upset Turner in a 10-round decision at the arena here.

On the Screen

Friday night's fight between Stanley Hayward and Curtis Cokes will be televised over channel 4 at 9 p.m.

Friday night with both boxers hoping to gain momentum for a title match against Emile Griffith.

COKES, 26, is favored to turn back his 23-year-old opponent at

Hill Rise Dares Derby Rivals

By Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 30 — Hill Rise officially tossed down the gauntlet Thursday and dared Northern Dancer and 10 other of the nation's finest three-year-old thoroughbreds to beat him in the 90th running of the Kentucky Derby.

AS THE names of the 12 horses, survivors of an original list of 138 nominees, were dropped into the entry box, Hill Rise was made the 6-5 choice for Saturday's 1¼-mile race at Churchill Downs.

If all 12 are in line for the start the gross value of America's most glamorous horse race will be $156,800 with $114,300 and a garland of red roses going to the winner.

The winning owner also will have a $5,000 gold cup to display proudly.

Hill Rise, a rangy California-owned son of Hillary from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Peco Ranch, finished his Derby preparations with an eye-catching performance in last Tuesday's Derby Trial. It was his eighth straight victory after finishing third in his first two races as a two-year-old.

ALTHOUGH THE California comet dominated the off-time heated discussions, there were many who said his colors would be lowered by Northern Dancer, a mite of a colt owned by E. O. Taylor of Toronto, Canada, and trained by Horatio Luro, suave Argentine who saddled Decidedly two years ago. No Canadian horse ever won the Derby.

BUT BECAUSE the Kentucky Derby is a horse race and a horse race is not decided until they hit the finish line, 10 other sharply-tuned horses will attempt to break up the expected Hill Rise-Northern Dancer duel.

In line of preference in the track handicapper's pre-race betting line they are Paul Mellon's Quadrange, winner of the Wood Memorial; Rex Ellsworth's awkward but dangerous The Scoundrel; Louis E. Wolfson's stout-hearted but small Roman Brother; Roy Sturgis' consistent Mr. Brick, and a half dozen lightly regarded runners.

THE SIX are Cecil Carmine's stretch running Dandy K., Wil Rad, owned by Wilbur Clark and William Radkovich, Earle Davis' Extra Swell, Mrs. Magruder Dent's Mr. Moonlight, H. G. Bockman's Ishkoodah and Emil Dust's Royal Shuck.

Seven Claim Big Payoff

WESTBURY, N.Y., April 30 (UPI)—Four men, one a millionaire, drove up to Roosevelt Raceway Thursday and cashed in a $2 mutuel ticket for $132,232.80.

THIS REPRESENTED the payoff on Tuesday night's twin double at the raceway, the largest ever for a $2 ticket in horse racing history. The winners had remained silent until Thursday.

Seven men, all from New Jersey, held shares on the lucky ticket but only four made an appearance at the track. They were William Bresnahan, 31, John E. Saker Jr., 30, Joseph Saker, 35, and Michael Sherman, 51. Joseph Saker was described by accountant Morris Landis as the "millionaire owner" of the Fooderama section of the Shoprite Supermarket chain.

Early Runs Give Phils Win Over Reds, 3-1

By Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 30 — The Philadelphia Phillies scored two quick runs in the first inning Thursday night, then hung on for a 3-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds behind the pitching of Dennis Bennett.

ROOKIE ARCHIE Allen drove in his 12th run of the season with a double after Tony Taylor led off with a single and John Callison walked.

NUXHALL got out of trouble by striking out the next two batters and getting Bobby Wine to fly out.

Bennett, winning his second game against the loss, allowed eight hits while striking out four and walking one. He also contributed two singles to the Phillies' attack.

Houston Tips Dodgers, 7-3

HOUSTON, April 30 (UPI)—Mike White's pinch-hit single and Rusty Staub's bases-loaded double sparked a four-run Houston seventh inning tonight and enabled the Colts to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-3.

THE REDS scored in the third on Pete Rose's double, a wild pitch and an infield out.

Russian Women Wallop Yanks

LIMA, PERU, April 30 (UPI)—Russia defeated the United States, 71-37, Thursday night and virtually ended any U.S. hopes for the title in the women's world basketball championships.

THE RUSSIAN team remained unbeaten in championship round play, but it was the second loss for the American team.

Army, Cubs Join to Help Bees

Paul Popovich, whose delay in receiving a hardship discharge from the armed service may have cost him the second base job with the Chicago Cubs, was optioned to the Salt Lake Bees Thursday afternoon.

To make room for Popovich, the Bees optioned Bob (Shorty) Raudman to Fort Worth of the Texas League.

Popovich's appeal for an early army release on a hardship cause (his father was killed in an auto accident in January) was lost in Army red tape and he didn't join the Cubs until April 16.

BY THIS time, Jimmy Stewart's hitting apparently clinched the major league job. Popovich appeared in one game as a pinch - hitter, and rapped a major league single.

Popovich arrived from Chicago Thursday night.

Last season, Popovich batted .313 for Amarillo of the Texas League.

RAUDMAN, WHO had played most of the season in left field for the Bees, had four hits in 25 times at bat, including one double and one run batted in.

His batting average was .160. This is his third year in professional baseball. And in dropping a classification, he'll have more opportunity to develop his hitting and confidence.

Aggie Net Crew Blanks Bobcats

Special to The Tribune

BOZEMAN, MONT. — Utah State University's tennis team swept an 8-0 victory from Montana State in a rain-shortened match Thursday.

THE AGGIE netters didn't lose a set and only one set went into extra games. A final doubles match was cancelled by rain.

Dragsters Eye Sunday Races

Rex Crane, who almost set a new track record last week, will headline Sunday's drag racing program at the Salt Lake Raceway.

CRANE DROVE his A-Altered Plymouth 130 miles per hour over the quarter mile strip last week which is 10 mph better than the strip record. However, the rain fell and washed out Crane's second run which prevented him from getting the record.

In addition, Danny Noorda and Gary Nielsen will have their drags out as will several other drivers Sunday.

Pits open at 9 a.m., time trials start at 10 a.m. and eliminations at 1:30 p.m.

LAS VEGAS—The fate of the 1964 Utah Open will be decided here within the next two days.

The odds seem pretty good that it won't be on the PGA tour this fall.

But there is still the outside chance that it might be accepted on a smaller financial scale than last year.

Dunford wants a tournament that would not require such a large-scale selling job as last year.

The PGA wants to stick with the $45,000 tab. This may cause some complications but the decision will be made within the next two days.

Willow Creek Country Club has tentatively accepted the event for this year. But the big hurdle will be the purse.

Utahns in Las Vegas

We encountered W. P. Dunn, Steve Dunford, Matt Leonard, Tolly Holst, H. E. Colwell, Bob Bird and Ray Tucker of Salt Lake City on the Wednesday airplane. Pete Ashton and Ted Morgan of Provo were also on the same flight.

MONA KALMAR AND Lee Powell, a couple of Salt Lake gal linksters, were two of the first on the scene. Cliff Elliott was also on hand and so was Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robinson.

By this weekend the Utah group will be impossible to count.

JACK NICKLAUS INSISTS he should weigh about 210. "I lose 10 pounds during a tournament and for a guy with my build I'd say 210 is about right."

Arnold Palmer had a little trouble getting his 5 iron to Las Vegas. . . . It seems he left it in Latrobe, Pa., his home town. . . . He called his wife and had her place it on a plane. It arrived just prior to the start of the tournament.

Beard's Back in Shape

Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., had more people pulling for him in Thursday's opening round than any other golfer in the field. It was Beard who lay near death a few months back from some degree of encephalitis. . . . It was predicted he would never play golf again. In Thursday's opening round he went one-under-par 71 and received the praise of nearly everyone. . . . Rex Baxter, who fired a 73, missed 16 greens.

PALMER TOOK THE hard way to play the course with an eagle, two birdies, two bogeys and a double bogey. . . . Bobby Nichols, one of the game's longest hitters, proved his right to the title by pounding out a pair of eagles Thursday on Nos. 5 and 10. . . . But that wasn't enough to get the lead.

The sponsors of this Tournament of Champions have launched an austerity program with regard to this event. . . . Many of the benefits that some members of the press had enjoyed in past years have been cut off. . . . Officials even took the air coolers out of the press tent,

THERE WERE MANY who had suspected the 40-1 odds on Jack Rule Jr. were too high. . . . But most changed their minds after the young Iowan shot a 79 Thursday. . . . The Desert Inn Country Club has reduced the extent of the rough this year which makes it possible for some better shots when the golfers get in trouble. . . . Al Besselink, who won this tournament the first time it was held, is back for the first time since then.

Cougar Track, Links Meets Claim Collegiate Spotlight

It will be a busy weekend for spring sport squads at Utah's universities, with the BYU Invitational Meet and a triangular track meet at BYU holding the spotlight.

IT WILL BE Utah State University, the defending champions, against the field in golf matches at the Invitational Friday and Saturday.

Brigham Young University and University of Utah linksters will be attempting to take the title.

Saturday at BYU, the Cougars will take on Utah and New Mexico in a three-way track meet.

In baseball action, Utah will play Weber State College Friday in Salt Lake City in a single game, BYU will play a double header with Wyoming Friday at Provo, and again Saturday in a single game.

USU WILL play a single game with Weber Saturday at Logan.

In tennis action, the Utes will play a Friday match with Texas Western at Salt Lake City and the BYU netters will take on Wyoming in matches at Provo Friday and Saturday.

USU Footballers Set Scrimmage

Special to The Tribune

LOGAN — Utah State University's football team will hold its annual Blue-White scrimmage here Saturday at 3:15 p.m. in Romney Stadium.

The game is a preview to the annual spring varsity vs. Pro All-Stars game scheduled here May 9.

RON STEWART, a transfer from BYU, will quarterback the White team with Ron Edwards, up from the frosh squad, quarterbacking the Blues.

Title Bout Money Still 'Attached'

CHESTER, PA., Apri 30 (AP) —Jack Nilon, head of Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., the group that promoted the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay heavyweight title fight, confirmed Thursday that Liston has received no money for the bout.

NILON, however, went on to explain that the money has been tied up in attachments and tax liens, that $400,000 is owed to Inter-Continental of which Liston is entitled to $160,000.

"Of the sums received by Inter-Continental Promotions Inc.," Nilon said, "Liston's share amounts to $731,000.

HOWEVER, attachments and liens filed against Liston by Internal Revenue Service and his former manager, George Katz, total $763,000 of Liston's money, or approximately $32,000 more than Liston is entitled to."

Lacrosse Clubs On View in Battle Today

Utahns will get a chance Friday and Saturday to see four university teams in action in a sport which is relatively unknown in the area.

LACROSSE teams from Stanford, the Air Force Academy, University of Utah and University of Arizona will play games in the Ute stadium.

Friday the Utes will meet the Indians in a game scheduled for 3 p.m. Immediately following that game, the Falcons will test the Wildcats.

Utah, Aggies Split in Doubleheader

Special to The Tribune

LOGAN—Six home runs were belted out of the Aggie diamond here Thursday afternoon as Utah State and Utah split a doubleheader.

The Utags won the seven inning opener, 7-6, on a seventh inning single by third baseman Ron Rushton.

Utah came back to win the nightcap, 10-6.

In all, home runs accounted for 11 of the 13 runs in the opener and six of 16 runs in the second game.

UTAH STATE catcher Johnny Casillas of Tulsa, Okla., was hospitalized after being hit in the face with a thrown ball in the second game. He suffered a broken nose and possible fracture of the cheek bone.

The Aggie catcher was injured in the fourth inning when the Utes scored five unearned runs.

GLADE MATHER won the opener for the Aggies, his second win of the season. A three-run homer by Casillas off Ute pitcher John Noriega in the first frame gave Mather a cushion he made hold up.

The game was tied 6-6 in the seventh, thanks to a three-run homer by Ute first baseman, Duane Freeman. In the bottom of the inning, Utah reliefer Brent Arnold hit two batters before Rushton tapped him for his game-winning single.

Speaker Tells Investment Firm Role

Small business investment companies can play a major role in financing new business to take up slack in the drop from defense spending.

GEORGE E. Saunders, Denver, Small Business Administration regional director, made that statement Thursday.

Speaking at a meeting of six Utah small business investment companies in the Prudential Federal Auditorium, 3261 S. State, Mr. Saunders said:

"WE ARE NOT trying to promote SBIC licenses—only better SBICs."

In Colorado, he reported, SBICs were making loans to ski recreational areas, to miners with reserves of silver and zinc and in other businesses.

HE SAID the Denver area had been particularly hard hit by the changed character of defense spending, as contributions in payroll and purchasing from the Martin Co. with Titan missile contracts had dropped in a three-year period from 230 million dollars annually to 68 million at present.

Mr. Saunders said the freeport concept in this area, along with space at the former Clearfield Naval Depot in Davis County should provide incentives to formation of small business.

UTAH MAY seek changes in its laws, he added, to permit banks to form small business investment companies as wholly owned subsidiaries. This would permit the banks—as is the case in Colorado and other states—to channel funds into small business where bank lending is not applicable.

Changes in the laws affecting the investment firms will now permit the six Utah SBICs to increase part or all of their capital above the present total of $1,800,000.

"PURPOSE OF the SBIC law is to provide equity capital to small business which cannot get such capital from the public. In many cases, the past assistance of the SBICs has now permitted these firms to branch out with public underwritings in the raising of capital and progress to regular bank loan basis," he said.

Market Slips After Slow Day

© 1964 New York Times Service

NEW YORK, April 30—Stock prices weakened in the final 30 minutes of trading Thursday and the market closed lower. Earlier in the day, the market had shown signs of leveling off following Wednesday's sharp retreat.

While the leading averages declined, there were few issue prices up or down more than a point.

But stocks finishing the day ahead were outnumbered two to one by the laggards as volume slipped to 5,690,000 shares from 6,200,000 the day before.

COPPER ISSUES, OILS AND General Motors supplied the market focus Thursday.

William H. Morris . . . Resigns as executive of Sinclair Oil.

Sinclair Aide To Resign As Executive

William H. Morris, for 13 years an executive of various Sinclair Oil companies, has resigned, effective Friday.

MR. MORRIS, who directed the construction of the Pioneer Petroleum Products pipeline from near Rawlins, Wyo., to North Salt Lake City, is well-known in the region's oil and gas industry.

He is married to the former Ree Sorenson of Scipio, Millard County, and is a member of the Alta Club at Salt Lake City, among other organizations.

MR. MORRIS is former president of the Sinclair Oil and Gas Co., a member of the board of directors of Sinclair Oil Corp. and former president of Sinclair Pipeline Co.

He started with Sinclair some 30 years ago. Since Jan. 15, Mr. Morris has been on a special assignment with the corporation.

Mr. MORRIS said at Tulsa, Okla., headquarters of Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. that he would devote his time to personal affairs.

Mr. Morris is an active Mason, a director of the National Bank of Tulsa, The Salvation Army, trustee of the University of Tulsa and of John Brown University.

HE IS A MEMBER of the executive board of the Indian Nations Council, Boy Scouts of America, and of the executive committee, Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn.

Eimco Wins Bid Contest On Tractors

Tribune Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, April 30—The Eimco Corp., Salt Lake City, has submitted the low bid of $9,349,985.40 to supply 383 of its crawler tractors to the Marine Corps, Utah's senators announced Thursday.

THE CONTRACT is expected to be awarded Friday, according to Pentagon officials.

This will represent the Utah firm's biggest defense contract and in winning this one beats out such giants in the tractor industry as Caterpillar and Allis-Chalmers.

FIRST deliveries of these full-track medium crawler tractors will be in December. The job is to be finished by May, 1966.

The tractors were ordered for the Fleet Marine Force to perform engineering functions, the Marine Corps said.

"THE EIMCO Corp. is to be congratulated on wining this contract in a very competitive situation," said Sen. Frank E. Moss (D-Utah).

"Their product was selected as the result of exhaustive performance tests at the Army Research and Development Center at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

"THE MODEL chosen embodies many Eimco innovations which have made it possible to maintain performance while substantially reducing size and cost."

"This is a substantial victory in the long campaign Eimco has conducted on the acceptance of their tractor line," said Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah).

"THEY HAVE showed real pioneering spirit in being able to design and manufacture a tractor that competes with those produced by some of the world's industrial giants."

Sen. Bennett said he understood the crawler tractors would be similar to those recently provided by Eimco to the Navy under a similar but much smaller contract.

Manager to Retire

Special to The Tribune

KANAB — Elgin H. Morris, manager of the Kanab Division, California Pacific Utilities Co., retired Thursday after 30 years with the firm, and predecessor utility.

Mr. Morris

He started his career with the former Southern Utah Power Co. in January, 1934, and continued as manager after CalPac acquired Southern Utah.

MR. MORRIS is a graduate of Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, and was a school teacher at Logan High School, Bedford, Wyo., and Orderville, Kane County.

FHA Office Reports On Sale of Houses

Salt Lake insuring office of the Federal Housing Administration reported Thursday that of 1,624 houses completed during 1963 in Salt Lake County, 708 were sold before construction started.

AND L. C. Romney, Utah director for FHA, said that of the 916 built on speculation, 602 were disposed of during the year.

Named Manager

D. R. Lueck has been named manager of the Salt Lake distributing plant of Western Electric Co., succeeding A. L. Anderson, transferred to Denver.

MR. LUECK is a native of Denver and holds an MBA degree from Stanford University.

Bethlehem Quarter Profits Show Increase Over 1963

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 30 — Bethlehem Steel Corp. reported Thursday profits in the first three months of 1964 exceeded the 1963 first quarter level by 50 per cent.

THE NO. 2 steel producer earned $28,504,663, or 50 cents a share, compared with $19,339,380, or 39 cents a share, a year earlier.

However, profits fell below the $38,598,348, or 81 cents a share, two years earlier.

U.S. STEEL CORP., the No. 1 producer, reported first quarter profits Tuesday of $51,546,002, or 84 cents a share, up from $29,918,774, or 44 cents a share, a year earlier.

Morrison-Knudsen Bid: 'Break Profit Barrier'

By Robert W. Bernick
Tribune Business Editor

Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc., Boise-based worldwide contracting firm, hopes to break a 13-year "profit barrier" in 1964 and earn more than five million dollars.

Mr. Bernick

E. W. Glass, treasurer, who was in Salt Lake City Thursday, told The Tribune that for the last 13 years, M-K has had profits in the five-million-dollar range.

Now, with a major increase in backlog of new construction, the firm believes it may complete 1964 substantially ahead of 1963.

Also, Morrison-Knudsen is pushing diversification into raw materials developments—"into areas of excavating and surface mining where we know we can do a good job," Mr. Glass said.

HE SAID M-K's BACKLOG of new construction had jumped 35 per cent by the end of February from the 378 million dollars at the start of 1964.

"On March 1 of this year, we had 512 million dollars in backlog work," Mr. Glass said.

MAJOR NEW JOBS INCLUDE a 63-million-dollar "moon-shot-garage" at Cape Kennedy, Fla. M-K is sponsor of and has one-third interest in what will be the largest structure—from a cubic-foot space standpoint—ever built by man.

A missile base in North Dakota, for which M-K is sponsor and has a half interest, will total 121 million dollars.

THE IDAHO FIRM ALSO reports a 55 per cent interest in the 50-million-dollar east Pakistan, Indus Valley canal project, is at work on a 22½-million-dollar Banda Abba harbor project in Iran, in which it has a 30 per cent contract interest.

It recently was awarded an 8½-million-dollar, 30-inch natural gas transmission line contract, with another firm, in Holland. M-K's interest is 70 per cent.

OF THE TOTAL INCREASES IN NEW businesses, some 85 million dollars in contracts are from parent company work; $46,854,000 on domestic subsidiary, primarily H. K. Ferguson Co., and $33,900,000 from foreign subsidiaries, Mr. Glass said.

"It is too early to project first-quarter 1964 results," Mr. Glass said, "although the first quarter is historically not a good one for contracting firms. We hope that the enlarged backlog, however, will have an affect on earnings for the entire year."

Utah Oil, Gas Wells Off in '63

The exploration and development effort of the oil and gas industry in Utah was off substantially last year, compared with 1962, according to figures of the state's Oil and Gas Conservation Commission.

THE AGENCY REPORTED Thursday that 1,202,553 feet of hole was drilled in exploration and development by oil firms in 1963 in 10 Utah counties.

This compares with 1,419,544 feet drilled in 14 counties in 1962.

THERE WERE 135 successful completions as oil and gas producers in 1962. Last year there were only 88 such completions.

THERE WERE 235 wells completed last year, as against 273 a year earlier.

Freight Earnings Reach $598,818

Garrett Freightlines, Inc., Pocatello, Idaho, and subsidiary, reports net earnings for the first quarter of 1964 of $598,818, or 74 cents a share.

C. A. GARRETT, PRESIDENT, said this compares with a net for the like quarter of 1963 of $226,792, or 28 cents a share.

However, $291,967, or 37 cents a share of 1964 quarterly earnings was attributed to nonrecurring gains from sale and trade-in of equipment.

ON THE OTHER HAND, THE first quarter did reflect basic improvement in the carrier's earnings, without the nonrecurring gain.

"The first quarter produced an improvement in profit from operations, although payroll and employe benefits took a larger proportion of revenues," Mr. Garrett said.

"GROSS REVENUES OF $8,270,498 increased seven and one-tenths per cent compared to a year ago. Net earnings from operations increased to 37 cents a share, compared to 28 cents a share the first quarter of last year. Additional earnings of 37 cents a share were provided by profits from sale of assets," he said.

Trade Tallies Rise on Exchange

Value of shares traded on the Salt Lake Stock Exchange increased by 48 per cent during the first four months of 1964, although volume was down fractionally.

ROBERT P. WOOLLEY, president of the exchange, said Thursday that some 3,036,275 shares at $782,978 changed hands in the first four months of 1963 against 2,890,679 at $1,155,960 in the same period of 1964.

This caused a four and eight-tenths per cent drop in volume despite the big increase in values.

APRIL TRADING WAS AT 851,687 shares or $517,467. In April a year ago, volume of trading was 633,885 shares at $118,106. April, 1964, volume was up 30 per cent and prices, 339 per cent, Mr. Woolley said, from April, 1963.

U.S. Jury Indicts 5 Concerns In Fertilizer Price-Fix Plot

WASHINGTON, April 30 (UPI) — Five chemical companies were indicted Thursday on charges of conspiring to fix prices between 1957 and 1961 in the sale of fertilizer materials in 11 western states, including the Intermountain Area.

ATTY. GEN. ROBERT F. Kennedy said the indictment was handed down by a federal grand jury in Los Angeles. Similar indictments were made earlier this year affecting phosphate producers in other parts of the country.

The indictment named the California Chemical Co., San Francisco, a wholly owned subsidiary of Standard Oil of California; J. R. Simplot Co., Boise, Idaho; Balford-Guthrie & Co., San Francisco, a subsidiary of Balford Williamson and Co., London, England; Cominco Products, Inc., Spokane, a wholly owned subsidiary of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Canada, and Western Phosphates Inc., Salt Lake City, a wholly owned subsidiary of Stauffer Chemical Co.

In Boise, Simplot attorney Lloyd Haight said he would not make a detailed statement until he sees the indictment.

"IN ANY EVENT, we're going to fight it," he said. "It isn't true and we'll deny it."

He said the company had known for some time that a federal grand jury was investigating. He said word from a newsman who asked him for comment was the first he had heard about it.

"This report shows you to be frank and outspoken, unafraid to disagree with top management—I'll mention that in your reference."

It's Proper To Send Cash Gift

By Louise Davis

Dear Louise: Our nephew's fiance has the habit of exchanging all of her gifts when she receives them, whether they are birthday, Christmas or engagement. Her wedding invitation has been received. Instead of trying to get something I think she and our nephew would like, would it be permissible to give money.

If champagne or cocktails are served at the reception and breakfast, how do I refuse without being rude L.C.M., Charlotte, N.C.

Louise Davis Answers: It would be permissible for you to send the bride a check for a wedding gift because the bridegroom-to-be is a member of your family. If champagne or cocktails are offered, just say, "No, thank you." If soft drinks, such as gingerale, are offered, I suggest that you take one just to be holding a beverage in your hand. No one will know the difference.

Dear Louise: Most of the girls in our bowling league wear slacks, to the alleys. I notice that a few wear earrings too. I was under the impression that slacks and earrings don't mix. Is it fashionably correct. V.E. Green Bay, Wis.

Louise Davis Answers; No. Earrings and other jewelry do not mix with slacks, blue jeans, or any other sports wear in that category. However, I don't think that eyebrows are generally raised these days if a woman in slacks wears an unobtrusive pair of button earrings.

Miss Bernadette Pouplard, left, Madame Pierre Thermes, Madame Pierre Penet, Madame James Adrienne Buck, Mrs. J. Bracken Lee, Mrs. Joseph Fielding Smith, Madame M. Gillet attend lunch at Hotel Utah honoring French women.

Hints From Heloise

Steam Removes Clothes 'Cling'

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise: When I wear a certian type of dress that causes static electricty, I always hang it in the bathroom while taking my shower. This allows the steam to get into the material and thus prevents static electricity.

Alice

Heloise

Heloise

Dear Heloise: Between seasons, when putting away your summer awnings, window screens, storm windows, etc., mark them with bright paint, crayon or a pencil, E-1-2-3-4-, etc. This "E" is for east side of the house. Also mark your windows at the same time to match that awning with the same letters, E-1-2-, etc.

On the north, west and south, mark these awnings and windows with an N. W. or S., starting from the left hand side, which is the way we read . . . with 1, 2, 3, etc. for each window in the row.

We used to have a lot of confusion trying to get the proper awning or window to fit that certain opening until the correct screen was formed. Now we have no trouble at all, by just looking at our little identification marks.

Ann McCann

Dear Heloise: The lady who wrote to you about the way to save her last bit of tomato catsup didn't impress us at all.

My husband has even a better way to empty the bottle, and even more thrifty. He learned it while working in a restaurant during the summer.

You simply put your almost-empty catsup bottle upside down on top of a new bottle. Naturally, with both tops removed. If necessary, balance it between some boxes or canned goods. Every single drop of the catsup will flow into the new bottle. No waste and no messy job.

Mrs. Wen Chiu

French Visitors Feted at Lunch

By Hazel S. Parkinson
Tribune Staff Writer

Madame M. Gillet, Paris, France, is my new friend.

We could not understand each other. We spoke a different language, yet we became friends by exchanging smiles, looks, gestures.

Similar bonds of friendship emerged from the meeting of 14 Salt Lake City and 24 French women at a luncheon Thursday at the Hotel Utah Sky Room. The event honoring the visitors was given by the Salt Lake City Chamber of Commerce.

The French group is in the city on part of a tour of the United States. The men, concrete products manufacturers, are visiting plants and factories. The wives are shopping and taking in scenic, educational and cultural points of interest.

Thursday, three members of the LDS Church Hospitality Committee took them on guided tours. Richard Grant acted as interpreter.

At the luncheon some of the Utahns were more fortunate than others, they could speak French. Mrs. Ted Kirkmeyer, Mrs. Aziz Atiya, Mrs. Gaston S. Chappuis and Madame James Adrienne Buck, consul agent for France in Utah, spoke fluent French and interpreted for the rest of us.

Luncheon hostess, Mrs. J. Bracken Lee, introduced the Utahns, who represented the women of Utah. Madame Buck and Mrs. Chappuis translated her remarks.

Pretty Madame M. Pierre Penet, Paris, with the aid of Madame Buck speaking in English, said, "We are touched by the welcome in Salt Lake City.) We never want to forget our journey and what we have learned here."

Mental Illness Can Hit Any Home–Any Time

By Josephine Lowman

Mental illness has little meaning for those who have not come in contact with it.

Miss Lowman

You think of it as some kind of a vague, awful some thing which happens to other people but will never happen to you. Perhaps it will never happen to you, but you are almost certain to come in contact with it in some form among your family or friends. At any given time there are more people in hospitals because of mental illness than because of all other diseases combined and this includes heart disease and cancer and all of the crippling and fatal illnesses.

At least one out of every 10 persons has some form of emotional or mental trouble. Also about 50 per cent of the medical and surgical cases treated by private doctors and hospitals are complicated by mental illness. Yet at least seven out of 10 patients, who receive good care, partially or completely recover.

In the United States, for eight years now, the resident population of mental hospitals has declined even though more patients were treated each year. This reflects the encouraging results of adequate treatment.

Add an Elegant Twist To Bacon Sandwich

By Bonnie Lake
Tribune Home Service Director

Bacon sandwiches and hot soup are traditional luncheon favorites. For a new twist, we've added spring fresh green asparagus. It makes a treat fit for a king . . . or, substitute a Waldorf salad for the soup . . . and you have a delicious menu for an informal weekend supper. Or a Sunday night repast.

Make a sweet-sour sauce from the bacon drippings to serve over the sandwich . . . and you have just the right amount of tang.

Cooking the Bacon

Here's a tip on cooking the bacon. Remove the desired number of slices in a group and place in an unheated skillet. The slices will separate easily when heated. Cook slowly and turn often to brown evenly.

If you're cooking bacon for a crowd, the easiest way is to separate the slices, place them on a rack set in a baking pan, and bake about 10 to 12 minutes in a hot oven (400 F). The bacon will need no turning and little watching.

Hot Bacon 'n' Asparagus Sandwiches

½ pound sliced bacon
2 pounds fresh green asparagus, cooked
¼ cup bacon drippings
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons vinegar
⅔ cup water
4 slices sandwich bread, toasted
4 slices avocado
2 hard cooked eggs, sliced

Blend cornstarch, sugar and salt into bacon drippings in pan. Add vinegar and water gradually and heat until thickened. To assemble sandwiches: place 4 to 6 spears of asparagus on center of each slice of toast. Garnish with sliced eggs and avocado. Pour sauce over sandwiches. Top with bacon slices.

Bacon Waldorf Salad

2 cups chopped apple
1 cup sliced banana
¼ cup chopped nuts
2 tablespoons peanut butter
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons milk

Pan-fry bacon until crisp. Drain on absorbent paper. Crumble bacon and combine with apple, banana and nuts. Blend together peanut butter, mayonnaise and milk. Pour over bacon mixture and toss lightly. Serve on lettuce.

For a delicious supper or luncheon sandwich top toast slices with asparagus, eggs, avocado. Serve with sauce.

Use a Gentle Touch To Test Avocados

By Carolyn Dunn
Extension Specialist—
Utah State University

It pays to have a gentle touch when you select avocados. If the fruit is eating-ripe it yields to gentle pressure, so don't be a bruiser or the avocado you buy may be the one you bruised!

Miss Dunn

The proper way to select an avocado is to cradle it in the palm of the hand before applying the easy pressure. As most avocados are usually quite firm at the market it's wise to plan ahead for their use and keep a few at room temperature for a day or two to fully ripen.

In Good Supply

Local display counters have been blooming with this "fruit" this season because the winter crop of avocados has been a good one and there is still a good supply of winter varieties (the main one coming into this area is the Fuerte).

Now, the summer crop is getting ready for shipment from the coast. This crop is largely the Hass variety and although considered one of the best flavored and best eating of the avocados, many consumers pass it by because of it's unattractive appearance.

While the Fuerte is a smooth, thin-skinned avocado with a medium green skin that darkens somewhat as the fruit ripens, the summer Hass has a thick, leathery skin that is quite rough to the touch. The color is usually a blended-green to a near black in color.

Difference in Selection

The only difference in selecting is that the Hass requires a slightly firmer pressure in testing, but gentleness is still necessary.

If you take the avocado from the store in a firm, unripe condition and leave it at room temperature to ripen, there is a "home" test that will help in determining when it is ripe and ready. If a toothpick slides in and out of the stem end easily then it should be at its best eating stage.

For all their use in the cooler climates, the avocados are still of a tropical nature and they fare best when they are not refrigerated until they are soft.

Beads Are Big Among Spanish Fashion Designers

By Patricia Peterson
© New York Times

NEW YORK, April 30 — Spain, a country known for its late risers, was the first to show its haute couture at the World's Fair. Following a gala black-tie dinner, the elegant Spanish pavilion was turned into a fashion show. Seven of the country's leading designers showed capsule collections and the audience responded with fiery applause.

The designers were Bastida, Berhanyer, Herrera y Ollero, Marbel Jr., Rovira, Ochagavia and Pertegaz.

Spain, now the new fashion discovery of Europe, proved one point: to bead or not to bead is never a question. Hand-beaded dresses blinked like sparklers on the Fourth of July under the bright lights. Satin or organza coats that trailed to the floor shielded their brilliance. Black and white, as traditional as spicy paella, was the favored color combination.

Elio Berhanyer had some of the most striking examples. One slender sheath in white silk had a stole of black ribbons tied around the neck like a lobster bib.

Manuel Pertegaz quietly stole the show. His designs were in good taste, but never boring, and his natural Spanish flair was always under control. Feather-light coats of petaled organza covered little sleeveless dresses of matching silk.

Letters to Landers

Wife's Irritated by Inattentiveness

Dear Ann Landers: You told Bill, who complained that his 37-year-old wife was no longer interested in sex, that her problem was probably mental. Well, I disagree with you.

That letter could have been written by MY husband because I'm 37, too, and not interested in sex. Don't tell me I need a psychiatrist. I just want my husband to treat me like a woman instead of an appliance.

Ann Landers

If a man wants his wife to be romantic he should be willing to turn off the TV once in a while and put down the newspaper. Why doesn't he give her a few lines from that super sales talk he used during courtship — when he was trying so hard to break down her virtue?

Too many husbands treat their wives as if they are doing them a favor by coming home nights instead of going elsewhere. They talk endlessly about the cute chicks in the office.

Please, Ann, tell these complaining husbands to stop blaming their wives. Most women would be delighted, flattered — even thrilled — if their husbands made an honest-to-goodness pass at them. Like old times. — RUSTY HINGE

Dear Rusty: Many women (like hundreds) wrote to say the same thing, and I'm happy to print this point of view, which is a valid one.

The original letter from Bill, however, made it clear that he WAS romantic and made "honest t' goodness passes . . . like old times." His wife was a cold tomato who thought 37 was too old for sex. Have you all got it straight, now?

Miss Maralyn J. Daynes

Maralyn Daynes Sets July Date

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Maralyn Jeannette Daynes and Richard Lee Tolman is announced by parents of the bride-elect, Dr. John F. Daynes, Provo, and Mrs. Bernice K. Daynes, 3657-2400 East. The prospective bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Verna B. Tolman, Provo, and the late Leo Loveland Tolman.

The couple will be wed July 10 in the Salt Lake LDS Temple.

Miss Daynes was graduated from Brigham Young University, where she was a member of Omicron Nu and Phi Kappa Phi. She also attended Western Washington College of Education, Bellingham, Wash. She is presently teaching in Snowflake, Ariz.

Mr. Tolman is a chemistry major at BYU. He recently returned from a LDS Central German mission.

Carole Gray

Making plans for a June 4 wedding in the Salt Lake LDS Temple are Miss Carole Nancy Gray and David Paul Howells, son of Mrs. Paul S. Howells, 2434 Kaywood Cl., and the late Mr. Howells. Mr. and Mrs. David R. Gray, 2379 E. 17th South, are parents of the bride-elect.

Club Women Should Learn to Cope With Calories

By Ida Jean Kain

A group of middle-aged homemakers has asked how to manage calories on a social whirl. They are hoping for the impossible, since there is no way to have their cake and eat it too. One member writes:

"A small group of us have banded together to lose weight. We are all over 40 and seem to share these two problems:

"We do a lot of social eating—organization lunches, after-theater snacking, dining out, etc. This goes on in addition to the family celebrations, such as birthday parties, holiday gatherings and other get-together family affairs. We are in doubt as to how to handle these special occasions. Is it wise to go on a crash diet—liquids or only proteins—before or after these occasions so that we can join the festivities and not feel left out?

"Our other main problem is the night eating syndrome. We're fine until dinner, then we nibble, nibble, nibble, until bedtime. Please help us."

Who are you club members kidding? No intermittent diet plan could possibly counteract your overeating way of life! When you make social functions an important part of your life there is only one way to control weight and that is to eat moderately at all functions.

Determine a course of action. At an organization luncheon there is no obligation to overeat. Who will notice that you take modest servings and pass up rich dessert? Stimulated by the theater, you shouldn't need food to give a lift. A hot beverage is conducive to good conversation. When dining out, why not be a gourmet dieter? You can order an excellent meal without going overboard on calories. It's all up to you.

At your club meeting, decide to adventure in changing your point of view. When you make up your mind that good eating is not synonymous with overeating, you can cope with calories.

Gab From the Garden

Here's Rule of (Green) Thumb for Trees, Shrubs

By Genevieve H. Folsom
Tribune Garden Editor

Trees and shrubs are basic plants for your garden. They provide colorful flowers, cool shade for summertime pleasure, colorful foliage and sometimes an abundance of fruit. In addition they provide a screen to shut out unsightly views or afford privacy to the garden.

Mrs. Folsom

When is it time to plant your shrubs and trees? The answer is just as soon as the ground has dried out and is workable. A good and easy test is to pick up a handful of soil, compress it in your hand. If the soil crumbles it is ready to work, but if it stays in a compact ball, it is too wet to handle.

Ulysses S. Grant, prominent Salt Lake nurseryman, gives us these suggestions for successful tree planting. First ask your nurseryman to prune the tree for you. If this is not possible, you should prune so there are about four strong branches at different levels left on the tree. Prune off all other branches to the trunk. If you have a sapling without branches, cut it back about one-fifth.

Dig the planting hole large enough to hold the roots without crowding. Set the tree so the bud or graft is just below soil level. When you purchase a tree planted in a can, have your nurseryman cut open the can. Remove the ball of soil containing the roots without breaking. Set the ball of earth in the planting hole a little deeper than it was in the can. It is not possible to get the tree planted deep enough in a can so the graft is covered with soil.

Mix some peat moss or screened compost into the soil you removed from the planting hole. You can use one-third peat or compost to two-thirds soil, or even mix half soil and half peat moss or compost, Mr. Grant recommends. He also suggests that one-fourth cup bonemeal be mixed with the soil if the planting hole is two feet wide, or two-thirds cup bone meal for one three feet wide. No other fertilizer should be used at planting time.

Set a stake when digging the planting hole. Large trees (8 to 10 feet) should be staked with a rubber or plastic ring around the trunk, with a rope or wire from the rubber ring to the stake. The ring will keep the bark on the trunk of the tree from being damaged.

After the tree is set in the planting hole, firm the soil mixture around the roots with your hands. Fill up the planting hole with soil, water thoroughly and let the soil settle. Now fill up the hole with soil again and water. Make a saucer around the base of the tree to hold moisture.

Our expert says to water carefully during the summer, but don't keep the tree constantly wet. Simply water thoroughly once a week, and let the soil dry out between waterings. Cultivate the soil around the tree. On such trees as willows, birches, maples and hawthornes, it is well to wrap the trunks with tree wrap paper to protect the bark from sunscald and insects which include the pesky borers. When planting shrubs or trees see that ample space is allowed for the size of the plant at maturity.

A very nice tree for shade and flowers, Mr. Grant recommends is the crabapple. There is the Eleyi Purpurea crab tree with its delightful reddish bark, reddish leaves, flowers and fruit. Plant red peonies in front of it, or you may want to use white petunias as Mr. Grant did. Yellow marigold or mixed zinnias blend well with the reddish color of the Eleyi for summer and fall show.

Hopa is a nice rose-pink crabapple with upright growth. Mr. Grant says it makes an excellent hedge as most crabapple trees won't grow much over 12 feet. Bechtel's crabapple has large double pink blooms which resemble roses. Plant a carpet of blue forget-me-nots at its feet. If you like large beautifully colored fruit plant the Dolga crab with its lovely pure white single blooms.

For shade trees suited to garden planting, Mr. Grant suggests the Seedless Male Ash, good for background, near patio or house. It is hardwood and durable and attains a height of fifty feet. For a woodsy effect plant the birches, either the clump European white birch or the River birch. The first has a white paper-like bark; the second, reddish brown bark.

Another tree which Mr. Grant recommends for back yards or side yards is Golden rain tree (Koelreuteria). It is medium size and will thrive in most any soil. It has beautiful gold blooms in July. Then there are the thornless locust, and the maples. Among the maples is the new Miller's super form, a nice symmetrical tree and the little Amur Maple, a smaller ornamental tree for many uses in the garden.

Speaking of shrubs and trees, have you visited the Murray Park Arboretum and Batanical Garden? In the next few days, if the weather stays sunny, 4,000 tulips will be in bloom. There too, you will see one of the finest displays of conifer trees in the state.

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS—Very often a card of thanks meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way.

Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but it also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many others to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed or whose names and addresses are not known.

Insertion of the card of thanks may be arranged by telephone. We have many wording suggestions to assist you. Dial EM 3-1525 — you may charge it

THANKS FOR INVITING ME AND THE OTHER EXPLORERS TO CONNIE'S BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY, MRS. BOWMAN.
I'M HAPPY YOU CHILDREN ARE COMING, DONDI.
WOULD YOU BE MAD IF I ASKED YOU TO INVITE MR. ATKINS?
WHY MR. ATKINS? HE'S AN ADULT.
I KNOW CONNIE WOULD INVITE HIM HERSELF IF SHE, I MEAN IF IT WASN'T HER SURPRISE PARTY.
CONNIE PUT YOU UP TO THIS, DIDN'T SHE?

You Shop Secure

Nursery Stock Guaranteed

This is the time of the year when you visit your favorite nursery or garden shop to select seeds, bulbs and plants for your garden. Even though you don't give the matter a thought, the nurseryman is one of the most important men in your gardening world. For he is a trained individual. Some of the nurseries have university-trained personnel who are professional horticulturists and landscape architects to assist you with your problems. Other nurserymen have learned their business by years of experience and have high technical competence in their field.

You can shop secure in the knowledge that the rose bushes, the lily bulbs or the fruit tree you purchased is the best possible and will grow provided you give them proper planting care.

Result of Care

This is the result of careful supervision and care given the plants in the nursery and the high standards set by the nursery trade for their members. These standards were set for the improvement and standardization of nursery stock and for your, the customer's, protection.

Each individual plant, bundle or container offered as a unit must be plainly tagged with the correct variety name, grade and size. A No. 1 grade hybrid tea rose will give you a fine, husky bush with three or more strong canes, two of which should be 16 inches and up and one to be 18 inches before the bush is pruned down. These should not be branched higher than 3 inches above the bud union. These are two year old bushes. A 1½ size gives you two or more strong canes, 13 inches and up, while a No. 2 brings two canes of 10 inches.

This classification is carried out in all plant materials for your protection. Deciduous trees, deciduous shrubs, evergreens, roses, vines, fruit trees, small fruits and even bulbs have certain standards which must be followed.

Lee Mitchell, president, Utah Association of Nurserymen, said that all plants are carefully tagged with name, price and many times with the size at maturity to make your gardening easier and less expensive. There are competent individuals on hand in every nursery and garden supply dealer's store to give you added advice.

Plant Guarantee

The Utah Association of Nurserymen even has a plant guarantee where if plants receive reasonable care and have not been maliciously destroyed, they will replace them at one half original cost.

Gone too, is the day when in order to get some of the more unusual plants it was necessary to send away for them. Your local nurserymen now have a varied assortment of dahlias, lilies, perennials and the lesser known shrubs and trees. Ask them about these rare items.

For the Birds

There are red, yellow, blue, orange and black berried plants which offer food for birds as well as general beauty on the property, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

Start Your Home Landscaping From The Soil Up

By David E. Lofgren
Landscape Consultant

As building and construction work increases and less land is available for stripping to provide good topsoil, the problem becomes more acute as to how we can assure proper soil for landscaping, which is proving so vital to any business or community.

If the existing soil on a given site is even moderately good as far as texture and chemistry are concerned, often improvement of this soil will give greater returns than bringing in what may be questionable topsoil. If your existing soil doesn't have an excessive salt or alkali problem, and if it isn't straight clay or boulder and gravel, the addition of a few simple ingredients can bring the soil, even though "dead," up to a fair to good "topsoil" quality.

Soil Improvement

Till or "work up" top six inches of soil; remove rocks, boulders, roots, rubble, etc.; level to rough grade; spread evenly over each 1,000 sq. ft. on top of the soil, the following:

15 lbs. treble super phosphate.
5 lbs. muriate potash
2 5½-cu.-ft. bales of peat moss

If you prefer using a ready mixed fertilizer, use one with a 6-10-4 ratio, preferably one which also includes guaranteed trace elements. To cover 1,000 sq. ft. this will require:

30 lbs. 6-10-4 fertilizer
2 5½-cu.-ft. bales of peat moss

All the materials, peat moss and fertilizers should be spread evenly and worked into the top four to five inches of the prepared soil. The area should then be watered down to insure a good integration and distribution of the chemicals. This work should be done no less than one week before the area is to be planted.

If soil is excessively sandy or heavy in clay, up to 10 bales of peat moss may be added to good advantage. Soil thus prepared may be used with good assurance of satisfactory results. Consider this as basic topsoil.

When planting new lawns into this soil, additional fertilizers, and possibly more peat moss, are advisable, just as in working with ordinary topsoil.

Under all conditions, soil tests are advisable wherever there might be a question on existing soil or topsoil.

Check and be sure! What you have may serve you best.

1 Stops disease! Why put up with unsightly rust, black spot or powdery mildew on your roses? New Du Pont "Deenall" controls these diseases. And control is so simple, too! "Deenall" comes ready to use in a handy squeeze duster. Just lift the hinged cap to dust this 3-way protection against disease, insects, mites.

2 Stops insects! With "Deenall" you can forget about insects that injure your roses. Stop aphids, webworms, Japanese beetles and dozens of other persistent pests. Just a light coating of "Deenall" gives your roses top protection, takes you only a few seconds to apply, and helps you grow bigger and better blossoms.

3 Stops mites! Hard-to-kill mites are no match for "Deenall". Now you can wipe them out quickly and easily by dusting—or spraying—with this dependable Du Pont product. So this year, take the guesswork out of growing your roses. Protect them all season this fast, effective way — with new Du Pont "Deenall".

FEED YOUR ROSES, TOO

With Du Pont Rose Food, just one application lasts all season. Helps you get more and bigger blossoms, keeps roses well-fed and robust right through the growing season without additional feeding.

Read Label For Safety

With spring just around the corner, lawn and garden chemicals will be off and running. According to the Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Assn., the following safety tips, if heeded, would reduce significantly the number of accidents which result from misuse of chemical pesticides.

1. Always read the label before using any pesticide product. Note all warnings and cautions each time before opening the container.
2. Keep pesticides out of reach of children and pets. They should be stored outside the home, away from food, and under lock and key.
3. Always store sprays and dusts in their original containers and keep them tightly closed. Never keep them in anything but the original container.
4. Never smoke while spraying or dusting.
5. Avoid inhaling sprays or dusts. When directed on the label, wear protective clothing and masks.
6. Cover bird baths, dog dishes, fish pools before spraying.

Perfume Plant— A Garden Joy

When you're walking in your garden in the cool of a summer's evening and a delightful fragrance comes to your nostrils, it might be that of evening scented stock also known as the perfume plant.

This is not a noticeable plant, so the scent comes as a surprise. It is not decorative because the lilac-shaded flowers are half-closed during daytime, opening fully only after the sun sets. But for fragrance it has no peer. The only other annual flower that is as delicious to smell is mignonette.

Both are equally easy to grow. Just scatter the seeds where you want the fragrance and make certain this is near your evening sitting-out-spot.

Do the Job Right

You'll Have Better Roses

The most difficult part of pruning roses is to drum up the courage to do the job right and to find the time to do it carefully. Many gardeners who are normally hale and hearty and robust approach the pruning of plants with extreme temerity, especially if being observed by a truculent wife. It is for this reason that the best time for pruning is after a good night's sleep, a hearty breakfast, and during the absence of spouse.

We approach the pruning with courage, conviction, and sharp sheers if the job is to be done right. In sizing up the plant we select four or five canes that grew last summer that originate near the soil line if we wish to keep the plants low. Without further ado we whack the selected canes back, leaving 8 to 18 inches for the production of roses the coming year.

Everything else goes, including all of the stubbs you have left over the year because you were too busy to clean away the soil and cut these close to the point of origin. Cleaning up the crown of the plant by removing stubs and other protruberances improves the appearance and eliminates points of entrance for decay. On strong growers the canes we leave may be longer, from 12 to 18 inches, while on spindly weak plants the remaining canes might be only 6 to 8 inches in length.

There is no need for alarm, however, if the desirable canes originate all on one side since nature seems to compensate for this during the growing season. The relation of the cut to the position of the bud is also of little consequence since shoots seldom develop the way we plan at pruning time. It is important, however, to have some buds on the canes that are left if you wish shoots to develop from these, otherwise the new shoots will arise largely from the base of the plant.

This is also not bad, but it does disappoint the pruner. Covering the cut surface with a sealing compound or grafting wax deters caneborers which really raise "cain" if allowed to burrow uncontrolled. Delaying rose pruning until the tip buds show some sign of green is advisable in an attempt to avoid the ravages of late spring which sometimes kills back early shoots.

Shrub roses are pruned like most other deciduous shrubs by removing a few of the older branches at the soil line each spring after flowering. This keeps the plant young.

Climbers may be pruned at the same time as the roses, including grandifloras, hybrid perpetuals, hybrid teas, and some others before leaves appear in the spring by removing some of the older branches each year, leaving younger growth to produce the flowers.

A New Blue Wonder

Among Newest Annuals

There are many new annuals to brighten our garden this year. One which will delight those who like asters for dainty color in the garden and for flower arranging is the new Blue Wonder Aster. It is the biggest of all early asters and resembles an incurved chrysanthemum. Vigorous plants stand 15 inches tall and the color is a bright blue. Later in the season asters such as white waves, pink waves and scarlet waves will add color.

The powderpuff asters are charming. They are small and dainty. How about placing an edging of sweet alyssum around the asters. Use the pink asters with white alyssum, or the violet type and try the new pink Rosie O' Day alyssum with blue asters.

If you like the petunia Sugar Plum, you will want to try the new double Sugar Plum. It has the same lovely lavender color with the plum-red veining. Plants form compact mounds about 14 inches high and the double blooms are about 2½ inches.

Penstemons are interesting garden subjects. They do well here and are certainly not grown enough by our local gardeners. The Utah State University experimental garden at Farmington has many types of these beautiful plants. Visit the garden and see them this next summer.

A Stranger Here

Which brings to mind there are several new penstemons for 1963. Prairie Dusk is an unusual one with deep green clumps of foliage above which rise 22-inch stems, clothed for half their length with large jewel-toned flowers of blue, purple or pink. These are good for cutting. They are hardy perennials but often bloom the first season from seeds, which germinate best at 50 to 55 degrees temperature. Penstemon F2 Hybrid Prairie Fire is 3 feet in height with bright rose-red, sky blue or purple blooms. The largest flowered of all hardy penstemon is Cobae Triflorus Henry Hybrids. They come in rose, blue, purple and pink.

Hybrids are almost a must in any rose garden, and to show them to best advantage plant in formal beds. This is Hybrid Tea.

Variety of Roses Tops, They'll Grow on You

Roses are favorites in our intermountain area. Probable no other flower is so admired and as widely planted. Each year the growers bring out new and lovely varieties so no matter what your taste there's a rose especially for you.

For those who like a white rose, Saratoga, the new 1964 All American Rose Selection is a must. It is a pure white gardenia-like floribunda with glossy green foliage. Ivory Fashion is another white floribunda, as is the Dagmar Spath. Fusilier is a delightful red, while Spartan, a glowing orange red; Gashion is coral gold and Vogue a good red. Jiminy Cricket is a hardy grower and its blooms are a coral-orange. Ma Perkins is a sparkling salmon-pink while Garnette is a nice little red excellent for corsages.

For Formal Beds

Hybrids are used in formal rose bed plantings to show them off to best advantage. If you want the newest there is Granada the 1964 All American Rose Selection. It is a bright combination of nasturtium, scarlet and lemon colors. The fragrance is spicy and pronounced. When cut Granada has good lasting qualities. Two other All Americans you must have are John S. Armstrong, a deep rich red and Tropicana, a gorgeous orange-red in color.

World's Fair Salute selected for exhibition at the 1964 World's Fair is another new one you will like. It is velvety-red with long pointed buds and a delightful fragrance. South Seas is an exotic new rose of coral pink.

Older Favorites

Some of the older favorites which are always outstanding include Chrysler Imperial, red; Crimson Glory, red; Showgirl, deep pink; Christopher Stone, red; Pink Duchess; Dainty Bess, pink, single variety; Picture, pink; Eclipse, yellow; Peace, cream edged pink; Mrs. Dupont, yellow and Joanna Hill creamy buff yellow.

For background plantings the Grandiflora class of roses are excellent. These are taller growing varities. Three All-Americans in this class are Pink Parfait; Queen Elizabeth, pink; and John S. Armstrong, red. Others include Montezuma, orange-red; Buccaneer, yellow; Carrousel, dark red; and Roundelay, dark red.

Bring the Outdoors In

Indoor Gardening On the Increase

Indoor gardening is becoming more popular each year. Our modern homes with their large windows and built-in planters are suited to growing plants indoors.

For those who like to grow the exotic plants which require controlled growing conditions there are small greenhouses or planters available which will furnish room for more than 25 plants in a small space. These are made of aluminum and glass and come complete with legs. Temperature and humidity is provided by special hinged top and sliding front panels. Special fluorescent lamps and fixtures are also available to encourage plant growth in locations in the room where natural light is inadequate.

However, if you have an attractive planter in your home that receives light, but no direct sunshine, you can grow many lovely foliage plants with little expense. The Chinese evergreen is a good choice for your planter. It requires little light and not much attention. Ivy grows well in the window garden or planter. Dieffenbachia has large attractive leaves and requires little light. Sansevieria or snake plant with sword-like leaves and the rubber plant with shiny foliage are both easy to grow. Philodendron is another popular foliage plant which requires little attention.

Keep foliage of plants clean by carefully wiping with a damp cloth. Give your plants sufficient light and keep them out of drafts. Humidity can by supplied by placing your potted plants on pans filled with water and gravel. See that the pots have proper drainage by placing a piece of broken crockery over the hole in the bottom of the pot.

Those who like to grow indoor plants which require controlled growing conditions will find an indoor greenhouse a delightful addition to living room. They occupy a small space.

Dahlias Go All Sizes

Consider the delightful dahlias—with flowers in many sizes and forms. You can obtain them in pompons less than a couple of inches across to huge dinner plate size. Dahlias will give you plenty of cut flowers for use in arrangements or to take to the show. Plant the exhibition types in rows in the garden.

The miniature make excellent background material for the borders as they do not require staking. Plant in our area around the middle of May or when all danger of frost is over. Plant the tuber on its side with eye pointing upward and toward the stake. They should be planted 6 inches weep and the hole filled up halfway with soil. Fill up planting hole as plant develops.

First Rule—Don't Let It Dry Out

Taking Care of Nursery Stock

Take proper care of plants after you bring them home from the nurseryman's. It is most important that nursery stock is never allowed to dry out before planting. If it is necessary to wait before you can plant your trees, shrubs or roses in their permanent places, you can heel them in some place in the garden. They will then keep in good condition until you can get to the task of planting.

To heel them in simply dig a trench with one side slanted. Open up the bundle of nursery stock, remove the plants and place close together with their roots in the trench. The stems or branches should be placed on the slant. Cover over with soil or a thick mulch. You can even cover over the branches if you like. Water thoroughly and keep plants moist until planting time. Always select a protected spot for heeling in your plants, where they will be protected from heat and wind.

Still Good Selection

With the limited planting time in April because of the rain and snow, there is still a very choice selection of fine roses at your favorite nurseryman's or garden supply dealer. Even late planting of roses can be successful if a little care is taken.

First you should find a good location for your rose bed. There should be at least six hours of sun and the soil should be well drained. Work into the soil, screened compost or well-rotted manure. Dig the planting hole large enough to hold the roots without crowding. Make a mound of soil in the center of the hole. Place the rose bush on this so that the bud union is at ground level. Work soil around the roots and firm.

When the hole is partly filled, water soil down. Let water drain and add more soil. Mound the soil over the top of the newly planted bush. In hot weather, you can place a large can with the top and bottom cut out over the branches and fill the can with peat moss or soil. Give the newly planted bush sufficient water.

Buy Only The Best

It is best to purchase select No. 1 bushes. This means that the plant should have three or more strong canes 12 to 18 inches in length and a healthy, vigorous root system. If your bush isn't already pruned at planting time, cut the cane back to 8 or 12 inches long and prune off any broken or damaged. You should have three or four strong canes left on the bush.

Climbers should be spaced from 6 to 10 feet apart when planted on a fence, depending upon the variety. Hybrid teas should be spaced from 18 inches to 24 inches apart. It is best to plant at least three bushes of one variety together.

Buying Tree? It's Affair For Family

Wives and husbands should both look at nursery catalogues as well as shop for trees and shrubs together, the American Association of Nurserymen urges. Why? Because the selection of nursery stock is a family affair and should be treated as such even though the actual gardening may be done by either husband or wife, if not both together.

Each Has Likes

Everyone has their preferences in trees and shrubs as well as the purposes they serve. When looking at catalogues, or shopping, various species are available which will please the whole family. What will it be? Hedges for privacy? Climate control plantings? Shade trees? Winter color from evergreens? Flowering trees and shrubs? Fruit and nut trees? Roses, camellias, azaleas, rhododendrons? A living fence? Foundation planting?

A male, for example, may seldom think of cut flowers to use inside the home, but a woman almost always thinks of this.

In such cases two heads are better than one, as some individuals prefer pink flowers, others red and this carries through in other things. It is not a question of the judgement of either wife or husband so much as a sort of harmony that often produces the best results when both order or shop at nurseries together.

Harmony Improved

The harmony and color of a garden usually is improved in this way, even though in many families either husband or wife purchases may serve the intended purpose very well indeed.

"Try shopping together," urge the nurserymen, "and observe the improved results based on connubial harmony. It's a nursery-shopping fact."

Dwarf Fruits Lovely, No Lot's Too Small

Tree-ripened fruits are delightfully new taste experiences for home owners who have their own trees. No property is too small to have a few dwarf fruit trees, says the American Association of Nurserymen, for they can be planted only ten feet apart.

Different varieties planted in a row, like a fence, only ten feet apart, will provide colorful blooms in spring, a living fence and mouth-watering fruits. Inexpensive and lovely, dwarf fruit trees add a new dimension to the ornamental garden — unbruised, fresh fruits that are practically impossible to purchase in the markets.

For families with more space, standard-size fruit trees may be preferable. Inquire from your nurseryman.

Use Morning Glory For Quick Cover

Especially in a new garden there often is need for a plant to grow quickly and cover up an eyesore of some sort. The annual vines will do this so it's well to become acquainted with those which grow most rapidly.

Morning glories with white, pink, red or blue flowers are well known. Scarlet runner beans may have white or scarlet flowers and have edible beans. Cup and saucer vine has lavender-blue blooms.

Demand Up For Shrubs

Record demand in 1964 for trees and shrubs for home, industrial, community and highway landscaping is indicated by the American Association of Nurserymen from reports of advance orders that have accumulated. The heavy ordering is due to several causes, it is believed. First, replacements in many areas by home owners of plants damaged by last year's severe cold and drowth; and secondly, rapidly growing consciousness on the part of home owners and businessmen of the need to plant and beautify.

"Although there will be shortages in some species of nursery stock, and especially in larger-sized trees, on the whole the industry will be able to supply the demand," Clark Kidd, Tyler, Texas, President of the Association states. "However, I would advise early ordering of all trees shrubs and home landscaping work, in order to have first choice both of service and the plants."

Shop Together

Plan for Summer Blooms

The summer flowering bulbs will bring bright bloom to the garden from July until snow flies. Perhaps the most versatile of these is the gladiolus which is one of the most popular of cut flowers. This year three delightful new ones make their appearance as All-America Selections.

They are La France, Blue Sapphire and Snowsprite. La France is a fresh, cool, pure pink of a shade known as dawn pink. Petal edges are deeper pink while the center of the flower is a creamy white. The intensely ruffled florets are of heavy substance. Best of all, it is the creation of one of our intermountain growers, Winston Roberts of Boise, Idaho. Miniatures are becoming more popular every year because they are lovely for use in flower arrangements. Blue Sapphire is a miniature of light blue with white throat. Snowsprite is a dainty white miniature with a greenish tinge in the throat.

Gladiolus like a sunny spot in your garden. Plant them in rows like you would vegetables if you want a lot of them for cutting. For border plantings group them in clumps of five or more of one color. Dig a trench and mix a small amount of a good commercial fertilizer into the soil. Cover with a layer of soil to place the corms upon.

The corms should be planted about 5 inches deep and 5 inches apart. Plantings can start early in April and staggered two weeks apart until the end of June. This will give continuity of bloom. When plants are about 6 inches high you should start a regular spraying or dusting program for elimination of thrips.

Nothing will give you the exotic beauty for the shaded area than tuberous-rooted begonias. You can purchase plants already in pots from your nurserymen. These can be placed in the garden about the first of June. You also can start the tubers yourself in flats. Now is a good time to do this. Use equal parts of sand and peat moss and put in a flat. Gently press the begonia tubers into the planting mixture until they are barely covered. Always remember the concave top of the tuber is placed upward.

Water thoroughly and place the flat out of the sun. When begonias have their second pair of leaves, you can transplant them into individual pots using a light soil mixture of equal parts sand, soil and peat moss. Prepare the spot in the garden for the begonias by mixing into the soil sand, secreened compost or peat moss. The plants should be placed 12 inches apart in the garden.

Herbaceous perennials, together with woody plants, are the foundation of a good garden. Gardeners who understand perennials and know exactly how to use them effectively in the garden experience a creative joy which is unknown to others.

Perennial flowers offer such rich material for special designs. With popular varieties like Phlox, Iris, Peonies, Poppies, Delphiniums, etc., filler plants and ground-covers are quite essential. When both plant types are growing together, the gardener seems to sense more fully the spirit and fulfillment which can be experienced in nature.

Each a Part

Aside from the qualities of beauty of the flowers, texture, various shades of greens, the forms of leaves and their habits of growth can also lend interest to a well-planned grouping. The results are not only showpieces, they also bear a vital relationship to each other—for each is a part of the perfect whole.

Less attractive plants, which are nevertheless endowed with naturalness, may often be used as ground-covers or fillers. In this form they are of equal importance—for they bring a connected harmony to the various groupings, and provide a glorious and unified garden picture.

Sincere interest in refined plant associations may lead to a beautiful arrangement along a little brook, or around a waterplace. A special grouping of trees or other garden features might also be of interest. And so are climatically different locations which provide opportunities for contrasting solutions in landscaping with perennials.

Another advantage of perennials is their different seasonal blooming habits. Their presence in spring, summer and fall brings us an awareness of ever-changing nature. With varying stages of maturity in these plant materials, all seasons become a rich and rewarding experience.

One who plans to landscape with perennials should realize how essential it is that he first enlarge his knowledge and appreciation of the many varieties. This should include a study of their culture and performance in the climate of his own area. Much can be learned from magazines, catalogs, books, and also from public and private gardens.

Seek Native Plants

The majority of commercial perennials grow well to satisfactory in our own area, but some of them cannot tolerate our alkaline soil or the extreme heat of our summers. The lack of humidity in our air, and our strenuous winters, also present a degree of difficulty. For these reasons, it is both wise and prudent to obtain Utah-grown varieties whenever possible.

Plan for Variety

In planning a perennial border or flower grouping, the gardener should take into consideration the varying heights of plant growth, the time and frequency of the blooming period, the possibility of effective color arrangement and the season itself. If continuous blooming is desired, varieties representing spring, summer and fall seasons are planted.

Considering the various heights of the perennials, tall varieties should be placed at the rear of the flower area, while the small or dwarf types would, of course, belong in front. This somewhat general pattern can be modified at will. The arrangement can be made less formal and, consequently, more interesting if low growing plants are sometimes carried to the rear of the plot, and certain large ones are given positions near the front. The irregularity of such an arrangement provides greater interest, depth and roominess.

Groupings composed of several plants of a single variety are superior in appearance to isolated plants planted in a spotted effect. The variety of the pattern should be commensurate with the desired width of each border.

A perennial border may not be perfect the first season, but it is delightfully challenging to improve with each passing year. thought, it is possible to arrange a perennial border which blooms continuously from spring to fall, but interplantings of flowering bulbs, such as tulips daffodils, hyacinths, etc., plus the addition of some annual flowers, will greatly increase its beauty throughout the season.

After 40 years in the nursery business, the Johnsons make a discovery:

Two reasons why people keep coming back to Wasatch Shadows

"A week ago last Sunday was a quiet day at the nursery. It was cold and rainy (like it's been all spring) and we were carrying out one of our new 'Shell-Girl Garden Fountains' for a customer. After we put it in his station wagon, he said, 'Do you know why I keep coming out here year after year? Because you don't sell plants . . . you sell ideas.'

"That started us thinking. Why do our other customers keep coming back? So all week long, we've been asking them (the ones we know pretty well) and it seems there are just two reasons:

1. We try to give you something a little different in plants and ideas, and
2. We give you straight answers about your gardening problems.

"Here's how we try to satisfy our two kinds of customers. For those who want accessories that are different, we have a complete Japanese Tea House on display. Inside are wind chimes, six styles of hibachis, a wide selection of brass and pottery containers. New this year are several fountains, Spanish pottery and statuary. And, of course, we've imported lamps and gourds and planters from Mexico.

"But more than that, we try to show our customers how to use familiar plants in a different way, whether it's planning complete landscaping for a new home, or just making something interesting out of a problem corner in an older home.

"What about the customers who just want straight answers? We try to give them. Will the patented new roses do well in our climate? (Some, but not all. We tell you which.)

"Can I grow an Azalea here? (Yes, if it's well sheltered, and you have plenty of time to pamper it.)

"Will you show me how to slip a Geranium? (We lose money, but we'll show you how.)

"Which fertilizer is really best . . . What can I grow on a hill that's practically solid clay? And so on.

"It takes a fair amount of experience to answer questions like this, so we don't hire inexperienced people to help out on weekends. Once in a while you may have to wait for one of us, but we'll try to make up for it with an idea or a straight answer.

Right now the nursery is loaded with every kind of shrub, plant or flower we know will grow well here. (Our roses are all in cans. They cost you no more, but they're easier for you to plant that way.) And, of course, we carry a complete line of fertilizer, patio bark, and insecticides. All at most reasonable prices. It's been that way for four generations."

Plant Advice For Home Owners

New home owners sometimes are at a loss as to how to begin in planting and beautifying their properties, says the American Association of Nurserymen, which offers special advice to these younger couples, in order to enable them to plant more efficiently at reasonable cost. The rules follow:

1. Planting and beautifying the home property is a family affair. It should be a joint effort by both husband and wife. In this way, both are satisfied with the outcome.

Seek Out Experts

2. Secondly, talk to a leading landscape nurseryman and tell him what you want as a family with respect to your land. Outdoor living? More privacy? Home fruit? Specimen plants? Hedges? Flowers? Shade?

3. Get the nurseryman to draw up a plan to incorporate the ideas of both husband and wife. In this way, you have a procedure to follow. You avoid a hodge-podge of planting that may not turn out the way you had hoped. Planting without a plan generally is more expensive in the long run than by having the right plants in the right places.

How to Proceed

4. There are several ways to proceed. The home owner may use the plan and plant the property on a pay-as-you-go basis; or have the planting financed by the nurseryman or bank. FHA loans are available up to $3,500 for the purpose.

5. Members of the American Association of Nurserymen have standards for home landscaping that insure soil stabilization, proper soils and drainage and many other important features that should result in long-range success in making the property more beautiful.

How to Cut Costs

The great advantage of this particular procedure is that the home value is increased by considerably more than the total costs of the plantings, while the beautiful landscaping is better enjoyed by the whole family. Well-planned plantings grow in value each year as the trees and shrubs grow. One survey showed that well-planned plantings are worth many times their costs.

Plant Lettuce As Soil Dries

As soon as your soil dries out sufficiently to be worked, it's time to sow seeds of loose-leaf lettuce for a first crop. Nothing could be easier to grow nor more appreciated when it is harvested and served to the family as a prime ingredient of salads.

Since practically every seed will sprout, don't sow too long a row at one time. Rather sow ten feet and then, ten days later, another ten feet.

For Brighter Colors

Plant Zinnias This Year

For bright colorful spots in your garden plant zinnias. They are easy to grow, delightful to look at and come in a great variety of sizes, heights and forms. A packet of seed sown directly in the ground where you want your flowers to be, will furnish an abundance of beautiful bloom. The zinnia prefers a well-drained soil and a sunny location. Wait until the soil has warmed up before planting. The seeds will germinate quickly, in about 6 to 10 days. An open location and watering by irrigation rather than sprinkling will help in keeping down mildew.

In planting cover seeds with ¼ inch of fine soil. Press it firmly over the seeds. Keep the soil from completely drying out until seedlings develop. When the plants reach a height of 3 inches they can be thinned to about a foot apart. Some of the small varieties such as Thumbelina should be spaced closer, perhaps 3 or 4 inches apart.

If you cut the crown flower early on the plant, blooms on side branches will become larger. For borders where you want a mass of bright color plant the delightful Thumberlina. It grows in a tight globe shape only 6 inches high and will hold its form all through the growing season.

Place the plants 3 inches apart in the row if you want in interesting border. Frequently, it will be possible to plant two rows 6 inches apart to add interest and color as the plants are so small they take up very little room. In back of Thumbelina plant the new All-America award winner for 1964, Pink Buttons zinnia. It is compact and a foot tall. The flowers are 1½ inches in size and a nice shade of salmon pink color. If you prefer red, there is Red Buttons with the same habits as Pink Buttons but the color is scarlet red. Either will contrast well with the reds, pinks, white and yellows of Thumbelina.

Lilliput or Pompon zinnias are small pompon-like zinnias which achieve a height of 12 to 18 inches. Take your pick of colors —pink, rose, bright scarlet, white and yellow. Peppermint Stick zinnias are different and combine in combinations of red and white, red and yellow, purple and white, etc. Blooms are about 1½ inches and the plants are two-feet high.

Old Mexico is an all American Silver Medal Winner. Blooms are a deep mahogany-red with edges overlaid with bright gold shades. Blaze is a fiery scarlet orange zinnia with curved quilled petals.

Finally there are the Giants, some of which have blooms five inches across and there is a variety of exciting colors. Among these are the Giant Dahlia flowered variety and the Giants of California Zinnias. The plants of these grow tall, around three feet, for use where taller material is needed.

For those who prefer to purchase plants, your local nurseryman will have a good selection ready to set out in the flower borders at the proper planting time. When you are planting your zinnias try potting up a few of the little Thumbelinas. They will be useful for decorating the patio.

Keep Mower in Top Condition

During the next few months, some 25 million home owners in the United Staes will observe the weekly ritual of mowing about 4½ million acres of grass.

If they all agreed to do the job at the same time some Saturday afternoon, it would involve a hike of nearly 27 million miles—except for the lucky ones with rider mowers.

An estimated 19 million of the lawns will be cut with power mowers, and spark plug engineers in Flint, Mich., have some suggestions to help home owners keep their mowers in top condition.

Some Suggestions

They suggest that easy starting and efficient operation of the mower is one phase of the task over which the lawn trimmer has some control, so here's what is suggested to make things more pleasant.

For the northerners who put their snow shovels away and are bringing out the mower for the first time, the engineers advise a good spring cleaning. Actually, the cleaning is recommended in all areas and should be repeated at frequent intervals during the mowing season.

Keep it Clean

The dirt and dust churned up by power mowers, plus the fine grass clippings, can choke an engine if allowed to accumulate on the carburetor air cleaner. Follow the engine manufacturer's recommendations for cleaning the air cleaner element.

In addition, clean the accumulation of dirt and grease from the cylinder cooling fins. Since mower engines are air-cooled, a crust of dirt can cause overheating.

Drain the crankcase of four-cycle engines and refill with clean oil. Follow the engine manufacturer's recommendations for the type of oil and be certain the oil is maintained at the proper level in the crankcase.

Mix in Clean Can

If you have a two-cycle engine, always be sure to mix the oil-gasoline fuel in a clean can. Discard any carry-over fuel mixture from last summer or fall. It is advisable to pour the gasoline in the can first and then add the oil. If the oil is poured in first, it may "coat" on the sides of the can and prevent a good mixture.

Use one of the special oils for two-cycle engines when mixing the fuel. Those oils contain additives that resist deposit formation and inhibit corrosion.

A new spark plug will provide quicker, easier starting and give maximum efficiency. Be sure to use one of the special "lawn mower" type spark plugs, since they have electrodes designed with more open area in the gap to better expose the spark and resist fouling.

Use Right Gasoline

Use the gasoline recommended by the engine manufacturer and make sure it is stored in a clean can that meets the requirements of the "Federal Hazardous Substances Labeling Act."

Finally, remember s a f e t y when you are operating your mower. Don't wear a necktie or anything that could become entangled in moving parts, and be sure to keep small children and pets away from the mower.

With a sharp blade and an efficient motor, the four and a half million acres of grass shouldn't be too bad.

Mowing the lawn is as easy as driving if you have a wagon like this, complete with stick shift, bucket seat and, yes, a blade.

Tools Will Tell If Gardener Is Good

Just as you can tell a carpenter by the kind of tools he uses, so you can tell a good gardener by the tools in his garage, cellar, or wherever he keeps them. . . . A good selection of sensible, business-like tools marks the real gardener.

One way the gardener can tell the real tools from the imitations is to look at the ferrules, the sockets that hold the handles, say horticulturists and garden tool makers. If they are long and well-fashioned, he can be sure that the quality hasn't been skimped upon. If they're otherwise, the handles are likely to break and the opposite holds true.

Start Out Easy

Of course, the new home owner or gardener cannot always go out and buy everything in sight the first year—he may have too many other things to spend money on, too. But, with the right selection, he can take care of his needs reasonably well the first year and can add the rest to make his gardening still easier and more fun the next year.

First of all, you should have a shovel. For all-around use the long-handled, "round-pointed" type is best. It is good for just about everything in the digging line—even prying out rocks or digging post holes. Then, you need rakes. A good steel, general-purpose type is usually best for general garden work and a steel lawn or broom rake for grass and leaves.

Add Cultivator

Your first purchase should also include a moderate-width, all-purpose hoe and a three- or four-pronged cultivator. Here is where many people make a mistake. They buy a cheap one with too short a handle and then complain about a tired back. Get a real one. The first year you will also need an all-purpose green thumb trowel—get one with a solid shank, not just a bit of folded metal holding it into the handle and which will quickly break.

Then, you will also need a hoe, watering can and a mower.

Add Other Tools

Later on you should add a spading fork, preferably one with a short "D" handle, a narrow or triangular hoe, a turf edger, some form of pick, a hand cultivator, pruning shears, perhaps rotary lawn edger, a sickle or golf-club type weed cutter, and a sturdy wheel barrow.

The right tools make the best garden. This trimmer is powered by a rechargeable battery clipped to the user's belt. Keep the blade down about 15 degrees while cutting.

Tips on Soil For Garden

Gardeners are sometimes inclined to slight soil preparation, some because they have been misled into thinking that throwing a mulch over the soil eliminates the need for digging, others for differenct reasons.

Unlike woodland soils, garden and crop areas are called upon to produce abundantly year after year. This tends to compact many soils through a depletion of the humus. Also, the soil nutrients are used up. This means they they must be loosened periodically, the valuable humus content restored and the nutrients replenished.

Dig Each Year

We do this in the home garden by digging it up at the beginning of each season, after first applying a 1 to 2-inch layer of compost, peat, or some other humus material over the soil.

For this use a good, strong spading fork and go down the full depth of the tines. Lift out the piece, turn it over and break it up by striking it with the fork, if necessary.

How to Fertilize

In days gone by, this was also considered the time to apply one's fertilizer but it tends to put the fertilizer down too deeply where the young plants can't reach it during their early stages of growth. Instead, apply one-third on top of the soil before digging and one-third on top of the soil after digging. Then rake this into the top 2 or 3 inches with a good, strong steel rake.

The remainder is applied when you hoe out the rows to make the seed drills—just make them deeper than necessary, place the fertilizer in the bottom, mix it in lightly and pull an inch of soil back over this before planting

Evergreen plant food is fortified with extra iron, and furnishes all elements necessary to vigorous preliminary growth, especially if the subsoil is not too good.

Some Bugs Just Look Vicious

Some people just can't stand to look at a bug and the very thoughts of one gives them the shivers. Others are able to tolerate the sight of a bug at a distance, but shudder if found in their immediate vicinity. Both of these supersensitive types will be put in their proper perspective by recalling that bugs were on this earth millions of years before man came along, and will likely be here millions of years to come.

They are all part of our present day environment and to keep in mind the old philosophy of "live and let live" may help jangled nerves.

Innocent Visitors

This attitude is especially helpful when it comes to bugs that are not causing any particular harm, just loafing around to see what's going on in the garden and on the lawn. Right now there appears to be quite a congregation of these innocent visitors lurking in the sod of many home lawns. Gardeners become aware of them when they mow the grass or turn on the lights in evening where the tan moths collect in large numbers to keep the irritated housewife from complete relaxation.

These Do Damage

Sod webworms or lawn moths, as they are often called, are a cause of real trouble to turf in some parts of the country. A description of the adults of this species conforms pretty well to the moths about these parts at this time of year. Where sod webworms are causing damage, the worms actually eat off the blades of grass at the crown of the plant. Breaking apart some of the dying sod will reveal the presence of the caterpillars which range in size from ⅛ inch for the newly hatched worms, up to ¾ of an inch in length when fully grown. Active worms should be found near the surface of the soil, they do not feed as deeply as the white grubs of the June beetle.

Control of sod webworm, when present, is accomplished by applications of the proper insecticides. Until some damage from this pest is observed, it is just as well to tolerate the nuisance of their presence and save your insecticide for some useful purpose. The same is true for the white flies or leafhoppers that flit about near the surface of the grass as you walk over it. These cause little or no damage to the grass, and usually stay out of sight if you leave them alone. If it is a matter of clearing your conscience, go ahead and spray the turf with one of the insecticides.

Greenhouse Plans Available

By Wayne B. Ringer
Extension Agricultural Engineer, Utah State University

You can build an inexpensive plastic-covered greenhouse quite simply by following a plan designed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Plans such as this are developed and made available by state extension sevices and U.S.D.A cooperating. Extension engineers in each of the various states and in the Department prepare drawings and incorporate some of the latest research data in the plan service materials they prepare.

This platic-covered greenhouse is 8 feet 6 inches wide. You can build it as long as you like in multiples of 3 feet. You use strips of ¼ inch plywood to form the arches.

This greenhouse is quite sturdy. We believe it can be quite practical for gardeners in the Mountain West. In tests at the Beltsville, Md., Agricultural Research Center, snow didn't load heavy enough to break the plastic cover. If you use treated foundation boards and stakes, galvanized or brass screws, and other measures to avoid corrosion, the frame should last for several years. However, you may have to replace the plastic cover each year.

You may get working drawings of this or other helpful plans by ordering through your county extension agent.
